House Rebukes WPB; Votes for Grain Rubber

PASSES SENATE MEASURE TO SET UP NEW AGENCY

Farm Bloc Warns Against Veto.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 24.—The house of representatives, in a rebuke to the administration for its handling of the rubber program, today voted 104 to 18 for final passage of a bill creating a separate governmental agency to supervise production of synthetic rubber from grain alcohol.

Rep. Fulmer.

The bill, passed yesterday by the senate, now goes to President Roosevelt, whose legislative spokesman failed to kill the measure with arguments that it divides responsibility now vested solely in the War Production board.

Blames Oil Monopoly.

"If this bill is vetoed," said Rep. Hampton P. Fulmer [D., S. C.], speaking for the farm bloc during the house debate, "I'm sorry for the Democratic party. How could you go back to your people, whose transportation has been tied up and business ruined by confusion and fumbling in the rubber program?

"The real reason that the alcohol process has been opposed is because some folks don't want to disturb monopolies. Our people are willing to suffer and die for this country, but not for the oil monopoly."

Oil Dominates Program.

WPB assigned the bulk of the government's synthetic rubber program to the process using petroleum. Fulmer said Germany and Russia are making 75 per cent of their synthetics from agricultural products. He charged that it takes 12 to 18 months to prepare for manufacture under the petroleum process.

Rep. Anton J. Johnson [R., Ill.], said the alcohol process developed at Peoria requires only 10 per cent of the critical materials necessary for plant construction to utilize the petroleum process.

Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone announced at his summer home today that he does not intend to make an independent inquiry into the rubber situation to end controversies over the problem. News dispatches yesterday said that President Roosevelt had asked him to make such an inquiry.

Vital Trucks Lack Tires.

A new concept of the desperate character of America's rubber shortage was conveyed in a statement by Price Administrator Leon Henderson, who said that truck transportation vital to the war effort is running on thin tires with many breakdowns. He said that more drastic cuts will have to be made in the list of trucks eligible for new tires or recaps.

Additional pruning is expected to cut into classes of trucks heretofore considered essential. Earlier in the week, all privately operated trucks carrying alcoholic beverages, soft drinks, tobacco products, confections, candy, flowers, toys, novelties, jewelry, furs, radios, phonographs, musical instruments "or other luxury goods" were cut off the list.

Henderson's report discounted the optimism in private industry concerning the outlook for synthetic rubber production. With rubber to be denied more and more of the wheels of commerce, it seems improbable that any additional rubber can be allotted private passenger cars, he said.

Army Construction Periled.

"We're making our determinations as to what groups can be eliminated with the least harmful effects on our war effort and public necessities," said Henderson. "Vehicles badly needed on a military construction job in the far west face idleness unless they can be provided with tires.

"Farming areas need more tires than we have been able to assign for tractor and harvest machinery. The vital soft wood lumber industry reports increasing impediment to its operations and the prospect of laying up large fleets of its trucks for lack

Propaganda Trial

(AN EDITORIAL)

The department of justice has made public the indictment returned at Washington, charging 28 persons with conspiracy to injure the morale of the armed forces. From its language it is difficult to determine whether the administration is embarking on a criminal prosecution or a Moscow propaganda trial. The hand in which the presentment is made may be that of Attorney General Biddle, but its language is the voice of MacLeish, Dr. Kingdon, and their comrades in the smear brigade.

"The defendants," the indictment urges, "conspired to seize upon and use and misuse the right of freedom of speech and the press to spread their disloyal doctrines, intending and believing that any nation allowing its people the right of freedom of speech and of the press is powerless to defend itself against enemies masquerading as patriots and seeking to obstruct, impede, break down, and destroy the proper functioning of its republican form of government under the guise of honest criticism."

The indictment asserts that the defendants "engaged in a continuous and systematic campaign of written and printed opposition and sabotage against any and all efforts of public officials to arouse the military and naval forces and the people."

Strip that language of its garbage rhetoric, place it in relation to the events to which it refers, and you have the contention that any deviation from one party government is seditious. The indictment seeks to make it a crime, in time of peace, to dispute the arguments of the political party in power.

By the device of including patriotic critics of the administration policy in the same group with a wide assortment of crackpots, as well as some persons who have been convicted of seditious activities, it is sought to make it impossible to defend the patriots without indorsing the crackpots and defending sedition. The device is too transparent. It defeats itself.

It would have been obviously ridiculous to have indicted the America First committee. That would have required calling Gen. MacNider back from Australia, where he is fighting under Gen. MacArthur, and placing him in the prisoner's dock, charged with seeking to destroy the morale of the men he is leading. It would have required proving similar charges against Mr. Stuart and many other leaders of the committee, who are now wearing their country's uniform, and against Gen. Wood, Gen. Hammond, and others.

Therefore, the America First committee, and its leaders, are not indicted. The committee is merely lumped in a group of organizations, some of them crazy, some disreputable, and some treasonable. It is charged that the defendants who were indicted "organized, or caused to be organized, supported, used, controled, or contributed financially to" these organizations. It is, in short, the familiar smear by association.

None of the charges, of course, could be proved against the America First committee. Its leaders were, from the beginning of their activities, on guard against the lunatic fringe that is attracted to every public controversy. Far from being used by the crackpots, the committee repeatedly spurned them.

Had the committee or its leaders been indicted, they would have vindicated themselves. But they are not indicted, and so they may be smeared with impunity, since they will not be represented by counsel to question any charges directed against them. Nor may those who have been libeled vindicate themselves by civil action, since statements in an indictment, however false, are still privileged.

There is also, technically, a criminal case. A minority of the defendants have already been convicted of seditious practices. Concerning the others, the public will, of course, withhold judgment until the evidence is presented, inasmuch as every American citizen is considered innocent until proved guilty. This remains true, even of those who by their own actions have managed to build up a good deal of prejudice against themselves.

The department of justice did not enhance its reputation for good faith when it charged the defendants with conspiracy to commit certain crimes, instead of committing actual crimes. By the use of the conspiracy charge the defendants are deprived of the constitutional right to be tried in the state where the crime was alleged to have been committed.

Even tho it is without legal flaw, the procedure smacks of that transportation of the colonists for trial in England, which constituted one of the principal grievances against George III. The indictment is returned in Washington, where the majority of the population is on the federal pay roll and the whole population is dependent on the government for a living. A jury anywhere in the country would convict, without hesitation, for actual sedition. Washington is one of the few spots where 12 jurors might be found willing to substitute propaganda for justice.

Trinidad Base Work Nears End; U. S. Releasing Men

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, July 24 (AP).—The construction of the United States army base here is so advanced that a gradual reduction of the construction staff has been started, Lieut. Col. Gustav Ring, acting district engineer of the United States army, announced yesterday. He said that with the advent of the rainy season some American workers had returned home and some West Indian laborers had been released. The reduction would be progressive and permanent, he said.

Hague's Police Block Edison's New Tax Body

Jersey City, N. J., July 24 [Special].—Hudson county police forcibly barred five new members of the Hudson county tax board from entering their offices in the Jersey City courthouse today in the latest phase of a bitter Democratic party feud between Gov. Charles Edison and Mayor Frank [I am the Law] Hague of Jersey City.

The new members were appointed yesterday by Gov. Edison and confirmed by the state senate after the governor had ousted the old board, which was favorable to Mayor Hague, on charges of dereliction of duty. Under Boss Hague's rule, the tax rate for Jersey City is one of the highest in the country for a city of its size.

Police Block Entrance.

After being sworn in by Judge James R. Erwin in a nearby courtroom, the new appointees immediately appeared at their courthouse offices. They found the doorway blocked by four county police officers under the command of Chief Patrick Dolan.

"You can't go in," announced the chief, pushing back the first member to approach, while a large crowd watched. One by one the five commissioners tried to enter and each was repulsed.

"Do you know," Commissioner Leo Rosenblum asked Dolan, "that the members of the Hudson county tax board are state officers and not subject to control of the county police?"

Called "Matter for Courts."

The chief replied that he was "not answering any questions." He said he was acting on the orders of J. Emil Walscheid, county counsel, who watched the proceedings from behind a crowd of 50 persons. Walscheid's only comment was that "all this is unnecessary as it is a matter for the courts."

"This is the first time in the history of the state," an aid of the governor said, "when a state agency has been barred from functioning by city and county officials."

More violent opponents of Democratic Boss Hague urged the governor to counter this show of force by ordering the state police to conduct the new tax commissioners past the county police guard. However it was said at the governor's office in Trenton that such action would not be necessary, that Edison almost certainly would go to the courts instead of using force.

Old Board Accused.

In discharging the old county tax board, Gov. Edison charged the members with wilful disregard of their lawful responsibilities. He said they had used different bases for assessing property and had discriminated between taxpayers on appeal.

The governor declared he had found that in five all day hearings, at which the tax board members refused to appear, they "frequently had acted upon the orders of and as directed by the officials of Jersey City, and thereby abdicated to those officials the board's power and duty to see that property in that city is properly assessed."

FORD ANNOUNCES PLAN TO KEEP UP WORKERS' TIRES

Detroit, Mich., July 24 (AP).—The Ford Motor company today announced that it has presented for government approval a "tire replacement plan" which contemplates the use of the rubber substitute Thiokol to keep the automobiles of war workers on the road.

Charles E. Sorensen, Ford vice president and general manager, said the plan is designed to solve the problem of essential transportation for Ford workers and will be offered to the entire United States war industry if approved.

Sorensen said Ford engineers had arranged to handle "all essential retreading and tire replacement for the autos, buses, and trucks required as transportation for upward of 200,000 Ford employés."

Two pounds of the rubber substitute, Sorensen said, will permit a retread of "one-tenth inch skid thickness, good for 4,000 to 5,000 miles of moderate driving."

Sorensen said the tanks and vats necessary for Thiokol production will be made, as far as possible, from wood or concrete, thus saving on vital war materials.

Bandit Slain by Policeman in Pistol Duel

With a crowd looking on, a policeman, off duty, and a fleeing robber fought out a close range battle with pistols last evening in front of 4243 Monticello avenue. The robber was killed. The policeman, Carl Pablowski of the Cragin district, was unhurt, but one of his friends was wounded by a bullet from the bandit's gun.

The slain man was identified as George Karch, 26 years old, of 4714 North Albany avenue. In his pockets the police found $78, taken a few minutes before in a holdup of the liquor department of the Elston Farmers' market at 4103 Elston avenue.

Manager, Clerk Chase Thief.

After taking the money from the store's clerk, Maury Lonson, Karch fled along Elston avenue to Ridgeway avenue and turned north. He was pursued by Lonson and the market manager, Salvatore Marino, who shouted: "Stop that robber."

In front of his home at 4144 North Ridgeway avenue Pablowski and his friend, Michael Tarasiuk, 32, of Glenview were talking. As the robber passed, with a gathering throng behind him, Pablowski ran into his house and seized his gun.

He and Tarasiuk jumped into the Tarasiuk car and joined the bandit chase. Karch had run thru an alley into Monticello avenue, to the east, and was firing in the general direction of the pursuers when Pablowski arrived. Less than 20 feet from the robber he leaped from the car and ordered the man to surrender.

Bullet Is Reply.

The answer was a bullet, which struck Tarasiuk in the right shoulder. A second struck a house across the street. Pablowski fired and Karch fell, dying, struck in the neck. He had no police record and relatives said that he had never talked of robbery. He was unemployed and lived with a brother.

Pablowski is 45 years old and has been a member of the police force for 22 years.

Tarasiuk was taken in his own car to Martha Washington hospital, where physicians said they expect his recovery.

Refugees Tell of Sufferings While Interned

(Following are portions of a composite story on conditions in Japan and Japanese occupied territory which was written by four Associated Press correspondents who have just arrived at Lourenco Marques, Portuguese East Africa, for exchange. Portions of the story are omitted to conform with official requests from Washington that nothing be done which could interfere in the slightest with the welfare or repatriation of Americans who are still in Japanese occupied territory. The writers were from Tokio, Indo-China, and Hongkong.)

LOURENCO MARQUES, Portuguese East Africa, July 23 [Delayed]—(AP).—Hunger and cold intensified the privations of many Americans and Canadians in the orient who fell into the hands of the Japanese at the outbreak of the Pacific war.

Accounts of existence in an enemy country came today from among some 1,100 North and South American nationals brought here and exchanged for Japanese diplomats and their families under the supervision of the Portuguese foreign office. They made the trip from the orient on the liners Conte Verde and Asamu Maru.

Theatened with Guillotine.

Returning American nationals, discussing methods used by Japanese authorities in attempts to force admissions of guilt from men against whom charges of espionage had been brought, said some of the prisoners were told that they would be guillotined and that their wives and children would suffer. There were no known cases in Japan of physical abuse of women or children or deaths of American prisoners from mistreatment, but a number of British nationals committed suicide while in prison.

[These reports are from individuals and have not yet been brought to the official attention of the United States government.]

Americans and Canadians caught by the surrender of Hongkong boarded the Asama suffering from malnutrition due to a scarcity of food which was general, but not deliberate on the part of the Japanese.

Beriberi, pellagra, boils, and dysentery were widespread following six months of an unvarying diet which resulted in losses of weight of as much as 60 pounds, with the average at 20 pounds.

No Heat Provided.

Prisoners and internees in the northern areas of the Japanese empire suffered severely during the winter months; those in Corea and Manchukuo were confined to unheated cells and houses with temperature below zero.

Hongkong reports said that the Japanese boasted they had driven 500,000 Chinese from the city. Those fleeing, in addition to those remaining, feared starvation.

A score of American priests in Hongkong described their capture on Christmas day, following which they were marched into a ravine for execution and reprieved only at the last minute.

Then they were imprisoned in a garage for three days and tied in groups with insufficient water and food.

YANKS TO MAINTAIN, REPAIR ALL OF RAF'S U. S. MADE AIRCRAFT

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, July 24.—The United States air force has taken over the whole job of maintaining and repairing American planes whether they are flown by the royal air force or their own crews. The British will look after the upkeep of planes of British manufacture.

The scheme is designed to increase the efficiency of the repair and maintenance service and save time and shipping space.

For the last two years the United States has been supplying Britain with planes under contract and lend-lease agreements. These planes have been subject to adaptation to British standards. This has not always proved satisfactory either to the RAF or the American manufacturers, who felt that their machines could perform best only if used as they were intended to be used and serviced by American mechanics familiar with details of their construction.

SOVIETS BATTLE TANKS BEATING AGAINST ROSTOV

Report Thousands of Nazis Slain.

MOSCOW, July 25 [Saturday] (AP).—German tanks and infantrymen were beating against Rostov, the Russian bridgehead to the rich Caucasus, over the bodies of thousands of Nazi dead, the soviets announced officially early today in one of the gravest moments in Russian history.

"The approaches to the fortified districts [of Rostov] are littered with the corpses of thousands of Hitlerites," the communique said. "However, disregarding their losses the enemy continues to throw more and more forces into battle."

[The German high command said Rostov had been "stormed and captured," altho it admitted mopping up operations were still going on.]

"Large enemy tank units are attempting to break into the city," the Russian communique said, "and intense and sanguinary battles are taking place."

Battle Rages on 120 Mile Line.

The supreme fight for the rich Caucasian oil region, however, raged for 120 miles along the Don river to the Tsimlyansk area.

The Germans even managed to cross the Don river at that point, the Russians said, but the communique added:

"With counterblows our units encircled and destroyed the infantry regiment which had broken thru."

German artillery and aircraft pressed steadily against the Russians holding the southern bank of the Don. It was there that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko was expected to make a major stand against the Nazi attempt to sever the Caucasus.

The Germans now are 280 miles from the nearest Russian oil, at Maikop, south of Rostov.

Reds Cross Don at Voronezh.

The Red army also was still entrenched on the north bank of the Don, the communique indicated. It spoke of fighting in the Novocherkassk area, 20 miles northeast of Rostov.

Far to the north, in the Voronezh sector, the Russians reported another soviet crossing to the western bank of the Don, and the destruction of another Nazi regiment. The Russians also said that repeated Nazi attacks in the Voronezh area had been smashed.

In a flareup of fighting in the Bryansk sector in the center of Russia the Russians said they knocked out 20 more Nazi tanks.

American made planes, especially the two motored Douglas medium bombers which the British call Bostons, were being used in greater numbers than ever before over the main battle sectors.

Storm City, Nazis Claim.

BERLIN, July 24 [from German broadcasts] (AP).—The German high command announced today that German army and SS elite troops and Slovak detachments had captured Rostov by storm and were engaged in mopping up operations there while other German forces "broke the resistance of soviet troops newly brought up" in the Don river bend. Sixty-nine Russian tanks and 29 guns were reported destroyed in the Rostov action.

Farther north, the Germans reported, strong Russian attacks to the northwest of Voronezh were smashed by counterblows while fighter and dive bomber formations, operating in coöperation with the ground forces, inflicted serious losses on the Reds. Military spokesmen said that the Germans had withdrawn short distances near Voronezh "to prevent needless sacrifice of troops."

The communique told of new Russian attacks on the Volkhov front and before Leningrad, but said these had collapsed.

With the capture of Rostov, Don river port just above the Sea of Azov, the Germans said they now dominate the whole region in the bend of the river.

Finns Say Reds Stopped.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 24 (AP).—The Russian army has continued its attacks against the Finnish lines on the Karelian isthmus, near Leningrad, but without gaining ground, the Finnish high command announced today.

PICK PROSECUTOR TO TRY 27 MEN AND MRS. DILLING

Group Expected to Go on Trial in Early Fall.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 24.—The prosecution of 28 persons indicted for conspiracy to break down the morale of American armed forces will be directed by Wendell Berge, chief of the criminal division of the department of justice, it was learned today.

Wendell Berge.

The group, which includes Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling of Chicago, Ill., and 27 men, probably will go to trial here in the early fall.

The case will mark the high point in Berge's career and he has expressed confidence that the indictments returned Tuesday, after an investigation lasting nine months, will result in convictions for all the defendants. Berge is a native of Lincoln, Neb., 39 years old, and a veteran of 12 years in the justice department.

First Under 1940 Law.

The case will mark the first attempt to obtain a conspiracy conviction under legislation enacted by congress in 1940 forbidding interference with the armed forces in peacetime. Mrs. Dilling and her co-defendants also face conviction under a second count charging violation of the wartime sedition law, placed on the statute books during the World war. Maximum punishment under both counts is 30 years in prison and fines totaling $20,000.

According to government prosecutors, the charges were brought under two statutes to show continuity of the alleged offenses before and after the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor. It is alleged that the defendants attempted to disrupt the morale of the fighting men before the nation was plunged into war, and continued to do so afterward, their activities being deemed direct interference with the war effort.

Freedom of Press Involved.

The indictment lists 30 publications in which alleged seditious articles and cartoons were published. Thus the case is expected to involve such fundamental issues as freedom of the press and freedom of speech.

Presumably the government will attempt to show that the defendants were abusing their rights under the constitution.

Berge has insisted that a democracy has the right to protect itself in wartime from activities such as those set up in the indictment. He asserted today that the defendants were leagued together and shared each other's work. As an example he cited the defendant, H. Victor Broenstrupp, of Noblesville, Ind., whom he charged with having urged the others to organize and pool their efforts in attempts to undermine loyalty to the armed forces.

Charges Letter Solicitations.

The government charges that Broenstrupp wrote letters to the other defendants soliciting coöperation in the dissemination of their utterances.

Before he became chief of the justice department's criminal division, Berge was an assistant in the anti-trust division. He represented the government in cases involving the Chicago Grain Exchange and the Chicago and Kansas City Stockyards. He was victorious in cases, tried in Chicago, establishing the validity of New Deal legislation controling commodity exchange rates and stockyards rates. He was appointed to his present post in January, 1941.

ARREST INDICTED ENQUIRER EDITOR IN N. Y. HOSPITAL

Seize Col. Sanctuary on Conspiracy Charge.

New York, July 24 (AP).—William Griffin, editor and publisher of the New York Enquirer, was placed under technical arrest late today at St. Clare's hospital on a warrant charging him with conspiracy to circulate publications designed to undermine the morale of American armed forces.

Federal authorities had been searching for Griffin since yesterday, after United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter issued bench warrants for Griffin, Col. Eugene Nelson Sanctuary, army reserve officer, and James Smythe, an executive of the Protestant War Veterans association.

Has Heart Ailment.

Hospital attendants said the publisher was brought there last night for treatment of a heart ailment. Dr. William Wagner declared the publisher was suffering from coronary thrombosis.

An Enquirer spokesman said that Griffin had been suffering from a heart ailment for several months and had been taken to the hospital after an attack.

In a statement issued at the hospital Griffin declared that the purpose of Special Assistant Attorney General William Power Maloney "clearly has been to 'get me,' to hound me to death, to try to make me confess to something. Behind it all, I now am convinced, is a determined effort to 'get me' in some way and to suppress the New York Enquirer.

Tried to Avoid War.

"Up until the formal declaration of war I tried to keep our country out of this conflict, which is what many other patriotic American citizens tried to do. Since Pearl Harbor I personally and the New York Enquirer editorially and in its news columns had backed every war measure urged by the national administration with the utmost force."

Col. Sanctuary was held in $5,000 bail for removal to Washington, where he was indicted with Griffin, Smythe, and 25 others for alleged conspiracy to injure service men's morale.

Sanctuary's attorney asked that his client be paroled until tomorrow to obtain bail, but his request was denied "in view of the seriousness of the charges."

Deputy marshals were still searching for Smythe.

WALLET TAKEN BY GYPSY.

M. S. Wong, 4318 Van Buren street, a Chinese, reported to police last night that gypsies stopped to talk to him near his home, and one stole his wallet containing $10 in cash and a $30 check.

15 Tons Sent Away

Fifteen tons of tin cans, clean and pressed flat, left Chicago yesterday for processing and reclaiming at the Metal and Thermite plant, East Chicago, Ind.

They were loaded at the city loading platform, 3500 Touhy avenue, under the supervision of Lloyd M. Johnson, commissioner of streets and electricity and OCD Salvage Office collector. Also present were William Johnson, executive secretary of the Chicago and Suburbs Scavengers' association, and James Creed, city superintendent of dumps.

AIR BOMBS PERIL ISLAND HOME OF SWEDEN'S KING

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 24.—Shortly after midnight last night eight Russian bombs and many incendiaries, including at least two "Molotov cocktails," landed about 500 yards from King Gustav's summer residence at Borgholm, on Oeland Island.

The 84 year old monarch now is participating in the annual tennis tournament at the summer resort of Bostad. He is expected to visit his Borgholm palace early next month.

An investigation has definitely established that the bombs were of Russian origin, authorities said. Many large splinters bearing Russian inscriptions were found in craters. There was little damage and no casualties from the blasts.

The Swedish government has protested to the soviet government. It was believed the flyers lost their way after bombing Koenigsburg, East Prussia.

SIX OF ACCUSED NAZI SABOTEURS GIVE TESTIMONY

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—The military commission trying eight alleged Nazi saboteurs disclosed today that six of the prisoners have taken the witness stand during the 14 days of the trial.

An announcement by Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, president of the panel of seven generals, indicated the sixth one was on the stand at the conclusion of today's session. McCoy also said that "various defense witnesses were examined and cross-examined during the afternoon."

There was an air of expectancy about the trial today after one participant, who declined to be quoted by name, suggested that "something big" might happen soon.

STARS OF W-G-N TO SING FOR FANS IN STUDIO COURT

Seats Ready for Outdoor Audience.

Stars of the America Loves a Melody program at the conclusion of the broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual broadcasting system from 8 to 9 o'clock tonight will appear in the balcony overlooking Nathan Hale court and extend a word of greeting and perhaps sing a song or two for the crowd that customarily gathers there to hear the program thru outdoor loudspeakers.

Extra benches are being installed and the court is being decorated with evergreens. Special lighting effects are also being provided. Miss Marion Claire, star of all these concerts; Attilio Baggiore, guest tenor, and other members of the cast will respond to brief introductions by Marvin Mueller, the announcer for the W-G-N concert, which is presented before 600 guests in the main studio.

Prize Song Drama.

A song-drama based on Schubert's familiar "Ave Maria" will be a highlight of the broadcast. The drama will tell the story of what "Ave Maria" means to one W-G-N listener. It is based on a $25 prize winning letter telling the personal significance of the song. Miss Claire will sing the melody.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will be the speaker.

Feature Kern's Songs.

Melodies of Jerome Kern will figure prominently in the program, too. A medley of songs from "The Cat and the Fiddle" will be presented. Miss Claire and Baggiore will sing "The Night Was Made for Love." Other numbers are "She Didn't Say Yes," and "Try to Forget." Kern's "The Last Time I Saw Paris," will be the subject of another prize winning song-drama.

Baggiore's solos will be Frimi's "Give Me One Hour" and "Oft in the Silent Night." Miss Claire also will sing Delibes' "Les Filles de Cadiz" and Strauss' "We Will Always Be Sweethearts." The W-G-N Concert orchestra and chorus will be directed by Henry Weber. The orchestra will be featured in Coates' "Knightsbridge March."

Kenneth MacGregor will produce the program.

BROTHERS, 4 AND 2, DROWN IN POND.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 24 [Special].—Harry Jr., 4 years old, and Jerry, 2, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reid, were drowned tonight in a pond about 30 feet from their own back yard.

MOTORISTS TAKE LESS THAN HALF OF TIRE QUOTAS

Less than half of the automobile tires and only a third of the tubes allotted to the Chicago metropolitan area in the first six months this year for rationing to eligible motorists were withdrawn from the nation's precious stockpile of rubber, Michael F. Mulcahy, area OPA administrator, reported yesterday.

The report showed that certificates for 6,268 passenger tires and 9,246 tubes were issued against allotted quotas of 13,093 and 29,810 repectively.

Truck operators also practiced frugality, taking 19,234 of the 24,673 quota of tires and 15,512 tubes of the quota of 28,746. Truck demands were increasing, however. In May, 3,586 tires were released from a quota of 3,469, and in June, 4,716 from 3,503, the excess coming from reserve pools.

Of 5,369 new automobiles available for purchase in the six months, 2,846 were bought.

of tires. Such cases come to us every day.

"Trucks of this kind are vital to our war effort. Any substantial tie-up of the services they perform could defeat us more quickly than an invading army. The less essential trucks must stand aside so we can go full speed ahead with the job of winning the war."

Order Inventory of Trucks.

The WPB ordered a country-wide inventory of all new commercial vehicles, preliminary to tighter rationing regulations to cope with increasing requirements of the army and navy, which are complaining of shortages of certain types of vehicles.

WPB also announced authorization of production of 500 giant "off-the-highway" trucks for use by mining and other essential industries and for export.

An "off-the-highway" truck is defined as a "motor truck, truck-trailer, or trailer operating off the public highway, nominally on rubber tires and designed especially to transport material, property or equipment on mining, construction, logging, or petroleum development projects."

Report Time Bombs Delay Nazi Occupation of Rostov

LONDON, July 24 (AP).—The Vichy radio reported tonight that tremendous explosions in which whole blocks are being blown up by delayed action bombs are hindering the German occupation of the city of Rostov.

DENY GRACE PLEA TO STRIKE NAME OFF 'ENEMY LIST'

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday upheld a government motion to strike from the record a petition filed by Attorney William J. Grace charging that his name was defamed by being included with those of "people who are proven enemy agents."

Grace is head of the Citizens U. S. A. committee, formerly the Citizens' Committee to Keep America Out of War. His petition had asked that his name be expunged from a subpena in connection with the federal grand jury investigation of seditious activity.

In dismissing the petition, Judge Barnes held there was not sufficient proof of harm done to Grace to warrant further litigation.

ORDER HALTING BIG SHIP PROJECT LAID TO KNOX AID

Charge Powell Works for Higgins' Rival.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., July 24.—A congressional investigating committee today heard charges that high government officials interested in "old line" shipbuilding companies forced cancellation of the contract with the Higgins Construction company for 200 Liberty ships because they feared the postwar competition of new and speedier methods of construction.

The officials are serving as expert advisers to the navy department and the maritime commission, according to the charges, and are in a position to influence government policies toward the ship construction program. Startling records for speed hung up by newcomers in the field have frightened the established concerns that are clinging to old methods of construction, witnesses told the committee.

Knox Assistant Quoted.

Joseph W. Powell, assistant to Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, was quoted as saying that he is in charge of ship construction for both the navy and the maritime commission and he was determined that no new yards could be opened except by the old line companies. Powell was identified as a former vice president of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation.

This testimony was given by L. E. Detwiler, assistant to Andrew Jackson Higgins, head of the Higgins company, which has carried its fight to congress to regain the canceled contract. The investigating committee, a subcommittee of the house merchant marine committee, opened its hearings yesterday following approval of a resolution which would block the cancellation order pending the completion of its inquiry. The measure is now before the house.

200 Names, but No Ships.

Other testimony, which brought a mirthful outburst from members of the committee, indicated that the maritime commission may be short on ships for prosecution of the war but has an adequate supply of names for the vessels whenever they are delivered. Higgins said that a few days after his contract with the government was drafted he received a railway express package from Washington marked, "Rush."

Ground for the new shipyard had not been broken, he said, and not a pound of steel or piece of equipment had been ordered. However, he said, he supposed the parcel contained vital plans or important material needed in constructing the ships. When he opened it, out rattled 200 names plates for the vessels he had agreed to build—vessels which could not be started until months of work on the yard had been completed.

10 Millions Already Spent.

Higgins had agreed to produce the 200 cargo vessels at the rate of one a day, using mass production methods. A total of 10 million dollars of government funds had been expended on the construction of the vast shipyards for this project when termination of the contract was announced last week by the maritime commission.

The commission said the move was caused by a steel shortage and the necessity for diverting all available steel to construction of ships at existing plants. Witnesses have told the committee that it will require at least 25 million dollars more to dismantle the partially completed Higgins yard and salvage the material already installed.

The administration has admitted that axis submarines are sinking united nations merchantmen faster than they can be built, and the shortage of shipping has been advanced as the chief bottleneck in the war program. In view of these circumstances, the action against the Higgins contract has aroused loud protests from members of congress who assert that the need for increased shipbuilding facilities is greater now than ever before.

Needed to Reach Goal.

Detwiler noted that the goal of new ships for 1943 is 23 million gross tons, compared with a total of 541,505 tons produced by established yards in 1940. To reach this goal, he said, builders who devise new and faster methods must be given their chance to aid in the war effort.

"We cannot do it under existing conditions," he declared. "We cannot do it with the handful of old line companies using ancient methods. It just isn't possible.

"But our officials are at the mercy of their expert advisers, many having connections with the old line companies who are paying them while they serve as dollar a year men in Washington. They are influenced and impressed by these men who are selfishly interested in their desire to survive after this war is over.

"Knox Isn't a Navy Man."

"Secretary Knox isn't a navy man. He's a newspaper publisher. His adviser is Joe Powell who was connected with Bethlehem for years. Powell and men like him who found out about Higgins' methods knew they could not compete with us. That's the root of all our trouble."

"Do you think Powell is running the maritime commission?" he was asked. "and if the commission had been left alone this never would have happened?"

"I don't know that Powell is running the commission," the witness replied. "He certainly is in a position to influence its judgment. I think that if those men were free to make their own decisions they would be glad to get the ships from whatever source and that's all we proposed to do—build the ships to win this war."

Detwiler said that Higgins and Henry J. Kaiser, famed builder and operator of a number of Pacific coast shipyards, are close friends and have exchanged ideas on mass production of ocean going vessels.

Association Blamed.

Earlier the committee heard Higgins charge that the American Shipbuilders' association had brought about the termination of his contract thru its ability to influence government officials. He conceded, however, that he would have a hard time proving it.

"I don't belong to their organization," he said, "and if I did I wouldn't want a competitor who could save 300,000 man hours per ship in construction time."

Higgins, who looks and acts like a two fisted fighter, said that when he was notified that his contract was to be canceled he called the government's attention to a five day clause in the agreement and was told it would be "unwise" for him to attempt to invoke it.

"That was an implied threat that you would lose your shirt if you didn't give up?" he was asked.

"Something of the sort," he replied.

The five day clause required five day notice before cancellation of the contract.

Navy Candidate

DR. MILDRED McAFEE.

Washington, D. C., July 24 [Special].—Administration officials said tonight they understood that Dr. Mildred H. McAfee, former Chicagoan, who is president of Wellesley university at Wellesley, Mass., will be chosen to head the women's naval auxiliary corps.

A bill providing for creation of the auxiliary has passed congress and awaits the signature of President Roosevelt. Testimony before congressional committees said the auxiliary members would replace men in shore billets and free about 1,000 officers and 10,000 enlisted men for active sea duty.

Miss McAfee, 42 years old, is the second youngest president of Wellesley, which she has headed since 1936. Following her graduation from Vassar in 1920 she taught English and French at Monticello seminary, Godfrey, Ill., and spent several years in Chicago, where she was an assistant in the Francis W. Parker school and was a director of girls' work in the Fourth Presbyterian church.

INGERSOLL ENDS HIS DRAFT FIGHT BY JOINING ARMY

PM Editor to Report for Induction Today.

New York, July 24 (AP).—Ralph Ingersoll, editor of the newspaper PM, whose 1A classification in the draft was appealed recently by Marshall Field, publisher, today volunteered for army service.

Maj. Corlo A. Pivirotto, district recruiting officer of the southern New York district, said Ingersoll appeared at army headquarters, made out his enlistment papers, and went with a group of volunteers to Governors Island.

Ingersoll, 41 years old, was continued in 1A after a rehearing by his local board. His case was referred to an appeals board.

Ordered to Report Today.

After taking his physical examination at Governors Island Ingersoll was allowed to return to his home and will report back to army headquarters tomorrow for instruction when to report for induction.

It was learned at selective service headquarters that Ingersoll yesterday submitted to his local board a form requesting immediate classification and waiving "all rights of notice, personal appearance, and appeal."

Calls Board Prejudiced.

After the local board on July 8 reiterated its 1A decision, Ingersoll said in a statement that "If I go into the army I want it to be as an honor paid my profession, not because some men on a local draft board don't like PM." In an earlier open letter in his newspaper the editor had accused the board of trying to draft him because of prejudice against PM.

Col. Arthur V. McDermott, New York director of selective service, said Ingersoll's case was placed before an appeals board on instructions from national headquarters.

ORDERS DRIVE AGAINST VICTORY GARDEN THIEVES

Police captains thruout the city were instructed by Police Commissioner Allman yesterday to take immediate action against persons apprehended either damaging or stealing from a victory garden.

In his order Allman called the district commanders' attention to an ordinance passed by the city council on July 8, providing fines up to $50 for persons trespassing on a victory garden and fines up to $200 for pilfering vegetables from such a garden. He said, however, that the order applies only to gardens bearing the official emblem of the Office of Civilian Defense, Chicago area.

Allman added that owners of victory gardens who now do not have the emblems may obtain them from the community chairman. "Enforce the ordinance and prosecute the violators," the order concluded.

U. S. TAKES TITLE TO 29 OF SEIZED ENEMY VESSELS

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—Government confiscation of 29 Italian and German ships, including the Odenwald, a German vessel caught in the Carribbean early last year masquerading as an American ship, was announced today by Leo T. Crowley, alien property custodian.

The other 28 vessels include those damaged by their crews while in American ports in March, 1941, apparently as a part of a general sabotage plan. Their crews are now imprisoned.

The Maritime commission requisitioned "possession and use" of the 29 ships some time ago, but title had not previously passed to this government. The confiscation, Crowley said, will permit withdrawal or quick settlement of actions in admiralty or salvage proceedings which are pending against all 29 of the vessels.

22 GIVE BLOOD FOR 4TH TIME TO RED CROSS BANK

Twenty-two Chicagoans have given their blood for the fourth time to the Chicago Red Cross blood bank, it was announced yesterday by Joseph H. King, vice chairman of the chapter and head of the blood donor service.

The blood bank was started Jan. 30, and an eight week interval was set as the period between donations from the same people. July 17 marked the first time that a fourth donation could have been given. Thus in the first week after the minimum deadline 22 persons gave for the fourth time—a high percentage, Red Cross officials said.

Altogether more than 33,000 persons have given their blood since Jan. 30, keeping the Chicago record above par.

Save 10 from Lost British Ship; 48 of Crew Missing

LISBON, Portugal, July 24 (AP).—The Spanish steamer Castillo Almenara has landed 10 survivors from the torpedoed British tanker British Yeoman, 6,690 tons, at San Vicente in the Cape Verde Islands, according to dispatches from the islands today. The survivors said 48 of the crew were missing from the ship, sunk 500 miles north of the islands.

Fort Meade, Md., July 24 [Special].—Mrs. Evelyn Richman Kashuk, wife of an army corporal, has been named president of the newly organized "War Brides of America," made up of women who have become brides since September, 1940. The organization's purpose is said to be the fostering of morale among soldiers and their wives, and especially the wives and families of soldiers who have been sent to posts far from their homes.

CALL ON FARMERS FOR NEW CROP—IT'S SCRAP METAL

Midwestern farmers will be asked to help keep the fires in Chicago's steel mills burning thru the winter and for the duration of the war by turning in old farm machinery, implements, broken down automobiles, and other scrap metal, salvage officials said yesterday.

A test of the midwest farm area's response to the War Production board's national salvage program will be made Aug. 8 at Delavan, Ill., Reau Kemp, WPB salvage supervisor for 11 midwestern states, announced. It is hoped to get 50 tons of scrap from Mason, Logan, and Tazewell counties.

Eugene L. Dunne, chief of the WPB automobile graveyard salvage section, disclosed that Philip Whitman, a Mattoon, Wis., farmer, has started to recover approximately 500 old automobiles dumped in the last 15 years in a lake near Shawano, Wis. Using a grappling hook on a 400 foot cable operated by a tractor driven winch, the farmer already has hauled up more than 16 cars. Albert Radtke, an auto dealer, dumped the cars into the lake after removing useful parts.

2 BANDITS TAKE $500.

Peter Carollo, 38 years old, was robbed of $500 by two bandits yesterday in front of his restaurant and tavern at 10301 Cottage Grove avenue. He had withdrawn the money earlier from a bank.

SEES JAP ATTACK ON DUTCH HARBOR NEXT, THEN U. S.

TORONTO, Ont., July 24 (AP).—Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario predicted today that Japan's next major move would be an attack on Dutch Harbor in the Aleutian Islands, from which long range bombers could attack United States centers of production on the Pacific coast and a considerable distance inland.

Premier Hepburn.

"Of course I'm a pessimist," the premier told reporters, "but I say that we are living in a fool's paradise. It is only absolute fear that will awaken the people to a realization of what they must face in the immediate future.

"The situation in Canada today is a perfect parallel of that in France in 1940 when the people didn't awaken to the danger until the Germans had crossed the Meuse."

Sees Difficulties for Britain.

Hepburn said he feared as well that the "desperate situation of the Russian army" might lead to untold difficulties for Britain in the Mediterranean. The long and hazardous sea route around Africa for British supplies presented "an almost insurmountable problem," he said, and added he feared that Nazi subjugation of the entire Mediterranean area "will mean Germany will occupy the whole of France and take the French fleet."

The premier said the combined navies of France, Italy, and Germany, scattered from Gibraltar to Norway, would increase almost instantly beyond endurance the situation of Britain, which was so dependent on shipping for vital supplies. This picture, with the ever present danger of a Japanese attack on North America, would make any reasonable man pessimistic, he argued.

"Don't let it be said that it can't happen here," the premier warned. "My fear is that it is going to happen here."

Jap Tells of Bombings.

New York, July 24 (AP).—The Tokio radio broadcast a Domei news agency dispatch today in which a Japanese correspondent on Kiska Island at the western end of the Aleutians reported that United States bombers were attacking Japanese forces there two or three times a day, dropping bombs thru the fog.

He reported that since the Japanese landing a month ago the Japanese had changed the name of the island to Narukami, and said roads were being built across the black treeless hills.

"We are having the best weather here now," his dispatch said, "with the temperature about the same as in February in Japan proper, and the foothills are covered with a profusion of beautiful black lilies and mountain violets."

GIRL DIES DURING OPERATION.

Imogene Hayes, 10 years old, Shawneetown, Ill., died at the Illinois Eye and Ear infirmary, 904 Adams street, yesterday while undergoing an operation to correct crossed eyes.

2 IN HOUSE NAVAL GROUP MAY INSPECT NORTH PACIFIC BASES

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—Two members of the house naval affairs committee may make an inspection of naval bases in the far North Pacific area soon, it was learned tonight from congressional sources.

The congressmen reported to have been selected for the trip are Lyndon B. Johnson [D., Tex.] and Warren G. Magnuson [D., Wash.], both lieutenant commanders in the naval reserve and until recently on active duty in the Pacific.

Plans for the inspection trip were said to be nearly completed, but final approval has yet to be given by officials commanding areas concerned. Johnson and Magnuson were understood to have been chosen by the house naval committee.

KNOCK AXIS BASE IN EGYPT 'FLAT AS A PANCAKE!'

British Ships Shell Matruh 6 Times in 10 Days.

BY LARRY ALLEN.

WITH THE BRITISH FLEET IN THE EASTERN MEDITERRANEAN, July 24 (AP).—Matruh, the enemy's most advanced sea base in Egypt, has been bombarded by British warships six times in the last 10 days, and British officers today declared the place was knocked "flatter than a pancake" by some 2,000 shells tossed into the town and harbor.

[The British navy announced in Cairo on Friday that "light naval forces" again bombarded Matruh Wednesday night. This apparently was the sixth bombardment.]

The officers said undoubtedly it is practically impossible for the axis to use the harbor, whose shore buildings have been blasted into heaps of débris and whose waters have been littered with the wrecks of small craft.

Nearly every building has been blasted by British shells and, in destroying the jetties, the warships have blown to bits one big ammunition ship and sunk a small oil ship and several lighters, the British said. In all these shellings British warships were said to have escaped damage and casualties.

Bomb 2 Axis Airdromes.

CAIRO, Egypt, July 24 (AP).—Allied airmen bombed axis bases at El Daba, west of El Alamein, last night and today while Britain's army consolidated its two day ground gains.

For 45 minutes allied bombers attacked two axis airdromes at El Daba last night and set off 10 fires and one explosion. Fighter-bombers followed up with strafing attacks today.

The axis forces, stalled now for more than three weeks and thrown back in some places several miles, were reported driven from the western end of Ruweisat ridge in the center, and Australian troops were declared in control of the Tel El Eisa [Hill of Jesus] and neighboring ridges in the coastal area. There was little action on the southern front.

The consolidations of the new imperial positions were carried out under steady artillery bombardments and raids by the royal air force on axis gun emplacements, vehicles, and communication and supply lines.

Nazi bombers rose to the attack but were quickly engaged by RAF fighters which knocked down six enemy craft.

The axis made a minor counterattack at the western end of Ruweisat ridge.

ITALIANS TAKE SIWA.

Rome announced Friday that Italian troops had occupied the Siwa oasis inside Egypt and directly west of the southern stretches of the Qattara depression after having reported 24 hours previously the occupation of Giarabub oasis, in eastern Libya.

These obscure developments suggested German Marshal Erwin Rommel might try to skirt the south side of the supposedly impassable Qattara salt sinks to hit the British on their Egyptian rear and left flank. This would entail greatly lengthened desert supply lines and military movements over difficult terrain. A more likely estimate is that if the British drive Rommel out of Egypt the axis could strike at the flanks of the revitalized imperial armored forces from the two oases.

Claims 1,000 Prisoners.

On the El Alamein front in Egypt, the Italian communique said, lively fighting continued, with the British sustaining heavy losses. Prisoners taken in the Alamein zone now amount to more than 1,000, it added.

Twelve British fighter planes were reported shot down in desert combat and during a raid upon Bengazi. Loss of one Italian plane was acknowledged. Six British planes also were said to have been shot down over Malta. [Dispatches from Malta said 11 axis planes had been downed there in the last 24 hours.]

CHINESE RETAKE 2 POINTS NEAR LISHUI, JAP BASE

CHUNGKING, China, July 24 (AP).—Heavy casualties have been inflicted upon the Japanese in fighting spread over three provinces, and two points near Lishui, Japanese held air base in southeastern Chekiang, have been recaptured, the Chinese high command announced today.

Some of the heaviest losses were said to have been suffered by the Japanese in Chinese attempts to retake Kweiki, a point on the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway, a short stretch of which the Chinese have recaptured.

To the north, in southeastern Shansi province, the communique said, half of a Japanese column was wiped out after being cut off west of Lingchwan. The other half broke thru the Chinese cordon and retreated, with the Chinese in pursuit.

EXECUTE 3 MORE REDS IN FRANCE; 18 OTHERS TO DIE

Courts of Both Zones Busy with Trials.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, July 24.—Paris and Vichy newspapers today gave prominence to new executions and death and prison sentences handed down by military tribunals for Communist activities in both the occupied and unoccupied zones. The courts were busy grinding out sentences.

The Paris paper reported that three persons involved in an "incident" at a food store last May were executed yesterday morning. They also revealed that 15 of 38 alleged communists on trial at Nancy had been sentenced to death.

Three Others to Die.

The Vichy papers said that three persons had been sentenced to death as traitors at Clermont-Ferrand. Another was condemned to hard labor for life, and three to varying prison terms.

A number of persons were reported sentenced in Tunis to terms of one to 15 years for communist activities, and several youths in Marseilles were sent to prison for five year terms on charges of organizing communist groups.

Sentence Soldier to Hard Labor.

A soldier of the colonial artillery also was sentenced at Marseilles to hard labor for life. He was accused of distributing communist literature in his barracks.

At Arles, four persons found guilty of distributing communist literature were sentenced to five years in prison. A 17 year old boy at Valence was sent to jail for a year on a charge of chalking communist inscriptions on the walls of the factory where he worked.

BRITISH GAINING IN EGYPT, SAYS TRIBUNE WRITER

Britain's army, now strong and well supplied, is "very definitely" on the offensive in Egypt, Sam Brewer, Chicago Tribune war correspondent, said last night in a broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual network from Cairo. While "three weeks ago many persons thought the fall of Cairo was a matter of hours," he said, it is now the British, and not the Germans, who are advancing, adding that "the British attacking units have taken every objective they have been sent for."

Brewer said the terrific heat of the North African summer apparently is too much for the Germans, many of whom admittedly prefer Russia's severe winter, while the heat "somehow doesn't seem to bother the British so much."

Once while meandering in no man's land near Tel el Eisa [Hill of Jesus], Brewer said he got lost and wandered into a desolate section of shell holes and smashed tanks. When he returned to the British lines and told an Australian sentry where he had been, Brewer said the sentry exclaimed: "O, we never go up there, sir. They usually shoot at you."

Report Civil War Flares in Western Burma Province

LONDON, July 24 (AP).—Civil war has broken out in Arakan province, western Burma, between 400,000 pro-British Moslems and Burman supporters of the Japanese, the News Chronicle reported tonight from "somewhere in Burma." Fighting has included a five day battle for the stronghold town of Buthedaung and has continued for three weeks, with thousands of men, women and children reported killed.

JOS. E. OTIS 3D, SON OF CHICAGOAN, KILLED IN AIR BATTLE ABROAD

Joseph E. Otis Jr. of South Bend, Ind., president of the Dodge Manufacturing corporation of Mishawaka, Ind., has received word from the Canadian war ministry that his son, Joseph E. Otis III., 19 years old, was killed in action while piloting a fighter plane in the Canadian royal air force.

Jos. E. Otis III.

He was the grandson of Joseph E. Otis, former chairman of the Central Republic Trust company, and of Mrs. Frank Meadowcroft of Chicago. His mother was the late Louise Wood Meadowcroft.

The young flyer enlisted in the Canadian air force Feb. 10, 1941, while he was a student at Andover academy. He was trained in Canada and was sent overseas last November. His last message to his family indicated he was in Gibraltar.

RANTOUL FLYER GETS MEDAL FOR RAID ON JAP BASE

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, July 24.—A group of United States army flyers was awarded silver stars today by Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett for their work in a bombing attack on the Japanese airdrome at Rabaul, New Britain Island. Among them was Second Lieut. Lawrence R. Mesereau, Rantoul, Ill. Mesereau was a member of the crew of a bomber which set several large fires at Rabaul despite an attack by 12 Japanese fighter planes.

The order of the purple heart was awarded at the same time to Sergt. Arthur W. Norgaard, Green Bay, Wis., who went to the rescue of a member of the crew of his plane who had lost his oxygen mask. Norgaard's citation said his action was in "total disregard for his own life," since he had to remove his own oxygen mask to give assistance to his unconscious gunner.

A silver star also was awarded to First Lieut. James A. Gibbs, Lansing, Mich., for obtaining "extremely valuable information from a hazardous mission over Amboina, in the Dutch East Indies, during which he flew low over the Japanese base there despite heavy fighter opposition and anti-aircraft fire.

17,000 FRENCHMEN OFFER TO WORK IN NAZI PLANTS

VICHY, France, July 24 (AP).—Seventeen thousand Frenchmen have offered to work in German factories since Premier Pierre Laval appealed for volunteers six weeks ago, it was reported today.

At least 3,000 of the volunteers are metallurgical specialists. The Germans have offered to release French war prisoners in proportion to the number of such skilled workers taking employment in German industry. As the campaign to recruit workers increased, German authoirties also encouraged the unskilled to offer their services. A group of 608 was reported to have left Lyons last Friday.

A cabinet meeting this morning was devoted largely to the plan of exchanging war prisoners for specialized workers. It was announced no worker may specify which prisoner he is to replace.

DOUBT ARGENTINA WILL CLIMB OFF NEUTRAL 'FENCE'

Experts Explain Latin Republic's Stand.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, July 24 (AP).—The shape of Argentine foreign policy, as illuminated by recent events including last week's closed session of the chamber of deputies in Buenos Aires, was authoritatively said today to offer scant prospect of future concessions by Argentina in favor of the united nations' cause.

This conclusion was drawn by informed sources here who insisted on anonymity but who speak with knowledge of what occurred last week, when the Argentine chamber interpellated Argentine Foreign Minister Enrique Ruiz Guinazu behind closed doors.

The general impression is one of a government whose attitude toward the war and the obligations it contracted at the conference of American foreign ministers at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, last January is deeply conditioned by suspicion of and resentment toward the United States.

Trace Policy in General.

The broad lines of Argentine policy as traced by these informants are as follows:

FIRST—Argentina will not go to war unless directly attacked and won't take any step considered likely to lead to war. In its interpretation of what constitutes "direct attack," the Argentine government is prepared to overlook such "mistakes" as the German submarine torpedoings of the Argentina merchant ships Uruguay, Victoria, and Rio Tercero.

President Ramon S. Castillo himself is represented as believing none of the belligerents can claim to be fighting for idealistic objectives and that Argentina can get along for five years without aid from either the United States or Great Britain.

Argentina is convinced her view is shared in large measure by Chile, that Chile's future companionship in isolation is assured. There is reason also to believe the government is impressed by reports of its military attachés abroad stressing axis war successes.

Doubt U. S. Ability.

SECOND—In the opinion of those familiar with the government tendencies, Argentina will not sever relations with the axis. The government considers this would be a step toward war.

The administration takes the view that the state of Argentina's military establishment is such that its paramount obligation is to avoid war at all costs. It is dubious of the United States' ability to supply war materials for the defense of South America.

The administration says Washington made lend-lease aid contingent upon Argentina's agreement to convoy merchant vessels. The convoy plan was rejected as a maneuver to draw Argentina into war. It is clear that Argentina is determined to keep her merchant vessels out of the blockade zone declared by Germany, even at a great economic sacrifice.

FINALLY—It is explained that Argentina feels wounded in its sovereignty by the United States blacklist. Sovereignty in the view of the Castillo administration is a precious endowment which must be defended at all costs—especially when there is the remotest suspicion it is being threatened by the United States.

GUERRILLAS OPEN BIG SCALE DRIVE IN JUGO-SLAVIA

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, July 24.—A special communique from Gen. Draja Mihailovitch's Serbian headquarters today said that his Chetnik forces have launched a large scale offensive in Herzegovina [southwest Jugo-Slavia] against positions occupied by axis troops. The capture of the town of Ljubuski after a fierce battle was announced and a considerable quantity of war material and 1,200 axis prisoners reported seized. Guerrilla fighting in the Herzegovina recently had attained such intensity that German troop reënforcements, accompanied by planes and heavy artillery, were sent to aid Italian forces in putting down resistance.

Arriving by clipper yesterday from Europe, Brig. Gen. Francisco J. Aguilar, Mexican minister to the Vichy government, said Laval told him he was staunchly pro-German "principally because I do not want any more wars . . . war does not pay."

HOW JAPS TREAT U. S. REFUGEES IN ENEMY LANDS

Dynan of the Associated Press had been beaten and choked by the Japanese when they refused to write certain statements. Several of Dynan's teeth were knocked out, Bellaire reported. [Dynan, 29 years old, is a native of Chicago.]

Bellaire's dispatch said in part:

"Officials of the home office questioned me repeatedly and at great length in an effort to get me to admit that my activity as a press association reporter had included illegal espionage. Since I had done nothing which I considered illegal I made no admissions.

Choked with Necktie.

"An official who was superintending the questioning then demanded that I write a statement to the effect that I had been well treated. This I refused to do until I had been badly choked. The officer seized my necktie, pulled it constantly tighter and tighter until it was impossible to breathe. I then was forced to write a statement along lines he dictated.

"Dynan told me that he had much the same experience. A home office official demanded that he write a statement on the subject, 'the good treatment I received from the Japanese during wartime.' When he refused he was beaten. He was hit in the face and several teeth, in a bridge, were knocked out."

Two Others Threatened.

Bellaire said that Otto Tolischus, chief correspondent of the New York Times in Tokio, was taken in custody about the same time as other American newspaper men and charged with espionage and violation of the national defense act. His dispatch continued:

"He was forced to sit, Japanese style, with his heels against hips, until wounds opened on his legs. He was repeatedly slapped during questioning by police and once was partly strangled. Police threatened him with a court martial and a firing squad."

JAP PAPUA BASE RIPPED WITH 22 TONS OF BOMBS

Allied Raiders Set Big Fires at Gona Mission.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, July 25 [Saturday] (AP).—Allied bombers struck Japanese land forces near Gona Mission, on the northern New Guinea coast, with 45,000 pounds of bombs Friday and caused large fires, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Enemy barges, stores, and installations at the Japs' newly established Papua base were hit, a communique said. An anti-aircraft battery was put out of action.

Allied aerial activity was so intense, the communique said, that an unspecified number of enemy cargo vessels offshore were unable to unload and were forced to withdraw northward toward the Japanese base at Salamaua.

The communique also said 18 Japanese bombers, escorted by 16 fighters, attacked the allied airdrome at Port Moresby "with minor results." It said there were "no casualties and only slight damage."

Knockout Three Transports.

Three Japanese transports were knocked out in as many days by previous raids, but the Japanese put several thousand men ashore both at Buna and at Ambasi, 30 miles to the north on the Papuan peninsula.

Allied dive bombers, in use for the first time in the New Guinea area, joined medium bombers Thursday in five attacks which set shore installations afire, riddled Japanese landing barges, and killed an undetermined number of Japanese barge occupants.

New Jap Air Bases Possible.

Salamaua, which had been the closest threat to the American garrisoned allied base of Port Moresby until the new landings were begun Wednesday, is 150 miles northwest of Buna.

Altho the new Japanese bases are within range of American and Australian fighter planes, allied informants pointed out that the land around the Gona mission settlement of Buna was flat and could be made quickly into a Japanese air base for further offensive action.

325 Planes Downed: Japan.

TOKIO, July 24 [from Japanese broadcasts] (AP).—Imperial headquarters today said Japanese naval airmen had shot down 325 enemy planes and destroyed 109 more on the ground in operations over New Guinea, the Solomon Islands, and adjacent areas north of Australia between Feb. 2 and July 20. Japanese losses were put at 54 planes.

[The period covered by the Japanese communique includes the Coral sea battle in which, the United States navy department said, the enemy lost more than 100 planes, a 20,000 ton aircraft carrier, and numerous other ships. Many other Japanese planes have been listed in allied communiques as destroyed during the same period.]

WAVES CATAPULT FIERY LIFEBOAT AT SUB'S VICTIMS

Ship Survivors Fight Way Thru Flames.

An East Coast Port, July 24. — A blazing lifeboat, tossed by the waves and threatening everything which it appoached, increased the danger for survivors of a medium size American merchantman which was torpedoed and sunk June 8 in the Caribbean sea.

397

Chief Engineer Francis R. Zeller of Whitman, Mass., said the ship caught fire when it was torpedoed. Four men were killed and 37 were rescued.

Death Toll Rises to 2,088.

The attack brought to 397 the number of vessels sunk in American or adjacent waters since Pearl Harbor, according to an unofficial tabulation by the Associated Press. Since then 338 have been lost near the shores of the United States, with 2,088 known dead, 1,906 missing, and 11,245 rescued.

"Most of us got into two lifeboats, but because of the wind and a heavy sea we were unable to move away from the ship very fast," Zeller said. "Then a lifeboat which had caught fire at the explosion fell into the sea and came bearing down on us. Close against the flaming ship, we didn't have very much room to maneuver in and we were lucky the boat didn't set us on fire."

Three on Blazing Raft.

Zeller said three men on a life raft had an even narrower escape.

"We saw them in a blazing fire and didn't figure they would ever get out alive," he said. "They were pulling that raft for all they were worth, which is a hard job any time, but I guess those flames gave them extra strength."

The three suffered minor burns. The survivors were picked up by a naval vessel an hour and a half later.

HAWAII GOVERNOR PLANS RETURN TO ISLES BY PLANE

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—Gov. Joseph B. Poindexter of Hawaii announced that he would leave by plane this afternoon en route to the islands. Yesterday President Roosevelt nominated Federal Judge I. M. Stainback to succeed Poindexter and the latter said he had no regrets on leaving the office. Samuel W. King, congressman from Hawaii, said today that Poindexter had "done a grand job for eight years."

The senate territories committee called a closed hearing for this afternoon on the nomination of Judge Stainback. The judge said he had no comment to make now on his appointment.

Interior Secretary Harold Ickes, who has jurisdiction over the division of territories and island possessions, praised the nomination of Judge Stainback. "I am confident that his selection will insure to the people of the territory the carrying forward of a civil administration amply able to meet the problems in this strategic war zone," Ickes said.

ADMITS BIG AIR ATTACKS TEACH NAZIS A LESSON

BERNE, Switzerland, July 24 (AP).—Paul Joseph Goebbels, German propaganda minister, asserts that intense bombings of such cities as Cologne and Bremen are teaching the German people what sacrifices are demanded by war. The German soldier, he said in an article published by the newspaper Das Reich, already appreciates the depth and extent of such sacrifices.

"A sense of the immensity of the national danger against which we must defend ourselves is growing with its proximity," he asserted. He said that until now the German people had felt the war on the home front relatively the least of all belligerents, except the Americans.

Soldiers, thousands of whom saw the western front and are now on the Russian and African battlefields "know perfectly well that losing the war would bring about collapse of our national life and annihilation of its material and in some degree its physical existence," Goebbels continued.

Reveals U. S. Will Build Second Air Base in Cuba

HAVANA, Cuba, July 24 (AP).—United States Ambassador Spruille Braden praised Cuba tonight for collaborating with the United States in the war effort and disclosed that both countries had agreed to establishment of a second aviation base in Cuba by the United States. Agreement for construction of the first base, an advanced air training field near Havana, was recently announced.

AUSTRALIANS SEE INDUSTRIAL BLOW IN PROFIT PLAN

Fear 4% Limit Means Nationalization.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, July 24.—The Labor government's proposal to limit profits to four per cent of shareholders' funds is regarded in some circles here as the opening wedge in an attempt to eliminate the profit motive and nationalize industry.

Opponents of the measure, which is said to have been sponsored by Prof. Copland, federal price commissioner, agree that all members of the community should make their maximum contribution to the war effort, but they feel that the four per cent limit would curtail further expansion of Australia's rapidly growing industries.

It was reported in Canberra today that as a result of opposition from business leaders and other quarters, the government will refer the legislation to a parliamentary committee representing all parties.

May Accept Amendments.

It was emphasized in government circles, however, that there is no intention of abandoning the profit limitation principle altho some amendments may be accepted.

The decision to hold the conference followed an attack on the plan by Arthur W. Fadden, former prime minister and leader of the federal opposition, who characterized it as "an attempt to steer a middle course between complete socialization and the principle of private ownership."

Fadden said that if the limitation did not prove of great aid to the war effort, it could only be regarded as a step toward nationalization of industry, which some ministers "had attempted to foist on the Australian public under the guise of war necessity."

Opponents of the move claim it would reduce the aggregate yield and place a premium on industrial inefficiency. They add that it would not permit building up reserves to provide employment for thousands of returned soldiers, nor could funds be laid by to provide for the change over to peacetime production.

Proposes Rebate.

It is said that Australia's recovery from the depression was the result of expansion of industry which, it is felt, might not be possible under a plan to hold profits at 4 per cent.

Federal Treasurer J. B. Chifley has recognized the importance of the profit motive as an industrial incentive by proposing to allow a 20 per cent rebate on profits above 4 per cent, but opponents say this isn't enough.

In the parliamentary committee to discuss the legislation critics of the program are expected to maintain that company profits should be dealt with by taxation of the ordinary kind, which could be drafted to provide a maximum yield. If the government insists on the principle of limiting profits, opponents will press for a rate which would make it possible to provide for postwar operations.

3 U. S. MARINES CITED FOR SAVING TORPEDO VICTIMS

LONDON, July 24 (AP). — Three American marines have been cited for heroism in helping rescue survivors, including United States marines and nurses, of the Dutch ship Maasdam, torpedoed and sunk in the Atlantic more than a year ago, it was disclosed here today.

The citations were awarded by the marine corps commandant in Washington, D. C., Sergt. Shelby O. Jones of Enon, La., Pvt. T. G. Collum of Springville, Ala., and Pvt. Herman W. Trail of Harlan county, Ky., all now attached to the American embassy here. Announcement of the awards appeared in the Stars and Stripes, the newspaper of American armed forces in the European theater.

Two of the 17 nurses traveling on the Maasdam who were bound for service with the Harvard field hospital in Britain were lost. They were Mrs. Ruth Breckenridge of Winston-Salem, N. C., and Miss Maxine C. Loomis of Springfield, Mass.

2 GERMAN PLANES SHOT DOWN BY U. S. NAVY FORCE

LONDON, July 24 (AP).—A United States naval task force, commanded by Rear Adm. Robert C. Giffen, destroyed two German planes and probably shot down two others for the first toll by American warships operating in European waters, an authoritative source reported tonight.

Giffen announced yesterday that the American force, in conjunction with the British home fleet, had been in action against enemy aircraft, describing the operations "just the usual thing."

YANK WARBIRDS EAGER TO DROP 'EGGS' ON NAZIS

Flying Fortress Air Field in Britain Described.

A UNITED STATES ARMY BOMBER STATION IN BRITAIN, July 24 [Wide World].—One of the youngest of the bombardment units of the American air force, led by a 27 year old former Mississippi State tackle, waits impatiently at this hidden airfield for orders to send its sleek flying fortresses over Germany on missions of destruction.

Young, smooth-faced pilots just out of ther teens, who not long ago were students, chemists, forest rangers, salesmen, and public accountants, now fly their four motored craft low over the countryside, familiarizing themselves with England.

In the ground crew, whose business it is to keep the planes fit for service aloft, are a former actor, jeweler, caddie, baseball player, snowsuit packer, candy maker, and coal miner.

All Americans Now.

There are men of Polish, Russian, Jugo-Slav, German, and Irish extraction, all Americans working side by side.

From quiet, good natured Capt. William B. Musselwhite of Jackson, Miss., commander, to the lowest private, there is intense pride in the unit and unshakable faith in the powerful B-17s.

"These ships can do everything but cook," is the way Second Lieut. Walter E. Kelly, 23, of Norristown, Pa., expresses it. "All we want is to get into action."

Names which pilots give their ships reflect the attitude of the men. There's a "Berlin Sleeper," a "Birmingham Blitzkrieg," and an "Alabana Exterminator."

Wants to "Get" Hitler.

Second Lieut. Francis Schwarzenbek, 23, of Nutley, N. J., would like to "drop a few eggs around Munich," where some of his relatives live. Second Lieut. Chester Myszewski, 26, of Milwaukee, Wis., who is of Polish descent, would "like to get that guy Hitler and twist his neck until both ends of his mustache meet."

Pilots and members of crews come from every section of the United States. There is Navigator and Second Lieut. James Dunn, 26, of Riverside, Cal., who used to work in the forestry service; a former public accountant, now Second Lieut. Paul Blaida, 23, of Downers Grove, Ill., and Second Lieut. George D. Burges, 25, Charleston, S. C., who used to be a chemist.

American engineers are busy erecting machine shops and other buildings, and expanding the field into a huge fortress base. It's a long way from place to place, and pilots and enlisted men stationed at the base use bicycles, provided by the British, to get from one part of the field to another.

U. S. FLYERS RAID BENGAZI, LIBYA, IN BURNING PLANE

LONDON, July 24 (AP).—First Lieut. Walter Clark of Lincolnton, N. C., and Louis Prchal of Omaha, Neb., were credited by the British air ministry news service today with bombing Bengazi, Libya, by daylight and returning safely despite the fact that their big American bomber was on fire and had one dead motor before they reached the target city.

Clark, the air ministry said, nursed the plane on toward Bengazi while Prchal scrambled along the smoke-filled catwalk amid the bombs to subdue the flames with cushions and a fire extinguisher. The rear gunner, intent on his lookout job, did not know there was a fire until Prchal opened the turret to see if he was alive.

Despite having one engine inoperative, Clark "made a perfect bombing run and saw smoke and flames leap up from a large enemy ship in the harbor on which the bomber scored a direct hit," said the air ministry.

BRITAIN TO LIFT SALES TAX FROM UTILITY CLOTHING

LONDON, July 25 [Saturday] (AP).—The British public will benefit by cheaper clothing, shoes, and household textiles under a new series of board of trade orders fixing price ceilings and profit margins.

The board announced today that the new ceilings were possible because of the removal of a purchase tax on standard utility clothing which had been in effect since October, 1940. The tax will be removed Aug. 3. Prices will drop the full amount of the tax, 10 to 12 per cent.

The prices of nonutility clothing were stabilized June 30 with profit margins somewhat higher than on utility goods. Under the lower price ceiling, the top price on utility men's suits, previously $19.45, will be $17.80. Overcoats, formerly $10.90, will be $10.05. Women's utility coats on which the old ceiling price was $16.80 will sell for $16. Women's costumes which sold for $14.80 will have a top price of $14.15.

AUSTRALIA PLANS TO STEP UP PAY OF SERVICE MEN

CANBERRA, Australia, July 24.—Prime Minister Curtin announced today that the government has decided to step up the pay of service men in the budget to be introduced in September. The increase was expected to consist of additional allowances for dependents. The government's decision was said to be influenced by the fact that for the first time in Australian history, married men with children are being conscripted.

Scientist Says Nazis Seek Russian Manganese Supply

LONDON, July 24 (AP).—The shortage of manganese which threatened disaster to Germany's munition supplies was a principal reason why the Nazis invaded Russia, Sir Thomas Holland, head of the University of Edinburgh, said tonight. Germany needs this metal to harden steel more than she needs oil, Sir Thomas told the British Association Conference on Mineral Resources and the Atlantic Charter.

DATA ON WEAKNESS OF COAST DEFENSES GIVEN TO SENATE

Sen. R. C. Holman.

Portland, Ore., July 24 [Special].—Sen. Rufus C. Holman [R., Ore.], who earlier in the week described Pacific coast defenses as "criminally obsolete," disclosed today that he had made an investigation of the matter and had reported his findings to Sen. Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], chairman of the senate military affairs committee.

"I believe it is partly due to my observations and revelations," Sen. Holman said, "that a subcommittee of the military affairs committee soon is to visit Alaska as well as the coastline of the northwestern states.

"I shall insist that this subcommittee remain in this territory until it has visited the coast as I have visited it and I will insist on precautions that will protect my fellow citizens."

Holman is a member of the special senate subcommittee appointed to investigate the west coast and Alaska defenses. He reiterated his previously reported statement that Pacific coast defenses, in addition to being obsolete, are "woefully inadequate and poorly distributed," but would not amplify his charges in detail.

FINNS HINT NEED OF U. S. HELP TO DROP OUT OF WAR

Believe Fear of Reds Rules Policy.

New York, July 24 (AP).—Finland gave world-wide currency today to a suggestion that the United States might help extricate her from her position as an ally of Germany and as a possible sacrifice to soviet Russia in the event of a united nations victory.

Some sort of postwar guarantee from the United States appeared to be the price—and much was made of the point that, for six months, Finnish forces have sought only to maintain their lines against the Red army, without making any aggressive moves.

Follow Devious Course.

As is the way with such feelers, the manner of publication was complicated. First, the idea appeared in an editorial in the Stockholm newspaper, Dagens Nyheter. Then it was given wide front page republication in the Finnish press. Lastly, the essentials of the editorial were broadcast to the world by the official Finnish radio, with comments and explanatory remarks of its own.

That editorial, as broadcast from Helsingfors, said it was urgently important that the United States give more exact information than hitherto about her aims for the protection of small democracies such as Finland from a bolshevik-dictated peace.

Seek More Information.

If the United States could give Finland more exact information on allied political aims after the war, the Finns would gain greater confidence, it continued. There was no specific suggestion that in such a case Finland would drop her rôle as Germany's confederate in the fight against Russia.

The editorial added significantly, however, that during the last half-year the Finnish-Russian front has been relatively fixed—"not a matter of a truce, but of standing guard."

Dagens Nyheter was quoted as saying that this stationary condition on the front was the best evidence that "the Finnish government and army are trying to avoid worse complications in the political sphere."

RULE INFANT'S DEATH ACCIDENTAL.

LONDON LEARNS YANK VERSION OF 'THE FLEET'S IN'

British Fete U. S. Sailors on Leave in Capital.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 24.—The American fleet is in town. Hundreds of sailors and marines from Rear Adm. Robert C. Griffen's task force operating with the British home fleet in northern waters, were loose in London, many enjoying their first leave in more than a year.

Since early this morning they have been seeing the sights and sampling the movies, theaters, restaurants, pubs, clubs, dances, and the overwhelming British hospitality. Adm. Griffen himself visited Buckingham palace, where he conferred with King George VI.

Newspapers sent their prettiest girl reporters traveling around with the boys in taxis, recording their views on British girls, British beer, and London's historic buildings.

Pictures Spatter Press.

Tonight's editions were spattered with pictures of white capped sailors smoking cigars, laughing and joking with WAAF's [members of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force], or consulting London bobbies.

Immediately after their special trains reached London, the sailors got a list of instructions. The guide cautions them to "remember you are representatives of the United States navy and the United States people. Do not allow yourselves to become the basis for unfavorable comparisons. The English people admire you and trust you. As men of the United States navy you must act with discretion and common sense at all times."

The catalog of don'ts is crisp and succinct: "Don't boast or draw comparisons with things at home or elsewhere; don't argue, talk shop, or discuss your ships or trips, and don't forget the blackout."

The guide also reminds the sailors that the "austerity ration is in effect in England," that the variety of food is limited, and that "they don't ice their beer over here, so please—no comments."

Housed in Clubs, Hotels.

Special arrangements were made so that all the men would be housed in clubs and hotels where the prices of bed and breakfast are nominal.

Three dances were arranged by the American Red Cross and the English Speaking union for the officers and men, all promising "plenty of partners will be provided."

This pledge was more than borne out, the Tribune correspondent verified tonight, when he called at the Washington club [for Yank service men] to see how the sailors were faring. In a converted dining room a swing band was going full blast and the floor was crowded with couples. Girls well known in London social life, as well as a dozen WREN'S [members of the Women's Royal Naval Reserve], were partners of the sailors. All seemed to tbe having a high time. The only complaint the Tribune correspondent heard concerned with the scarcity of girl jitterbugs.

Evidently taking their instructions to heart, the American sailors had nothing but praise for their reception here. Typical of comments reported in Saturday morning's London papers are:

"The English girls are fine."

"They don't have to ice this beer. Boy, it's good."

One reporter who asked a sailor about his navy experiences wrote: "The United States navy is a silent service—and how!"

BRITISH BOMBERS AGAIN RAID RUHR, RHINELAND AREAS

LONDON, July 24 (AP).—Two-ton bombs were sent crashing into the industrial Ruhr and Rhineland last night by a British bomber force "several times larger" than the estimated 40 Nazi planes which were raiding England about the same time, the air ministry said tonight. Duisburg was one target, while other planes attacked airdromes in the Low Countries and bombed railways. Seven British bombers were missing but three enemy craft were destroyed.

The raid on England, the heaviest in weeks, cost the Germans seven bombers. Five were downed by a squadron led by Wing Comm. Max Aitken, son of Lord Beaverbrook, former cabinet minister. The Nazis scattered bombs along the east coast, over the eastern Midlands, and farther west. The Germans said Bedford, an industrial town 40 miles north of London, was one of their targets. A German plane killed several persons on the east coast of England this afternoon.

British fighter pilots made six daylight sweeps over occupied France, raiding rail and river supply lines. A large factory near Abbeville was raked with cannon fire and an explosion followed, the air ministry said.

GEN. MAHIN AND 2 FLYERS KILLED AS PLANE HITS TREE

Army Observation Ship Crashes in Tennessee.

Waynesboro, Tenn., July 24 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Frank C. Mahin, commanding officer of the 33d division at Camp Forrest, Tenn., and two army flyers were killed near here today in the crash of their army observation plane.

Maj. Gen. F. C. Mahin.

Mrs. Walter Brewer, wife of the Wayne county sheriff, said the plane struck a tree five miles west of here, but did not burn.

An army official at the Tullahoma [Tenn.] air base, who declined use of his name, said the ship was en route from Tullahoma to Fort Sill, Okla.

He identified the others who were killed as Second Lieut. Robert F. Turk of Wichita, Kas., and Sergt. John Camerford of Alamo, Tex., both attached to the 127th observation squadron at Tullahoma. Bodies of the three and the wreckage were taken to Tullahoma, pending final inquiry Monday.

Veteran of World War.

Gen. Mahin, who was 55 years old and was a veteran of the World war, took command of the 33d [Illinois] division at Camp Forrest, Tenn., in May.

Before the appointment he had been assistant commander of the 45th division, Camp Barkley, Tex. He was born in Clinton, Ia., the son of Frank W. Mahin, a retired United States consular official.

He received his early education in England and was graduated from Harvard university in 1909.

He joined the regular army in 1910 after service in the New York National Guard. Two years later he received his first commission and became a major in France in 1918. He was wounded at St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne.

Graduate of War College.

Resuming his formal military studies after the war, Mahin was a "distinguished graduate" of the command and general staff school in 1925. He was graduated from the war college in 1929.

He was placed in command of the 3d infantry in 1937 and in August, 1940, organized the 60th infantry, commanding it until October, 1941, when he was promoted to brigadier general. He became a major general after assuming command at Camp Forrest.

Mahin was married and father of three married daughters.

Kewanee Flyer Killed.

Lynchburg, Va., July 24 (AP).—Two army flyers, identified as Capt. Harold C. Smith and Second Lieut. Russell W. Wetzel, were killed today when their plane crashed and burned in a field south of here.

Officials at Bolling field said Wetzel, 23 years old, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Wetzel, 621 Florence street, Kewanee, Ill. He was unmarried. Smith, 31, formerly lived at Norwood, Pa.

CIO PICKETS TWO STEEL PLANTS; WLB WATCHES

An observer from the War Labor board was present last night as the United Steel Workers of America [CIO] maintained a picketing line at the entrances of the Inland Steel company's two plants in East Chicago.

Workers were stopped and asked to show their union cards. No one was barred from going to work. No one was jostled or otherwise molested. A company spokesman said this "good behavior" was apparently inspired by the presence of the WLB observer, and in contrast to picketing last Thursday when several workers were roughed up. The company protested to the WLB and the observer was sent as a result.

A WLB ruling at that time ordered the company to include a union membership maintenance clause and a checkoff clause in its contracts, and set Aug. 1 as the date for determining the number of union men employed. Last night's picket line was ordered, the company said, for the purpose of spurring nonunion men to join the CIO before Aug. 1.

NAZIS, BRITISH O. K. SHIPPING OF FOOD TO GREECE

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—André Michalopoulos, Greek minister of information, reported today that Germany and Britain had granted guarantees of safe conduct for shipment of 15,000 tons of Canadian wheat monthly to Greece.

The first shipment will leave a Canadian east coast port soon, Michalopoulos said, and the continuing shipments, gifts of the Canadian government, "will relieve Greece's situation greatly." Starvation deaths in Athens alone in March were 500 a day, he told a press conference.

The minister, who flew from London last week to set up a Greek information office in Washington, reported that 3,500 British army regulars still were fighting with Greek forces in the conquered kingdom. Fifteen hundred of that number are in Crete, he said, where Greek resistance is most violent and where the Nazis actually hold only "a narrow strip around the coast."

BLUSHING WIFE CONFESSES SPY YARN WAS HOAX

Jealousy of Husband Inspired Plot.

Mary Phillips, 20 years old, a bride of a few weeks, admitted last night, agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said, that her story of spies following her to her apartment, demanding her young husband's war-worker badge, tying her hand and foot and beating her when she couldn't produce the badge, was a hoax to retain the love and attention of her husband, William.

She made the admission after two days of questioning, according to Albert H. Johnson, chief of the FBI in Chicago. She held out stanchly, Johnson said, until she had again and again contradicted herself. When she was confronted with the fact that her own handwriting had been discovered on notes left by the supposed spies, she gave in.

Thought Love Had Flown.

"All right!" she said then, "I might as well admit it. It's all a hoax. But I couldn't help it. I feared I'd lost his love and I felt this was the way to win it back.

"Ever since my husband got the defense job," she continued, "it seemed to me he was paying more attention to this work than to me. I had been his chief thought. I began to think the war work had replaced me in his interest. I was jealous of his work."

Then, she said, she thought of the spy hoax. "I didn't get it out of the movies and I didn't get it out of any book. The idea just came to me that if I could make Will think I had been visited by spies he would love me again."

A Neat Job of Trussing.

So pretty Mrs. Phillips said she spent most of last Tuesday afternoon, tying herself up. She stuffed a cloth into her mouth. But she had great trouble after tying up her feet to get the rope 'round her arms and hands in a realistic manner. She finished, she said, about 20 minutes before William Phillips came home to their third floor apartment at 4801 Winthrop avenue.

Phillips took his wife with him to the Summerdale police station and reported the matter. She told how two men had followed her up the stairway, pushed her into the apartment and demanded Phillips' war-worker badge. The police turned the couple over to the FBI.

Well, It Seemed to Work.

"We thought from the beginning that her story was far-fetched," said Johnson, "but, if true, it was vitally important. We investigated every angle."

"What about her husband?" Johnson was asked. "Did he forgive her?"

"They left here arm in arm," Johnson said.

FRIENDS HOLD RECEPTION FOR FIGHTING PARSON

Nine hundred persons from Maywood and Melrose Park last night gave a patriotic welcome reception to the Rev. Paul Frillman, chaplain of the American Volunteer Group [Flying Tigers], who returned early this week for a brief visit to his boyhood home in the latter village. The reception was held in the flag decked parish house of St. Paul's [Missouri synod] Lutheran church, Lake and 11th streets, Melrose Park, where "the fighting parson" entered the ministry.

Among those taking part in the reception were Andrew Frenzel, president of the village, Col. Robert Wigglesworth, chief of police, County Commissioner William Busse, and The Rev. Paul H. Kluender, pastor of St. Paul's church. Julius Frillman, 118 North 17th street, Melrose Park, the chaplain's father, and several of his brothers were present. Pastor Kluender praised Chaplain Frillman's service to church and nation as being in line with "the Christian duty to render every possible service to his country." Chaplain Frillman spoke briefly. He announced his early return to China to become a member of the United States general staff there where he will be interpreter and liaison officer.

The Inquiring Camera Girl — BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[THE TRIBUNE will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by THE TRIBUNE. Today's question was submitted by Mary Grace Palumbo, 924 1st avenue, N. W., Cedar Rapids, Ia.]

THE QUESTION.

Have you ever been sorry that you "counted your chickens before they were hatched"?

WHERE ASKED.

Congress street and Michigan avenue.

THE ANSWERS.

Richard Caplan, art director, 1439 Albion avenue—There was going to be a volley ball game that night and I was sure I was coming home with the trophy. I promised it to my son and what a time I had with him when I tried to offer him a dime store trophy.

Dick Bates, layout artist, 835 Agatite avenue—I not only counted the chickens before they were hatched, but I sold them too. I took a whole roll of pictures of everybody on the picnic. Then they all paid me in advance for the pictures they wanted. I wasn't the professional I thought I was, for it was a roll of blank negatives.

William McVay, fountain clerk, 1711 East 85th street—Two of us went on a fishing trip to Minnesota. The only food we took was butter for frying the fish we were going to catch. They weren't biting that night and the first food we tasted was in town late the next day.

Joyce Ballantyne, illustrator, 729 Cornelia avenue—When I was given the job of painting the huge mural, I went right out and promised the car dealer a cash down payment on the strength of that job. Wages weren't discussed until too late. At least I was paid enough to cover the cost of materials.

Ruth Baar, layout artist, 628 South Austin avenue, Oak Park—Our class was having a reunion after several years and I remembered one of the girls was having a birthday on that day. I organized a birthday surprise party, complete with gifts and a special cake and everything except the guest.

James McMenamy, cartoonist, 1447 North Dearborn street—I signed a contract to deliver a certain number of squabs to the hotel that season and counted the pigeon eggs in terms of squabs. I spent the profit I thought I'd be making and then had to buy squabs from some one else—at a loss—to fill the contract.

CHUTE LANDING REPORTS FALSE, ARMY ASSERTS

Baltimore, Md., July 24 (AP).—The 3d service command said today it had investigated reports of parachute landings in this region yesterday and had found no substantiation for any of the reports.

It was announced rumors reached the 3d service command today, and army officials urged citizens to make careful investigation before reporting "suspicious happenings." They asked the public to avoid a "war of nerves" by refraining from spreading rumors.

The officers said parachute landings were reported at Ellicott City, Salisbury, and near Fort Meade in Maryland, on Chincoteague Island in Virginia, and in the Capitol Heights section of Washington.

EVEN WAAC HEAD, IT APPEARS, HAS FEMININE LAPSES

Loss of Rail Ticket Flusters Her.

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

Trig and efficient looking in her cotton twill summer uniform, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, the pretty gray-haired director of the new women's army auxiliary corps, stepped from a Rock Island train in the La Salle street station yesterday after arriving from the officers' training camp at Des Moines, Ia.

She smiled graciously at reporters and photographers, glanced briskly at her wrist watch and announced in businesslike tones that she had no time to spare for interviews. But she had interviews, plenty of them—with trainmen and railroad officials. She had lost her railroad ticket to Washington, D. C.

She strode into the depot followed by newspaper men and women and spectators, opened her official, cotton twill kit to hand her ticket to her secretary, and then suddenly became just a flustered looking woman.

Rummages in Her Case.

"I thought I had my ticket here," she explained with a worried frown. "If I lost it, it's typical of me." Rummaging in the dispatch case, she disclosed such feminine items as a compact, handkerchiefs, and two packages of cigarets.

"Yes, the girls are taking to officers' training at Des Moines excellently," she responded in a preoccupied manner, still spilling contents from the kit. "They even drill themselves on their leisure time and are a week ahead of schedule.

"Yes, yes, they get up on time. In fact, if one girl is sleepy the others pull her out of bed and get her into her uniform. Now where is that ticket?"

Relieved of her search for a moment while Miss Theodora Smith, her secretary, and a contingent of railroad men went back to hunt for the ticket in the train, Mrs. Hobby answered a few questions.

Praises Girls at Camp.

"I hope the war won't last long enough so that we will need another officers' training camp," she said. "However, continual officers training will be held at Des Moines. The girls now at camp are of a high intellectual level. Ninety per cent are college graduates and most of them have advanced degrees. They are very enthusiastic and all of them are in uniform now."

Just them the searchers returned without having found the all important ticket. Pushing her peaked cap with its dignified eagle emblem back on her forehead, Mrs. Hobby really went to work on her kit. She took over a desk in the station master's office and the treasure hunt was on again.

The Kit She Left Behind.

"Well, I'm late for my appointment now," she announced after 20 minutes. "Theodora, see what you can do about fixing up the ticket, will you?" She smiled again, somewhat weakly, started for one door in the depot and her secretary for another. As she reached the street, a shout caused her to turn around.

It was the switchboard operator from the office somewhat out of breath. "Here Mrs. Hobby," the girl explained. "You forgot your kit. You left it in the office."

FREE ECONOMY DEFINES LIBERTY, EDITOR ASSERTS

If America wishes to remain true to its ideals, it must have economic liberty as well as political liberty after the war, John Temple Graves II, author, lecturer, and editor of the Birmingham, Ala., News, said yesterday at a luncheon of the Executives Club of Chicago in the Hotel Sherman.

"Government interference and control of business is necessary during an emergency but it is the very thing we are fighting and we will not endure it after the war," he emphasized.

He pointed out that the present governments of Russia, Italy, Germany, France, and Japan do not believe in the philosophy that "liberty and ham and eggs can both be had in this world."

4 CHICAGOLAND STATES TO AID SOLDIER VOTING

Indiana Law to Bar Some Unless U. S. Acts.

Illinois and three other Chicagoland states—Wisconsin, Iowa, and Michigan—were preparing yesterday to facilitate absentee voting in the November election by members of the armed forces stationed in the continental limits of the United States and Alaska. No immediate move of this kind was contemplated in Indiana, altho Indiana, as all other states, must comply if a bill passed Thursday by the house of representatives in Washington becomes federal law.

Edward J. Hughes, secretary of state, said Illinois already has taken all steps to allow absentee voting by its men and women in service without their being enrolled under the state's permanent registration law.

How Illinois Law Works.

The present Illinois law works as follows: Application form for an absentee ballot must be obtained from the county clerk of the voter's home county or the chief clerk of the election commission if the voter's residence is in a city having a commission. Last day for filing such application is Oct. 29. After the application is filled out, it must be returned to the election official who then forwards a ballot. Service men may mark ballots in the presence of a superior officer who certifies to its validity; the ballots do not require a notary seal. The marked ballot must be in the hands of the election official by election day, Nov. 3.

In Wisconsin Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman said every effort will be made to aid service men in voting, particularly those who never voted before because they were under age.

"We are going to ask all army, navy, and marine camp newspapers to print notices reminding Wisconsin men of their right to the ballot," Zimmerman said. "We will suggest they write to their county clerks or my office asking for applications. Under present law, such application forms must be sent out 21 days before the election. The affidavit of a superior officer is sufficient to authenticate the marked ballot."

Iowa Pledges Coöperation.

Attorney General John M. Rankin of Iowa promised that state's fullest coöperation.

"The service man must apply to his county auditor," Rankin said, "and will be sent an application form along with a ballot if the request is received 20 days before election. If he is not already registered in his home city, he will be registered when we receive the application and ballot. Any member of the service man's family can also request that the application and ballot be sent to the man at camp."

Michigan men in service can register by mailing affidavits of their age and residence, James F. Shepherd, chief assistant attorney general, explained. Applications for absentee ballots can be sent at any time provided there is a long enough period for the marked ballot to be received by election day.

Indiana's present law states that a person must have voted in at least one of the last three general elections to be eligible to cast another ballot or else have registered in person in his home county 30 days before the coming election. Unless superseded by the federal measure it would have the effect of disfranchising Indiana fighting men who were under voting age before they left home.

FLYNN INDORSES SEN. MEAD FOR N.Y. NOMINATION

New York, July 24 [Special].—Edward J. [Paving Blocks] Flynn, national Democratic chairman and Bronx county leader, announced formally today his indorsement of Sen. James M. Mead for the Democratic nomination for governor, aligning himself with President Roosevelt and a group of New Dealers in opposition to James A. Farley, the state chairman. Farley is managing the preconvention campaign of Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr. of Brooklyn.

Flynn's decision was made public after a meeting of the Democratic state committee at which it was decided to hold this year's convention beginning Aug. 19, the first day on which it may legally be held, in Brooklyn. The choice of Brooklyn was made by Farley some days ago with a view of assuring the Bennett forces of a favorable atmosphere.

Flynn's announcement had been expected momentarily since Sen. Mead "yielded" to New Deal pressure and announced himself a candidate after the Farley forces had secured pledges of support for Bennett from almost two-thirds of the prospective delegates to the convention.

SUSPECT SHOT BY POLICE FACES QUIZ ON KILLING

A bandit suspect shot by Elmwood Park police was being investigated by Oak Park authorities last night in connection with the slaying of Jefferson T. Omara, Chicago and Oak Park real estate broker, during a holdup July 3.

The suspect is Paul Cappitelli, 20 years old, 2308 North Austin avenue, who was shot in the ankle early yesterday by Policeman Edward Larson of Elmwood Park. Larson said that he fired at Cappitelli when the latter attempted to escape questioning about a gas station robbery. Cappitelli's companion, identified by police as Frank La Nasa, 20, of 2163 North Mead avenue, is still at large.

Omara was killed by one of two gunmen who attempted to rob him and his wife, Berdina, as they were leaving the garage connected with their apartment at 231 Clinton avenue, Oak Park. The village police said they would question Cappitelli, who was taken to the Bridewell hospital after being shot, to determine if he knew anything about the killing.

WOMAN FALLS DEAD ON STREET.

Mrs. Fanny Janow, 69 years old, 5304 University avenue, a widow, died of a heart attack yesterday in front of 5307 Ellis avenue.

WE'RE GOING BACK TO BATAAN!

HOW NOT TO WIN THE WARS.

The United States, the richest nation in the world, the most abundantly endowed, is at war with two of the most powerful nations which are, however strange the contradiction may seem, among the poorest of peoples.

Germany and Japan have satellites and subject nations, including Italy, most of them poorer than their slave drivers. The United States joined allies which at one time were next in wealth, actual and potential, to this republic. Russia is magnificently endowed. For two centuries London finance and British imperial resources tipped the scales in every conflict in which England was engaged, except only that with the American colonies.

Germany, now slashing thru the ripening wheat fields which were to feed Russia this winter, storming at the gateway to the oil of the Caucasus, threatening the Volga lifeline and the separation of Russian armies each from the others and from their supplies, presents more than an exhibit of a slave state under competent military command—more than an enlarged Sparta with helots, an aphidlike middle class, and a warrior caste.

That combination alone would not have enabled the Nazis to carry on nearly three years of war with a never ending stream of supplies and fighting machines, to have conquered nearly all of Europe, to have thrust twice deeply into the vitals of Russia, to have maintained a grave threat to Egypt and the middle east while conducting a submarine campaign destructive to our shipping in our own intimate waters, and holding western Europe with lines which the United States and Great Britain do not feel competent to crack because of lack of man power and material.

These are hard facts, but they are not to be blinked away. The overrunning of southeastern Asia was accomplished in three months. Japan was a powerful but poor country. It now has the wealth of the European colonial empires. Alarmed observers fear that the war in Russia may be lost in the next 30 days and the war for Egypt shortly thereafter. Why? Well, for one reason because even now in the capital of the most richly endowed country in the world—starting with sufficiency in most of the 20 war essential materials—production officials and congressional committees are wrangling over rubber shortage, the use of gasoline, the rationing of steel, the collection of scrap, the transportation potential, and the scarcity of materials which should be abundant. Meanwhile the conduct of the war proceeds in shifting scenes of White House chats, conferences, and councils from which every one comes away happy just about 10 hours before the impact of some new and most unhappy event.

When Hitler's wars began to outline themselves in his crystal gazing imagination Germany was impoverished. Of the 20 essential war materials the Nazis had a sufficiency in only two—coal and zinc—and a total lack of many. Their fiscal system had broken down their credit, their reserves abroad were limited, and their barter system did not help them much in gathering stock piles.

When Hitler started to rearm he had fanatical audacity; a perverted genius for deception, for mendacity, and bad faith; a head that was sometimes cool and crafty, at other times delirious and fantastic; a gift of sadistic cruelty, and a magnetic charm to which only Germans were susceptible. This strange peculiarity of the German people has impressed the rest of the world and will be taken into account when accounts are settled. What Hitler did not have were the essential raw materials for the wars upon which he was about to embark.

His reoccupation of the Rhineland in March, 1936, was a tentative adventure. If the French marched against him his troops were to withdraw. The French, lacking British approval, hesitated and were lost. It is still doubted that the Nazis could have stopped the French army short of Berlin or prevented their banishment from the reich and its government.

Three years later Germany was ready for the conquest of Europe. The Nazi controled chemists, technicians, and industrialists had made an impoverished country war-powerful. It had synthetic rubber, gasoline from coal, sufficient steel and alloys, and full magazines of materials for great armies ready with proof to astound a skeptical world. Hitler has never had to be reminded that he was too late with too little in any theater of war.

Only in a declaratory sense did the United States go to war after Dec. 7, 1941. Mr. Roosevelt, having praised the peace uses of money at the Bonneville dam in September, 1937, threw down the gage of battle to Hitler, Mussolini, and Japan the following month in Chicago. Dec. 7 was a day of strange events and unexpected omens only to Americans who had done no reasoning from the premises given them and from the admonitions officially voiced for over five years. And war preparations had been actively in progress for at least two years. People will remember Mr. Roosevelt's Sunday chat of May 26, 1940, in which he astounded the country by his recital of military preparations—for defense. Later it was noted that the phrase "on hand or on order" might cover a multitude of nondeliveries. Nevertheless, it was a powerful military nation as described by Mr. Roosevelt.

Two days later a defense staff was appointed with Edward R. Stettinius in charge of war materials and William S. Knudsen in charge of industrial production. All this was more than two years ago and, altho we have seen some of the converted private industries performing miracles, we find in Washington a scene of confusion out of which war strategy and war production are supposed to emerge victoriously. They don't and they won't. We can't defeat the Nazis by borrowing their vices and failing to equal their military wisdom. By our standards they are still poor. When do we get going against our enemies? We can't wait forever.

MR. HULL'S SPEECH.

Secretary of State Hull's speech on the radio on Thursday evening contained a recapitulation of why we are at war and the broad outline of an organization of international political and economic relations to be established after victory has been achieved. Mr. Hull's speech was broadcast in 11 languages to all corners of the world. His aim, presumably, was to influence public opinion everywhere, but particularly in neutral and enemy countries.

The success of his effort cannot yet be appraised. We must await events to see what effect his words may have had on German, Japanese, and Italian thought and action as well as upon public opinion in the neutral countries. Even now, however, it cannot be doubted that Mr. Hull made a most impressive showing of our determination to win the war, our willingness and ability to assist the victims of the war to get back on their feet, and our desire to live and let live. The message must have done much to revive the spirits of any in the invaded countries who have been yielding to despair and to discourage the neutrals from giving any support to the axis. The neutrals have nothing to fear from our victory but, as Mr. Hull showed them, a Hitler dominated world will reduce them to slavery.

As to the postwar arrangements, Mr. Hull was concerned rather to state broad principles than to enter into details. He speaks, for example, of the establishment of an international court to settle disputes between nations but makes no mention of a body of law to guide such a court. A court without a law can be as irresponsible as it chooses. Before nations will trust their disputes to such an institution they will want to know the principles of law which the court must follow in adjudicating cases.

Similarly, a good many details remain to be filled in regarding postwar economics. Mr. Hull, as always, is opposed to excessive restrictions on international trade and in this he has the support of the great majority of Americans. It is in the application of the doctrine that the difficulties arise. Will the soviet government be obliged to give up its monopoly of import and export trade? Will the new China be given a free hand to write a tariff law? Will this country have to abandon its traditional protective policies and, in particular, will it have to give up its various schemes for the protection of agriculture?

Mr. Hull says "there may be need for some special trade arrangement and for international agreements to handle difficult surplus problems and to meet situations in special areas." That formula might cover our wheat and cotton problems, but if it does that it may cover also a great many other artificial restraints on prices and the movement of goods in international commerce, including, for example, such restraints as were imposed by the rubber cartel. What circumstances will warrant special treatment?

In this connection it is worth noting that when Mr. Hull quoted the Atlantic Charter on equality of access to raw materials by victors and vanquished alike he omitted the qualifying phrase, "with due respect for their existing obligations." Perhaps the omission was significant.

The speech raises many such questions. They are mentioned here only to emphasize the point that Mr. Hull's address can be regarded only as a preliminary sketch containing few more details than can be found in the Atlantic Charter. A great deal of work in the drafting room will be required before the carpenters can start building a new house for the peoples of the world.

WISCONSIN HOLDS OUT.

It is only two months since all 48 states entered a voluntary agreement to adopt uniform truck standards and reciprocal licensing in order to facilitate the movement of war materials, but already there are indications that some states are trying to hedge in order to take a selfish advantage. The Illinois Motor Truck Operators' association charges that Wisconsin, for example, is continuing to exact exorbitant license fees from out of state truckers.

Wisconsin trucks are hauling loads into Illinois, Iowa, and adjacent states without being required to buy extra licenses, but Wisconsin is accused of demanding that any trucks from those states which enter its boundaries buy Wisconsin licenses. The fees may run in excess of $700 a truck and are collected in clear violation of the agreement made in Washington. The Wisconsin motor vehicle commissioner attempts to defend the practice by saying the fees are waived wherever a truckload of war material is moved on a government bill of lading. It is obvious that a truckload of steel taken from a mill to a Wisconsin shipyard making submarines is just as essential to the war effort as a truckload of machine guns, even tho the government may not have placed the order directly for the steel, but tho the truck carrying the guns will escape fees the truck loaded with steel will not.

The uniform trucking code and reciprocal licensing were intended to break down the system of tariffs and trade barriers that was Balkanizing the United States and hampering interstate commerce. The action was forced by war, but its benefits to peacetime trade were equally clear. The concessions under the new code must be mutual. The code will not stand up if some states carry out their pledge and others do not. If one state seeks selfish profit by penalizing its neighbors, the neighbors will demand that that state be made the object of similar discrimination.

This process has already started as a result of Wisconsin's action. Illinois truck operators are demanding that this state retaliate with similar levies. If Wisconsin is allowed to get away with its kind of highway robbery, the whole vicious system of discriminatory regulations that tied interstate trucking into knots will soon spring up again. The President's committee on federal-state coöperation in the war effort had better step into the situation quickly and bring Wisconsin into line.

MR. PEPYS DRAWS A PRIZE.

25th July—There came to my desk yesterday a package from my friend William Shaw, who is an old hand along the Boul Mich, and on opening I found a souvenir of the abandoned Auditorium which pleases me greatly. I had been moping and moaning about not getting some small object to remind me of that famous rendezvous for the life of the town, and no doubt Master Shaw heard of my low state of mind and decided to cheer me up. His choice of a souvenir was most happy.

This keepsake is a piece of silverware from the hotel's best old stock—a small serving plate for breakfast or luncheon orders. Stampings on the back double its historic interest, for it was first marked for the famous Kinsley's restaurant. When that place closed, the Auditorium must have purchased some of its supplies, for below "H. M. Kinsley's, 1885," the hotel has stamped its own mark. The Gorham company made it and marked it "silver soldered."

The plate, of a good design, bears signs of wear and tear, but is still a handsome object, fit for any buffet. Maybe I shall keep it as it is, and pretend that the knife-scratches were made by President Benjamin Harrison or Adelina Patti. Maybe I shall take it to a silversmith to be replated and restored to its ancient beauty.

I fancy it cost Master Shaw less than $1, but I would rather have this plate than the pipe organ for which Dr. Barnes paid $1,000. The very sight of this plate makes me hungry for a well-done chop or an omelette Alsacienne.

TRAIL MARKERS.

Somewhere on the coast of Haiti
There's a footprint on the sand—
And I left it there when walking
Sorta lazy-like and tanned.
And some day I'm going back
Just to step in that same track!

Somewhere deep in Puerto Rico
There's a smudge upon a wall—
And I left it there on purpose
So that some not distant fall
I could go back just to see
If that isle could really be!

Somewhere down in old Barbados
There's a mark upon a door—
And the question in my heart is,
Could it be ther any more?
And some day I hope to know
If the answer's "yes" or "no."

Somewhere in the Virgin Islands
There's a pebble on the beach—
And I hid this tiny pebble
Out of everybody's reach.
Now I ask, like Captain Kidd,
Is my treasure safely hid?

For these islands are my charms
That I wear on pleasure's chain—
And these islands are my words
Sung to tropical refrain.
But if the fates so order
That I never may return
To those coral dotted havens
Where the memories "bless and burn"
Then at least I'll have this comfort:
Far down in a Southern Sea
There are tantalizing trifles
That still bear a trace of me.

Among the Problems of War.

The gang on the loading platform had been having a tussle with a couple of airplane motors. Five men with rollers and crowbars had tugged, and grunted, and pushed for 15 minutes with little result.

Thru all the swearing and grunting, Old Mac had kept up a continuous, "I can't understand it. I just can't understand it." Somebody finally demanded just what the blankety-blank-blank it was that Old Mac couldn't understand.

"I can't figure out," puzzled Old Mac, "how the Sam Hill those planes ever get off the ground and fly 400 miles an hour when they're loaded down with a couple of these goldarned, blasted, blankety-blank contraptions five of us can't budge!"

Socrates—Then let the wives share in the toils of war and the defense of their country; only in the distribution of labors the lighter are to be assigned to the women, who are the weaker natures, but in other respects their duties are to be the same.

TO THE MASTER POETS.

As city dwellers, scourged by dust and heat,
Repair to mountain heights to slake their thirst,
To feed their famished souls, so we, fret-cursed,
Come to your founts to drink your wisdom sweet.
We weary of the drab and toilsome marts;
At eventide our spirits drag, forlorn;
Then what a boon to find your songs of morn,
Of buoyant hope! You lift our drooping hearts
From bitter thoughts to psalms of love and praise;
Cares fly away and trouble seeks its den,
While youth returns to fight our path again;
Our feet are set upon eternal ways.
Pure Keats, blithe Burns, and Shelley, morning star,
Desert us not, who still must travel far.

EXHAUSTION FROM NERVOUS STRAIN.

FATIGUE is a constant symptom with some, occasional with others. Naturally, too, it varies in degree. A few may be abysmally tired, scarcely able to lift a finger. Nevertheless, the call of duty demands that they carry on the tasks of the day.

There is no gainsaying the fact that those who engage in physical work are afflicted but rarely. Routinely, victims will be found among business and professional men and women. With many sufferers we can regard nervousness as the basic factor. When one is under tension there is a substantial amount of nervous strain. Wives must be included—particularly those who have numerous church, social, and civic activities.

As a rule a critical checkup will disclose nothing wrong. The blood will be found at par and the digestive tract normal. Thus all too many of these individuals are labeled neurotics or dismissed with the statement that "it is all in your head." We fail to realize that there may be ample cause for that "all gone" feeling.

S. Weir Mitchell, the distinguished physician-novelist of a generation ago, recognized the ailment accurately and advocated the doctrine that worn out nerves could be padded with fat. He put these people to bed, screened them from contacts with unpleasant things, fed them generously, and taught them how to relax. Either massage or light exercise was employed to keep the muscles in good tone. In consequence, the great majority recovered completely.

On discharge, he read each patient a lecture. He pointed out that bothersome episodes were bound to be depressing. He insisted, therefore, that they cultivate the ability to throw off inconsequential trifles and evaluate them at their true worth. Otherwise he prophesied a nervous breakdown. Since his time, physicians have learned that certain persons are unusually susceptible. While a few will thrive under punishment, others must admit their limitations. They can do just so much and no more.

My attention was called to this condition recently thru the experience of a most estimable lady whose husband was inordinately fond of house guests. After every week-end she was obliged to spend two or three days in bed restoring vitality. She finally visited her medical adviser and a careful examination revealed no physical abnormality—merely exhaustion.

With a better understanding of her capacity, all is now well. House guests appear once a month, not every five days. In the meantime she recharges her storage batteries so that she can function as a charming hostess as occasion demands. Furthermore, she has been instructed to take more out of door exercise, hardening her muscles in order to erect a bulwark against weariness.

But the same factors apply to those in all walks of life. Few of us realize the volume of energy which young mothers expend upon their progeny. As one philosophical homemaker put it, "Everything used to bother me. Now I find that I can disregard disagreeable happenings with ease and that my judgment is far better in consequence."

NAVY FILLED UP?

Evanston, Ill., July 22.—I have two sons. One has been serving in Uncle Sam's army for a year or more and is at present stationed in Australia. My other son had his heart set on being in the navy. The first part of April he enlisted in the navy, but was rejected because he had three teeth missing, when the regulations allowed only two teeth missing. However, on July 2 he received a letter notifying him that the restrictions had been changed and he was ordered to report to the federal building, which he did on July 4. He passed his physical examination and received a letter from the navy department on July 8 ordering him to report to Glenview on July 9.

When he reported at Glenview, he was told he would need his birth certificate, so he came back home to get it and returned to Glenview again on July 10. Here he filled out additional questionnaires and was given his rating of "seaman, first class" and was promised a place as musician in the band. He was then given a sealed letter to deliver to the federal building office, which he did that same afternoon. Here he was told that he would have to go to his draft board No. 3 in Evanston to get a release. When he appeared at the draft board No. 3, he was very curtly told that the navy had plenty of men but that the army was short-handed and that was where he would have to go, choice or no choice. He was sent to Fort Sheridan on July 11.

Is there any reason in the world why a young man can't be in the navy when he prefers it? Our President in one of his speeches said that a young man may enlist at any time in either the army or the navy up to the very day that he is drafted. I certainly don't think that my son got a square deal.

This procedure of being told that the navy has more men than it needs certainly does not fit in with the much publicized campaign of "10,000 navy recruits wanted per month."

SAM HEDBERG.

NOT THE PARENTS' FAULT.

Dixon, Ill., July 20.—A boy from our home is a dive bomber in Australia. He left this country last November and not until the last of April did he receive a letter, tho two were written each week from his home and more from friends. Letters from him, first received July 13, were of recent date. Where are the first letters mailed late last year and early this year—letters and gifts and cables?

It is not the family and friends of a soldier who are negligent nor who deserve cartoons calling their duty to attention.

VICIOUS DOGS.

Chicago, July 20.—The vicious attack of a bull terrier on a woman, related on your front page today, emphasizes that there is no reason in the world why people should be allowed to keep those monstrous beasts in an apartment in a city. I love pets, but let them be pets, not the beasts that some people deliberately raise to be vicious. That sort of thing should be stopped, when there are any number of children playing daily and when delivery men and workers must enter at the rear of buildings.

MARTIN KOVACS.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES TO NONE.

Wichita, Kas., July 21.—In the days of old to be able to say, "I am a Roman citizen," was the proudest of all boasts. It commanded respect everywhere. Afterwards this much envied man was made to lose his land and one by one his other rights of citizenship until today he has been reduced to the most pitiable status of subjection to dictatorship.

Until recently the proudest man in the world was he who could say, "I am an American citizen." But the status of his citizenship is also being gradually changed. Class legislation, class consciousness, and class hatred have been introduced for the first time. The citizen is being treated as an inferior, is pushed around like a pawn, as a ward of the nation. Various groups of citizens are referred to as "economic royalists," "parasites," "grasping landlords," certain classes being pitted against other classes by the government itself, with favor being given to union labor against employers, to renters against owners, to farmers against consumers, not only by pronouncements but by repeated legislative acts.

The cure for this is, of course, a sharp reversal of policy, with adherence to the democratic principle of "equal rights for all: special privileges to none."

RECEPTION AWAITING WILLKIE.

Wilmette, Ill., July 22.—Republican success must be effected in the coming fall elections or the inherent freedom of a republic thru the checks and balances possible only by a two party system will be submerged in the quicksand of New Deal totalitarianism.

It is rumored that Willkie, the eminent political chameleon, is to stump our state against C. Wayland Brooks, our one senator who respected the mandate of his constituency. Many of my neighbors join in the desire to show our colors and get going now, not only to reelect Sen. Brooks but to do so by such a great plurality that it will be a fitting rebuke to the insolent attempts at smears directed against this proved patriot.

FLYING THE FLAG AT NIGHT.

Chicago, July 21.—A. L. Reaum was misinformed when told that the "flag can fly 24 hours." When the flag should be flown by civilians is fully covered in Public Law 623, signed by President Roosevelt June 22, 1942.

"It is the universal custom to display the flag only from sunrise to sunset on buildings and on stationary flagstaffs in the open. However, the flag may be displayed at night upon special occasions when it is desired to produce a patriotic effect.

"The flag should not be displayed on days when the weather is inclement."

Oak Park, Ill., July 22.—While on furlough, my son noticed the cartoon by Mr. McCutcheon. "Yes," he said, "It is a touching picture, but why don't we receive the letters which are sent to us?"

I have sent him money on several occasions, glued to the letter. He never received it. He has sent pictures, which I never received. He is stationed in the United States so the mail is not censored.

28 YEAR GRUDGE AGAINST CHICAGO.

Wilmette, Ill., July 22.—Edward Page Gaston, the prohibitionist, has denounced Chicago as a "moral black spot." One of my friends met Mr. Gaston in the American embassy in Berlin in September, 1914, where he was supposed to be the expert luggage tracer for the American committee. He asked my friend where her luggage was to be sent if found. When she said Chicago, he sneered, then laughed and said, "Nothing to be proud of." That luggage was never forwarded.

RIGHT TO ESTATE.

Chicago, July 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. What is a "step-in"?

2. A woman who marries a widower with children is so designated. Thru thrift, etc., they accumulated enough to own a nice home and adjoining apartments [4]. His children are all married, have homes, and provision is also made for them in the will. Widow, being a "step-in" with no children, gets use of home and income from apartments for life, the upkeep to rest upon her care, etc., and she to maintain the home and live there as a resident.

Nothing she can call her own really because she is still a "step-in" after 42 years of devotion and thought and care and work—and still work and care in her later years, with ailing sight, etc. A son is administrator. All will finally go to them.

3. Man died a few years ago. This does not seem a fair deal.

D. A.

1. We have not previously encountered the usage that you suggest.

2. The way she is designated is immaterial. The important point is whether she entered into an ante-nuptial agreement. In absence of such an agreement, her husband could not deprive her of her statutory share.

3. We advise her to have a personal interview with an attorney.

RAPE TRIAL PUT OFF 13 TIMES; BOARD ASKS WHY

Takes Up Case of Grocer Named by Young Girls.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

The Chicago Crime commission, thru its operating director, Virgil Peterson, announced yesterday that a letter has been sent to State's Attorney Courtney asking the reason for the failure to dispose of a rape case pending in the Criminal courts since Nov. 19, 1941. The case was continued for the 13th time last Tuesday when it was put over to Sept. 9.

Adam Langer, 55 years old, 1969 North Halsted street, owner of a small neighborhood grocery, was indicted on four charges of statutory rape by the grand jury after it heard the stories of four girls ranging in age from 10 to 15 years. The state's attorney's files show that Langer made oral admission of guilt to Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Papanek after his arrest by the police.

Charge Five Months' Crimes.

The indictments against Langer charge that his crimes against the girls extended from June 15, 1941, until his arrest on Nov. 15. His first victim was a 15 year old girl, whom he took for an automobile ride to the west side and then attacked.

His second victim was a 14 year old girl. His third and fourth victims were sisters, 10 and 13 years old. They were allegedly lured by the grocer into a neighborhood basement and attacked.

First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley said that the state has always been ready for trial of the cases and has never asked for any of the continuances. The prosecutor's docket shows four of the continuances were at the request of the defendant, one by agreement of the prosecutor and defendants and the others just "continuances". Crowley said that several persons and organizations had requested a reinvestigation of the case, but that this fact had no influence on the prosecutor's office.

Defendant Free Under Bail.

When the grand jury indicted Langer, it fixed his bond at $5,000 in each case, or a total of $20,000. The bonds were reduced to $2,500 in each case almost immediately. He was released and is at liberty on bonds. He was tried on one case on Feb. 9, and after a short trial the jury disagreed. No effort has been made to try him since. The court record follows:

Indicted Nov. 19, 1941, on four charges; bond $5,000 in each case.

Nov. 21, 1941, plea of not guilty before Judge U. S. Schwartz; bond reduced to $2,500 in each case and on motion of defendant continued to Jan. 5, 1942.

Jan. 5 continued to Feb. 9 for trial.

Feb. 9 held on call before Judge Robert J. Dunne and continued to Feb. 13.

Feb. 13 continued to Feb. 17 before Judge U. S. Schwartz.

Feb. 17 continued to March 18 on motion of defendant.

March 18 continued to March 25.

March 25 continued to May 4 on motion of defendant.

May 4 continued to May 5 and held on call.

May 5 transferred to chief justice for reassignment to a new judge and sent to Judge Harold G. Ward for trial on June 15.

June 15 continued by agreement to July 13.

July 13 transferred again to chief justice for reassignment and sent to Judge Donald S. McKinlay and continued to July 21.

July 21 continued to Sept. 9 on the motion of defendant.

The police files disclosed that in 1939 an Adam Langer of the same address as the defendant in the rape cases was custodian of a hall in Clybourn avenue. A "gala night with free beer, sponsored by the 43d Ward Democratic club," was given in the hall. Ald. Mathias [Paddy] Bauler [43d], however, knew nothing of the affair and had it raided. A woman was found giving a dance with a snake for clothing.

DOUBLE FEATURE MOVIES TO END SOON—GOLDWYN

Samuel Goldwyn, Hollywood producer, yesterday forecast an early end of double feature movies in an interview on W-G-N. Goldwyn said that twin bills in movie houses have taken up much of the time that should have been devoted to war subjects.

"I look for the end of double feature films in the near future," the producer told John Holbrook, W-G-N commentator, "and for the showing of films that will tell the public how they can best help the government carry on the war to a successful conclusion."

Hollywood, he continued, is at work now preparing special war films.

Goldwyn said that if the government had not requested that Hollywood go right on making entertainment pictures during wartime, there would be no motion picture industry today.

Goldwyn cautioned against movies that merely poke fun at the axis.

"There is nothing very funny about the Nazis, the Japs, or even Italy today," he said. "Up to now they've done pretty well and laughing at them isn't going to beat them. Our job is to mobilize America fully behind the victory effort of the United States. We can laugh at the axis when this business is over."

U. S. Continues Bankruptcy Case; Attorney Accused

United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday granted a continuance to Aug. 10 to Jay I. Rosenberg, 34 years old, an attorney charged with making a false affidavit in a bankruptcy case. Rosenberg, arrested yesterday by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents in his home at 2227 Farwell avenue, was released after posting a $1,000 bond. Francis J. McGreal, assistant United States attorney, claimed Rosenberg had said under oath that he had no financial interest in a bankruptcy case involving a building at 1619 South Komensky avenue, but actually had a $29,000 interest.

Cruelty on the Tee

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MRS. MARIE CRAMER.

One of the acts of cruelty upon which Mrs. Marie Cramer, 25 years old, 5433 Winthrop avenue, yesterday won a divorce in Judge Walter La Buy's circuit court, occurred on a golf course, she testified. Her husband, Maurice, 40, is a mercantile broker with offices in the Merchandise Mart and an income of $15,000 a year.

"My husband was preparing to drive off the seventh tee," Mrs. Cramer told the court. "I was talking and he whiffed. He blamed the whiff on my conversation and grew very angry. First thing I knew he swung the club at me."

Mrs. Cramer was awarded the custody of their son, David, 6, $100 a month alimony and the rent of her apartment.

CHANUTE AIRMEN TO BROADCAST ON W-G-N FOR ARMY

W-G-N is making arrangements to help advance the campaign to obtain 20,000 candidates for the United States army air force thru a special series of broadcasts to be started in a fortnight. This announcement was made yesterday by Frank P. Schreiber, station manager.

In supporting this campaign, W-G-N will coöperate with Maj. Floyd M. Showalter, chief of the recruiting division for army air cadets in the 6th service command.

W-G-N's broadcasts will be aired directly from Chanute field at Rantoul, Ill., with airmen stationed there appearing on the air to explain the nature of their training and service and to provide entertainment.

Also Aided Navy.

In helping to promote this campaign, W-G-N is serving the army in a manner similar to that it provided for the navy during June. W-G-N then presented two special navy features, Johnny Goes Aboard, a dramatic program tracing the training of a navy recruit, and Bluejackets at Work, on the scene reports from various navy posts.

The management of W-G-N has just received an expression of thanks for the aid given the navy in the June recruiting drive for 10,000 men from Rear Adm. John Downes, commandant of the 9th naval district and commanding officer of the Great Lakes Naval Training station.

Admiral Writes Thanks.

"While recruiting is not my direct responsibility," said Adm. Downes in his letter, "I am, of course, keenly interested in its welfare; and I have noted with especial pleasure the intelligent and resourceful help given it by the entire staff of station W-G-N.

"Without the material assistance of radio, the recruiting drive could not have been a success; and the great success it did attain is in a large measure due to your generous efforts. I want you to know that the navy is grateful."

ARMY 'SERVICE COMMANDS' ARE TOLD NEW DUTIES

Completes Transition of Old Corps Areas.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 24.—Reorganization and redesignation of the nine army corps areas as "service commands," which was announced briefly Wednesday, was explained in detail today by the war department.

The action completes the gradual transition in the military activity of corps area commanders and establishes them definitely as army administrators and housekeepers. This move was under way before the United States entered the war, having been started about the time the draft was launched.

The reorganization was ordered by Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commander of the services of supply, for a twofold purpose:

1. To decentralize activities of the services of supply by increasing the authority of commanding generals in the field and by giving them proportionately increased responsibility.

2. To improve and streamline the field organizations by eliminating duplicating facilities.

Functions Set Forth.

The service commands will supervise army camps and posts, provide the troops with supplies and equipment, induct draftees, and generally handle the administrative details necessary to maintaining a large army.

Comprehensive instructions have been issued to all commanding generals in the new service commands, redefining duties, in order that their supply and administrative functions may be geared completely to wartime operation.

The administration and housekeeping for all troops in the respective areas now centers in the new service commands. Under the new plan, money will be allotted in a lump sum to each service command. Formerly money was allotted to each of the units within the corps area by its parent unit in Washington. This change will simplify fiscal and accounting work.

Planned Since March 9.

Reorganization of the corps areas has been under study since March 9, when the army was reorganized into three commands—the services of supply, the ground forces, and the air forces.

There will be no change in the geographical boundaries, the new service commands embracing the same territory as the old corps areas. The numerals used to designate the corps areas will remain the same.

The war department also announced discontinuance of the army general depot service, and the transfer of its major functions to the quartermaster general.

JAUNDICE CASES REACH 28,585 IN ARMY; 62 DIE

Yellow Fever Inoculations Blamed for Outbreak.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 24.—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson today reported that 28,585 cases of yellow jaundice had developed, apparently from the use of yellow fever vaccine, among army men between Jan. 1 and July 4.

Of those stricken, 62 died. The death ratio was 1 in every 461 cases. Stimson did not disclose what proportion of those who received inoculations for yellow fever contracted jaundice.

He said that since the increase in jaundice cases was attributed to the yellow fever vaccine, the form of the yellow vaccine used has been changed. Maj. Gen. James C. Magee, surgeon general of the army, was said to be confident the change will eliminate the trouble.

Report on Navy Withheld.

At the navy department inquiry as to the number of cases of jaundice among sailors and marines met with the answer that the surgeon general is not prepared to make any report at this time. It was understood, however, that the proportion of cases of jaundice in the navy was not as high as in the army.

One of the difficulties the army encountered in meeting the problem of jaundice was that it did not appear until five or six weeks after injections of yellow fever vaccine had been administered. It was not for some months that the yellow fever vaccine was suspected, because, it was said, there also was a small increase in jaundice among persons who had not received the inoculations.

It was reported Surgeon General Magee had opposed the yellow fever vaccination but was overruled. This report was denied by the war department as one of many rumors which have arisen as a result of the increase in jaundice cases.

Inoculation Method Differs.

Yellow fever vaccination differs from most other kinds of immunization in that the living organism of the disease is injected. The organism is enfeebled by various processes so it cannot give the subject a virulent case of yellow fever, but builds up defense against any invasion of virulent yellow fever organisms to which the subject may be exposed.

Smallpox vaccine also contains a live virus, which is taken from cows. Cowpox is not deadly for men. All other immunizing injections are of dead germs.

The peak of the attacks of jaundice was reached during the week ended June 20, when 2,997 hospital cases were reported, as compared with 2,575 cases for the week ending July 4.

Liver Complaint Reported.

It was reported jaundice was one symptom of a liver complaint which followed the injection of the serum. The army would not comment on this report.

Stimson said 24,057 of the cases occurred at home and 4,528 abroad. He said the surgeon general reported that a diminishing incidence is indicated by information from a large group of hospitals.

Altho the army gave no information on the proportion of men vaccinated who contracted jaundice, it was learned that in one camp 700 cases developed out of 15,000 men given vaccine.

General Health Excellent.

Outside of the jaundice, which is under control, Stimson reported that the health of the army is excellent. At the same time he announced doctors now engaged in administrative duties at hospitals soon will be assigned to purely professional work.

He said this is part of the program to give the army 20,000 additional doctors for active medical service by the end of 1942.

The doctors taken from hospital administrative work will be replaced by members of the medical administrative corps, who are drawn from the enlisted ranks of the medical corps.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

F. A. P. asks: "Isn't there some way I can keep a former wife from collecting allowances? Will she have priority over my present wife and children and be able to deprive them of my allotments? My former wife is working and making more money than I ever did. Isn't there some law of limits about such things?"

ANSWER: If your former wife obtained a court order for the payment of alimony or support money and has not remarried, she can still collect insofar as the allotment and allowance act throws any light on the subject. The question of "priority" is just one of the many problems remaining to be clarified. The only immediate "limitation" applying in a case such as yours is your present ability to pay. It might be possible thru court action to have the original court order rescinded, or "vacated." The allotment and allowance act has fixed a limit of $50 a month payable to a wife or a divorced wife.

Mrs. N. O. writes: "I've just had a whole batch of letters I wrote to my husband in service returned to me. Does that mean that he has been listed as missing or killed? I haven't received any notice from the war department. What is wrong?"

ANSWER: Without examining the letters, our guesses are [1] the soldier did not leave notice with the army postal service of being sent overseas or [2] you may not have addressed them correctly or given his full military address. The army postal service has announced that some mail intended for overseas stations is being delayed or returned to the senders because of erroneous or insufficient address. We are giving an example of the correct way to address a letter to some one overseas:

Private John Doe [Serial Number],
Company A,
373rd Infantry,
APO No. 801, c/o Postmaster,
New York City, New York.

The name and address of the sender should be written in the upper left hand corner of the envelope, and sufficient space should be left to permit a forwarding address to be written on the envelope. Soldiers who do not receive their mail should be sure to see that relatives and friends know their complete and correct military address.

A. M. Y. writes: "My fiancé, who is in the army, and I plan to be married soon. Can I file for dependency? If so how soon could I apply for it after our marriage? Also would I be eligible for the $50 a month?"

ANSWER: If you mean to ask whether you would be considered your husband's dependent, the answer is yes. He could make an allotment for you as soon as the marriage is performed. The official allotment forms would be available thru your future husband's commanding officer, and when these applications have been properly executed, filed, and verified, you would begin to receive the $50 a month on or after Nov. 1.

A TEXAS GUNMAN OFFERS TO TEST HIS AIM ON HITLER

Taylor M. Whichard.

Taylor M. Whichard, Texas badman and escaped convict, proposed in federal District court yesterday that he be dropped by parachute in Germany so that he could undertake a single-handed mission to eliminate Hitler.

Judge John P. Barnes did not ask to hear details of the plan, which Whichard's attorney, C. S. Bentley Pike, described simply as "a unique proposition." The judge sentenced Whichard to nine years in federal prison on three charges involving the robbery of a man and his wife in the Stevens hotel on Dec. 11.

"I'm an expert marksman," Whichard said. "Give me a little training in military science, and let me study maps of Germany. Then drop me in that country by parachute from a plane. If I succeed in the mission and get back to the United States alive, I would expect the American courts to drop all charges against me."

Whichard is 33 years old. He was arrested July 11 by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation as he sat in a north side restaurant with his wife and 6 year old son.

Last December Whichard and Jene Paul Norris, who now is held in Sulphur, Okla., invaded the hotel room of Ray Ryan, an Evansville, Ind., oil man, and his wife, and robbed them of $7,400 in cash and jewelry.

NATION'S POLICE URGED TO JOIN DRIVE ON VICE

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—Police thruout the country were called upon today to stamp out prostitution for the protection of the army, the navy, and war industries.

The program was recommended in a report by the national advisory police committee on social protection to Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, who appointed the group to develop techniques for the prevention of prostitution.

"The policy of regulation and toleration of prostitution still practiced in some communities is inimical to the health and welfare of the nation," said Donald S. Leonard, president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police. Charles Taft, assistant director of the office of defense health and welfare services, reported that red light districts in more than 292 communities have been closed by state and local police in coöperation with the federal government.

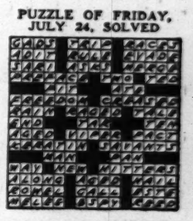
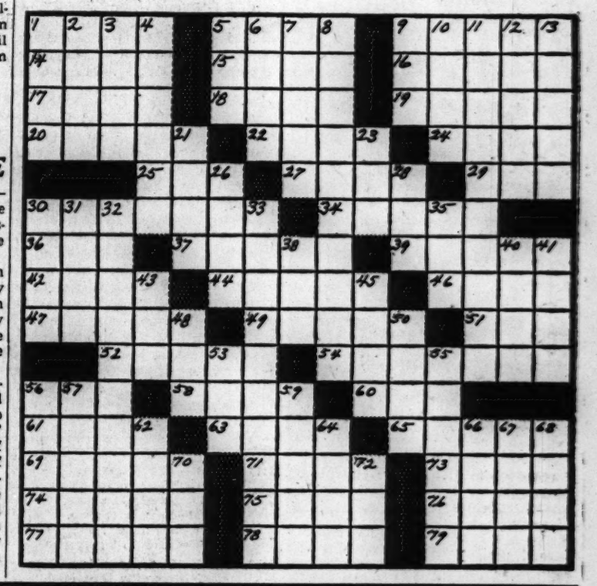
PUZZLE OF FRIDAY, JULY 24, SOLVED





BISHOP BLAMES ALL GERMANS FOR POLISH MASSACRE

LONDON, July 24 (AP).—The archbishop of York accused the Germans today of "indescribably horrible" treatment of conquered Poland—"A brutal, cold blooded policy of murdering a nation which will go down as one of the great crimes in history."

"These atrocities," the archbishop wrote in a diocesan publication, "are committed, not by a handful of sadists, but by thousands of Germans and, as far as we know, no protest has been raised either by those who are ordered to commit them or by the people of Germany. . . .

"When the war is won, not only will it be necessary to bring to justice the criminals responsible, but to convert a whole generation from a spirit which delights, or at any rate acquiesces, in cruelty and violence."

KILLER PANTANO QUIET AS JUDGE SENTENCES HIM TO DEATH SEPT. 18

John Pantano, 20 years old, who fought his guards in Criminal court July 16, when a jury found him guilty of murder and fixed his punishment at death, stood quietly before Judge Harold G. Ward yesterday and heard the sentence pronounced. Sept. 18 was fixed as the date of execution in the electric chair.

A force of detectives and more than a dozen bailiffs were in court yesterday, prepared to quell any outbreak. All persons not known to the detectives and bailiffs were searched.

Pantano was convicted of the murder of Policeman Charles Williams during a robbery in a tavern at 4301 North Western avenue, Dec. 10.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BEN MARKLAND

No Need for Calendar.

July 23, 1942

THE sights and sounds of midsummer are so prominent these days that the observant farm visitor needs no calendar to tell him that it's late July.

Hot weather wildflowers such as the bergamot, chicory, Queen Anne's Lace, and various members of the sunflower family form panoramas of blue, white, and gold in the fields and along the roadsides. Farm workers, tanned by long hours in sun drenched wheat fields, turn to their new tasks in the alfalfa plots. Hollyhocks flash their brilliant combinations of red, maroon, and white from the cottage yards. Muscovy and mallard ducklings keep cool in their private swimming ponds in the barnyard. Jittery killdeers dart back and forth between shores of the farm ponds, with bitterns and green herons as their mud-daubing sidekicks. Farm families enjoy the first ears of sweet corn and the first red tomatoes from their vegetable plots.

Swallows Try Wings.

All these and many other signs of summer are to be seen on short jaunts thru the farm, but one of the most significant evidences of the season was provided this week, by the barn swallows. After visiting the men in the fields we headed for the barnyard in time to see a brood of barn swallow fledgelings taking their flying lessons, with the roof of the sheep barn as their air base.

Last summer we walked into the barnyard when the young swallows were just beginning to fly. Using the barn roof as a takeoff point and landing field, the adult birds would swoop and bank and soar in all sorts of stunts for the benefit of their timid offspring. Occasionally one of the youngsters would venture to the edge of the roof, fly a 10 yard course and then wobble uncertainly back to safety.

Acrobats of the Air.

The barn swallow youngsters we saw this week evidently were about three-fourths grown and pretty sure of themselves on the wing. They didn't fly as far or as expertly as the adult birds, but they were well on their way to perfection in the type of acrobatic flying at which barn swallows excel.

A second bull calf was born into the Shorthorn herd on the Wheaton farm recently. Ten more calves are expected, six to arrive this fall and winter and four next spring.

U. S. PLACES CURB ON TRANS-OCEAN PHONE SERVICE

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—Personal telephone calls to points outside the western hemisphere except England were prohibited today by the board of war communications.

The order makes an exception for calls "in the interest of the United States and an agency of the United States government" when such calls have approval of the chief cable and radio censor. The order, in effect, eliminates personal calls to Madrid, Spain; Lisbon, Portugal, and Berne, Switzerland.

In another order the board ordered closed the nongovernmental point-to-point radio telephone circuit between the United States and Australia, effective Aug. 31.

Racing Crowds Head Today for Arlington Park

BY JUDITH CASS.

THOSE who like to get away for a visit to the races at least once during the season at Arlington Park will find plenty of company en route to the track this afternoon, for today's program brings the famed Arlington Classic, one of the richest events in American racing. Any one of four women has a chance to become $70,000 wealthier if her horse wins this 14th running of the Classic. Two of them are Chicagoans, Mrs. Warren Wright and Mrs. Ethel V. Mars. A third Chicagoan's horse, Alsab, belonging to Mrs. Al Sabath, was scratched. The other feminine owners are Mrs. Payne Whitney of New York and Mrs. E. H. Augustus of Delaware.

This Saturday and next will be especially thrilling for the Wrights, as their famed Whirlaway will return to the park to race in the Arlington handicap that will end the season next week. Mr. and Mrs. Wright and the Otto Lehmanns will be having luncheon with friends today at the Post and Paddock club, where Col. Matt Winn, famed Kentucky turfman; Tom Taggart Jr. of French Lick, Ind., and other racing fans will gather.

The Charles A. McCullochs, Mrs. Donald R. McLennan, John D. Allen, president of the Jockey club; the Silas Strawns, the John E. Wheelers, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome P. Bowes Jr., Mrs. Dwight Green, Thomas E. Wilson, the Harry H. Lobdells, Lawrence Stern, and Mrs. Benjamin R. Brown are others who have luncheon reservations at the Post and Paddock.

Skeet Matches Being Held at Lincoln Park Gun Club.

Skeet enthusiasts who have entered the Illinois State Skeet championships now in progress at the Lincoln Park Gun club must be early risers, for today's and tomorrow's events start at 8 o'clock in the morning. Mrs. Potter Palmer III., who has been winning skeet championships all year; Mr. and Mrs. William D. Cox, the J. L. Younghusbands, Mrs. Walter S. Stern, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanchil E. Hardy of Peoria, who are well known downstate shooters, are some of those entered. The Navy Pier has entered a shooting team. Light refreshments will be available at the clubhouse.

Lieut. Henry L. McIntyre, whose leave ended yesterday, had only a glimpse of the infant son that was born to him and the former Winifred Wheeler at 3 o'clock in the morning at St. Luke's hospital. The baby, who has a young brother, will be named Shelby Haynes McIntyre, family names on the paternal side. Mrs. McIntyre's mother, Mrs. Robert C. Wheeler, departed last night for her summer home at Harbor Point, Mich., and her son-in-law left at noon to return to his army post.

Chicago friends of Mrs. Henry Dexter Sturtevant have received announcements of her marriage on July 11 to Lieut. Comm. Harold James Cauldrey George, Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, leader of the Commandos under Lord Louis Mountbatten, and now on the staff of Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Australia. The ceremony took place in the Church of the Transfiguration in New York, which was the home of the former Edith Taylor before she came to Chicago as Mrs. Sturtevant. Mrs. George will be at her summer home in White Lake, Mich., until she is able to join her husband in Australia.

Martha Husted Is Married to Lieut. Charles M. Rush.

From Reno, Nev., comes news of the marriage on Thursday of Miss Martha Husted of Chicago and Lieut. [j. g.] Charles Marshall Rush, son of Judge and Mrs. George Fred Rush of Chicago. The ceremony took place unexpectedly when the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Husted of Pontiac, went west to see Lieut. Rush, who is stationed on the west coast, and they decided to be married before he was given active sea duty again. The wedding took place in the garden of the home of Lieut. and Mrs. William Woodburn Jr. of Reno. Lord Wellesley, fourth Earl of Cowley, who is now a Nevada rancher, gave the bride away, and Judge Edgar Eather performed the ceremony.

Romantic news concerning two old south side families is contained in the announcement that Mr. and Mrs. Merrill William Tilden are making of the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Whitfield, to John Joseph Burnham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Burnham. Miss Tilden attended the Faulkner school and was graduated from business school. Her fiancé is a graduate of St. Thomas Military academy in St. Paul, Minn. The wedding will take place when Mr. Burnham gets a furlough from his army duties, probably in October. Miss Tilden will leave on Aug. 6 to visit his army post.

The Solon John Gillfillans of Glencoe are spending a month at their cabin on Lost Lake, Wis., with their son and daughter, Thomas and Miss Judy Gillfillan. They expect their older son, Pilot Officer James Gillfillan, R. C. A. F., and his wife, the former Patricia Emrich of Evanston, for a two week holiday. Miss Gillfillan, who was graduated from the Roycemore school in June, will enter Northwestern, to which her brother is transferring as a sophomore from Indiana university.

The Housewife

For informal buffet meals, or for luncheon or supper in the yard one of the most convenient items to have on hand is the individual tray. If each person is provided with his or her own tray there is no awkward balancing of plates on knees and sliding around of cup on plate. Some good looking, simple trays we came across recently are painted in delightful light colors: green, pink, and two shades of blue. They are not so large as to be heavy or cumbersome and each is priced well under a dollar.

At Arlington's Post and Paddock Club

Squinting into the sun at Arlington Park is Miss Lucia Winston, the Farwell Winstons' subdebutante daughter. Miss Winston was snapped on the upper terrace of the Post and Paddock club, a favorite spot from which to watch the races. The richest race of the Arlington season, the Classic, will be run this afternoon.

Women in War Work

By India Moffett

Attention, women who want to become instructors in elementary radio and mathematics in United States Army Signal corps schools! The course for training these women to replace service men will start on Monday at the University of Chicago. The course is not filled and the Signal Corps Personnel office, 209 West Jackson boulevard, will schedule interviews if application is made at once. The training program, designated as "Pre-Electronics Instructors' Course for Women," is in scope one of the most ambitious offered so far to women in the war field.

To enter the course a woman must have had training in physics, or in mathematics, preferably thru calculus, and the first choice will be women with training in both these subjects. In addition to reviewing mathematics and teaching methods, the course will include electronics, radio, and shop work. In the last named the women will learn soldering, wiring, simple sheet metal work, and the use of punches, reamers, taps, and drill presses.

Instruction in the course will be given by members of the university's physics and mathematics staff under the direction of Mrs. Duane L. Heller, a graduate of the university. She has been a high school and junior college teacher and an instructor for the Civil Aeronautics Authority. Trainees will be paid during the 13 weeks of the course, and those accepted must agree to serve in army schools in the continental United States for at least one year. Salaries start at $1,620 a year.

Mrs. Albert D. Farwell of Lake Forest has been appointed chairman of victory gardens for the 8th district of the Office of Civilian Defense, which gives her the responsibility for gardens from Highland Park to Waukegan, inclusive. She is the second woman to be given such an important post, for the only other woman among the 15 division chairmen is Mrs. Francis Flynn of Maywood, who, as chairman of division 11, has charge of gardens in Oak Park, River Forest, Maywood, and other nearby towns.

The last of a series of Saturday night parties that residents in Mary street, Glencoe have been giving for men in service will be held tonight, with some residents in adjoining Wentworth avenue acting as hosts. Ten officers from the Great Lakes Naval Training station and from Navy pier will be the special guests at dinner of Maj. and Mrs. Henry N. Bate, the John R. Smiths, the Howard W. Knights, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Johnson Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Owens, and the L. H. Pomeroys. Dancing in the Emile G. Eberles' garden will follow dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Eberle have received numerous inquiries on how these parties are conducted from other Glencoe residents as well as from families in other north shore towns, so the Glencoeites who originated these block parties are hopeful that neighbors will carry on the good work.

From the Chicago Service Men's Center News we pick the following as of interest to women doing war work: "Sadie Hawkins Day! July 29th is the date set by the Wednesday night SMC Girls' club for a Sadie Hawkins dance. Gals will do the askin' for a change—Dogpatch style. . . . The 80 piece Illinois WPA Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Izler Solomon, will inaugurate a new series of programs at the Summer Recreation Center. Schedule: Wednesdays, 6-7:30 p. m.; Saturdays, 4-6 p. m.; Sundays, 12-1:30 p. m. A printed list of selections will be available at each concert. Indicate your requests. You service men with experience as conductors are invited to serve as GUEST CONDUCTORS for part of the daily concerts. Please speak to Mr. Solomon."

The USO Club Clippings contains these notes that we think will interest our readers: "Saturday night [tonight] party, 8 to 12. Our old friends, members of the South Side Catholic Women's club, are sponsoring their third party, and Mrs. Harry C. Bertemes and her hard-working committee will feature pie à la mode for the refreshing interlude between dances. Thanks to the ladies of St. Eulalia's parish in Maywood for the extra special snacks of potato chips, olives, peaches, and pies they bring in every Wednesday."

Any man in a service uniform will be welcome at the Loop Orthodox Synagogue Service Men's center, 16 South Clark street, where the men will be treated to a hot dinner on Sundays. They also will find at the center dancing partners, who are assembled by Miss Geraldine Ruben. Her mother, Mrs. Touby Ruben, is executive director of the center, which is open every Sunday from 1 until 11 p. m. Mrs. Ann Kite is in charge of the canteen.

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and answers questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

Park District Outing Club Holds Hike This Evening

The Chicago Park District Outing club, a group coöperating with the Office of Civilian Defense physical fitness program, will sponsor a four mile walk at 7 o'clock this evening thru Jackson park to the 67th street beach. Hikers are to bring their bathing suits. The meeting place will be the Stony Island and 63d street intersection.

Sally Is Ready with Guest List for Next Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Sunday is good news day, boys and girls!

In my column in THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE, you'll find the usual double header announcement. All the hundreds of boys and girls who wrote in for invitations to our Chicago theater party on July 30 will, I know, scan the long list of names which will be printed.

If you've been selected as one of my guests, you'll find yourself listed among 100 lucky youngsters. You'll all receive personal invitations to see Maureen O'Hara and George Montgomery in "Ten Gentlemen from West Point," plus a grand stage show featuring Horace Heidt and his orchestra.

In addition to telling you about who's going to have a good time on July 30—you'll find news of our next party, which will take place on Aug. 6. I'm sure you'll like it. I'm certain you'll want to come, and you'll find complete instructions on how to go about winning an invitation — so watch for your SUNDAY TRIBUNE!

The ceremony will take place at 8:30 o'clock in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church of Evanston, with the Rev. Emory W. Luccock officiating. Later the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Russell Adams Scott, will give a reception in their Evanston home.

Mrs. Stewart Pfannstiehl will be her sister's matron of honor. Clayton S. Hexton, who has come from Grand Rapids, Mich., with Mrs. Hexton, will serve as best man for his brother, and ushering will be Warren A. Peterson and Orr Goodson. Among the guests will be the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Anne Beauchamp Hinkle of Owensboro, Ky.; her aunt, Mrs. George Carbill of Dixon, Ky., and Mrs. Francis Miller of Indianapolis, Ind. White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY.

The Army Influence.

Just a girl whose heart is with the army! In the clubhouse at Arlington she sat at the right of a reader who signs himself "Tweedsmuir"—and feels we should know about it. A little before the running of the third race—seven furlongs—she said, "Mister, the next race is for seven furloughs, ain't it?"

Appreciation.

The Wife Writes the Secretary—or The Mail Is Full of Surprises: "Perhaps the fact that you and I share a common duty, one at which we both must work diligently every day if we are to attain even a small portion of success, has prompted this letter—that, and the fact that far too many times your task seemingly goes unappreciated.

"First of all, I appreciate the attractive and pleasant personality which makes you 'YOU.' The common fallacy that the secretary who has more than passable good looks is a 'husband-snatcher' is as outmoded as it is untrue. I consider your good looks an indication of my husband's good taste and a direct compliment to myself. [He also chose me.]

"Because I have been a secretary, too, I appreciate the problems which your day's work brings forth. I know you hold the power to keep my husband's office life running smoothly and by so doing make my home a more pleasant place. I know, also, that if I fail in keeping his home life running smoothly, so that he carries problems from his home to the office which deprive him of full concentration, you likewise feel the sting of my failure.

"These things, of course, you know—but whether you realize that I am aware of them, I am not sure. I have wanted to tell you many times that often I see your hand and mind in something he does, but somehow, I can say only 'Thanks for everything'."—A Wife.

500,000 Jobs.

The United States Civil Service commission announced this week that the maximum age requirement has been waived on all previously called nation-wide examinations with six exceptions. Among the six not excepted the only one applying directly to women is that of graduate nurse, Panama Canal. Almost simultaneously with the announcement came the statement that more than 500,000 additional civil service employés must be hired within the next six months.

Words.

"Temporarily I can do nothing but think," writes Charlotte Ewing, "and this is what I have been thinking today. I've listed some little, homey words that are contained in names and places connected with the allies: for example—church and hill from Churchill; land from England; sing from Singapore; wave from Wavell; win from Winston; can from American; man from Manila. And against them these words from the other side: muss from Mussolini; germ from German; hit from Hitler; ax from axis; blitz from blitzkrieg; mess from Messerschmitt. Just trying to forget the pain . . . but as you are a dealer in words, I thought you might be interested."

Puzzle Answer.

The answer to yesterday's puzzle: There are 143 positions on the face of a watch in which the hour and minute hands can be interchanged and still indicate possible time.

Music, Beauty Lights to Mark Fashion Shows

Music, beauty, and glowing lights.

This will be the background of the brilliant finale of the American Fashions contest sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE on Aug. 7 and 8 in W-G-N's spacious studio theater.

A program, pleasing to the eye and ear, has been planned for the three style shows which will close the nationwide search for practical, beautiful clothes for women in wartime. As in the two previous competitions, conducted by THE TRIBUNE to encourage American designers, the style shows will again set a standard of production for staging fashion shows.

Thruout the performances, appropriate music keyed to the mode of the 30 winning costumes, will be played by Jack Russell's orchestra. Vivid, entertaining descriptions by Marvin Mueller, W-G-N announcer, will keep a running accompaniment to the parade of the models down the run-way. Side comments, picked up with expert feminine appreciation for ingenuity of style, will be given by Mrs. India Moffett, society editor of THE TRIBUNE, and Rea Seeger, fashion editor.

The climaxing show to the entire competition will be held the evening of Aug. 7 when the three grand prize winners of $3,000, $2,000 and $1,000, respectively, will be announced over W-G-N between 9:30 and 10 p. m.

The grand prize winners will be selected by popular vote of a professional audience, who will attend the preview on the afternoon of Aug. 7, and the public at the evening performance.

The preview in the afternoon, which is being advertised by the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Style Exhibitors, Inc. as a highlight of Chicago market week, Aug. 3-8, will be attended by members of the Inter-State Merchants council and Chicago merchants and buyers at the invitation of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Advance notices being distributed by the Style Exhibitors, Inc. for their Victory parade to be held during market week in the Morrison hotel, caution merchants to obtain their tickets for the preview early. More than 18,000 fashion experts are expected to be in the city for market week.

The third style show will be staged Saturday afternoon, Aug. 8, and will be open to the public. At all three performances the public will also be invited to view scores of the sketches, entered in the contest, which will be hung along the wall of beautiful Harmony hall between Tribune Tower and W-G-N studios.

Tickets will be sold for both the Friday evening and Saturday afternoon shows for the benefit of the United Service Organizations to which the net proceeds will be given. All reservations for the shows must be made by mail, accompanied by the price of $2.50 for the evening show or $1 for the following afternoon performance. They should be addressed to The Chicago Tribune Fashion Show Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

Fall Footgear Arrives and Is Pretty Swank

BY REA SEEGER.

First fall footnotes are invariably important arrivals, not only for color but for outline, heel height, decorative trim and new leathers or combines. The first models feature soot-black suede, the classics for town and street wear with dull black crêpe and gleaming black satin daytime dresses. Trim street pumps still head the lists for swank and comfort, ideal accents for the streamlined dresses. Dark brown rates second, ready for thin wools, clever suits in the first fall tweed patterns and for high colored thin wool daytime dresses in brilliant fall colorings like gold, dark beige, green or bright red.

Alligator and reptile skin footgear are off to a spectacular fashion start. The dark brown alligator finds are knockouts, street pumps, walking brogues and the medium heeled spectator sports models. They are smartly simple, made by expert craftsmen and assure season after season wear, without a hint of the service showing. Handsome big bags to match are displayed with the shoes. . . . the bigger the better, for capacity and outline are emphasized this fall as never before . . . maybe to provide a carryall for all patriotic shoppers so that all small packages can be toted home on your own steam!

Other capacity bags are finds because of the size and the outside cover, especially those of plaid wool or the natty ideas in twill, gabardine and sergelike textures. Most of the new affairs look like ladylike versions of the duffel bags, very much reduced, of course. They have that casual, easy to carry air, and every extra you own, plus your pet war work, can be stuffed inside without making an appreciable bulge. Some have metal rings to slide down over the top, providing safe anchorage for contents as well as a shiny decoration.

Cyclist Group Will Make Trip to Camp Lake, Wis.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY KATE MASSEE.

Inspiration.

Around 150 faculty members, students, and secretaries at the Illinois Institute of Technology have donated to the Red Cross blood bank, and another 100 have signed up. It was largely due to the following poem by Dan Workman, electrical engineering senior, that the response was so great.

THE GOOD SO REAL.

A vicious battle has been won
And men lie dead 'neath burning sun;
Other deaths are slow and cruel
To sate the lust of one mad fool.
But now there comes a white clad man,
Healing help in his firm hand;
His battle is to save a life,
A ray of hope amid the strife.
The Red Cross is his guiding light,
Symbol of life and hope and right;
But tho its cause is brave and true,
It must have help, yes help from you.
To save a life that might be lost
Give your limit—don't count the cost.
You can't refuse this great appeal—
The cost so small, the good so real.

Trial by Error.

A scout just returned from Des Moines, where the Waacs were inducted into the army on Monday, reports that there was consternation in the camp when the brand new ironing boards ordered for the embryo officers' dormitory turned out to be the regulation kind, intended for pressing soldiers' trousers, not skirts.

More Than Earth.

"There's a spice isle beneath the Southern Cross, where wanderlust might sing of satisfied desires as sunrise fires fling rays of gold on tireless albatross. Limber palms bend with the wind and hum lyrics to a jade foam surf that booms to shores of rich red earth. And one might hear in midnight balm the beating on native tomtom, while phosphorescent seas flaunt fantasies and stars appear at hand reach height. Stately natives draped in gay sarongs seem casts of bronze in sun so strong. Naive they live, content with fruits that nature gives. Rain, warm rain, makes warm vegetation jungle dense and foliage tones of lightest green to green intense. Life—fulfilment of color and calm, more than earth, pearl isle of Ceylon."—Eve Jurgens.

Real Buddies.

The boys who keep 'em rolling off the assembly line of the armored tank division of the Pressed Steel Car company are not only sticking to their jobs without vacations but also manage the time to get out a snappy newspaper called Line. That they also have great hearts is revealed in an item from the latest issue of the paper. When it was learned that George Vallee, crack welder, lay gravely ill at Mercy hospital, a group of men representing all departments made a house to house canvass of men who knew Vallee, and netted contributions totaling more than $100.

Now What to Do?

Sidney Kaufman, OCD community chairman in Ravenswood, has repeatedly urged his various block captains to raise funds for necessary expenses by other means than asking residents for contributions. One captain took the chairman's suggestion so seriously that he posted the following notice in the buildings in his block: "Anybody who comes to your door soliciting funds for the OCD is hoodwinking you. Shut the door and call the police." A few days later it was decided that, owing to mounting expenses, it would be necessary to tax each resident 25 cents. We haven't heard how the captain got out of his dilemma.

Pamphlets to Be Reviewed for Pan-American Council

At the weekly language tea of the Pan-American council today, the director, Joseph H. Spear, will review, in Spanish and in English, new pamphlets published by the Pan-American union and other good neighbor groups and also Spanish periodicals printed in the United States. The meeting will be at 3:30 o'clock in the Illinois room of the Hotel La Salle. Heading the hostess committee for the weekly teas is Señora Inez de Brong, a native of Colombia.

CONFESSION.

The news left Juliet speechless. So few hours ago Sharon, calm and beautiful, had sat in the hotel room, pouring out philosophies of life and gentle words of wisdom. She had seemed to want to talk—to justify to somebody—anybody—the way she had lived.

Did Sharon, then, have suicide in mind? Juliet was horrified to think that she hadn't guessed. She laid her dark head against Philip's white suit coat. Her shoulders shook with sobs. When words did come, mingled with tears, they were unintelligible.

Elaine, too, was silent. Only a jerking facial muscle betrayed her shock. When she found her voice she queried huskily:

"She wasn't—she wasn't murdered was she, Philip?"

He shook his head sadly.

"No—no—she did it herself. She left a confession."

"Confession!"

"Yes—that she killed Harold and didn't care to live on without him."

"O! How terrible! I can't believe it!" Juliet shivered.

Elaine clenched her teeth.

"In that case—I'm glad she's dead. Is that all she wrote?"

"The main thing," Philip answered. "I believe the entire contents will be made public later?"

Juliet clung to Philip, hardly hearing what he said. Travelers and loiterers looking out of the great observation window or walking on the field side of the airport building looked curiously at the three well dressed people—the sober faced companion with his arm about the slim, white faced girl, and her trim tan suited companion gripping her arm as if to keep her from falling.

"Miss Juliet Johnson—Miss Juliet Johnson—last call—last call—report at reservation desk—flight 66 Mexico City to Brownsville." The loud speaker boomed.

"Elaine, please go tell them she isn't going," Philip directed. "She's too upset to talk to them."

"But why not—why should she stay here?"

"She must stay. She's in my custody. She can't go."

Elaine turned on her high brown heels to do as she was told.

"O, Philip, it's so dreadful," Juliet whispered. "Why only a few hours ago Sharon came to me and told me about herself and how you felt about me—and—"

"She said she was going to," he said patting her shoulder. "Yes, Sharon was a good, sweet, kind woman. She understood everybody. She helped everybody!"

"But to kill Harold! I thought she no longer loved him! And to kill herself! I can't believe it," Juliet moaned.

"It's hard to believe—but Sharon was hard to understand," Philip replied gravely. "Don't talk that way, darling. You're just nervous."

Elaine returned hastily, eyes blazing. Morelos, smiling, at her heels.

"Philip Rankin! I think you're a blasted sneak. You had the police hold up Juliet's reservation. Morelos was waiting there to get her!"

"I've told Lady Lynn that was my idea," Morelos explained as tho he had said it before. "Senorita Johnson is a valuable witness until the case is closed."

"But isn't the case closed—if Sharon wrote a confession?" Elaine asked.

"We-ee-ll, yes—just as soon as we go thru the formality of checking the writing—the signature that is. The confession is already on the way to a handwriting expert in Mexico City. To me it looks genuine—even to the small 's' with which I understand Senora Lathrop signed her first name.

"But in order to close the case we must clear up a number of things and Senorita Johnson may help us. There are still many questions to be answered—questions which cannot be answered until we talk to Maria."

"Maria!"

"Yes, we are looking for her—Maria Gonzales—alias Mary Anderson."

"Now Rankin," Morelos directed, "if you will get Senorita Johnson's baggage, I will take the ladies to the car—" Philip hurried away. Morelos, holding each girl politely by the arm, ushered them back thru the airport building, to the front drive where Philip's roadster stook directly in front of Elaine's magnificent machine.

When Philip returned with the luggage he asked Elaine if she would allow Juliet to drive back with him.

"It's quite all right with me," Elaine smiled.

"You'll drive your car back, Lady Lynn?" Morelos asked.

"Why, yes, of course."

"Then perhaps it would be best if you invite me to ride with you. I do not like to stand in the way of love, either," he said with a knowing wink.

"If you wish," Elaine answered shortly. "Where do you want me to drop you?"

"At Emiliano Zapata avenue, please. Rankin, we will follow you," he said. It was a long drive back from the airport to the city proper, thru the crowded streets, onto the wide boulevards, then out onto the highway with the mountains on one side and the low rolling hills on the other.

Philip told Juliet what he knew—what Morelos had been able to tell him—of Sharon's death. A policeman, near Sharon's home, had heard the shot. He had rushed into the empty house—the serving woman was out—and had found Mrs. Lathrop on her bed, fully clothed, shot thru the heart. The gun was in her hand, the confession on the bed beside her.

In the course of a hurried investigation Morelos had discovered that Juliet was New York bound.

"He was just starting after you in that old rattletrap he uses, when he saw me. He asked if I'd drive him up. My car was faster," Philip explained. "I'm surprised he even let you ride back with me. He was pretty upset at your sudden disappearance.

"Julie, darling—why were you running away?"

"I was ashamed, Philip—ashamed of the way I'd behaved."

Before Juliet realized how rapidly the time and the miles had slipped away they were in front of the Lynn home. The lights of Elaine's car were shining right behind them.

Morelos, and Elaine, laughing together like old friends, joined them quickly.

"Morelos has been telling me about Sharon," Elaine explained. "From what he says I don't think there can be a doubt that she took her own life. She even said in her last letter that she wanted to be buried beside Harold. She was in love with him. At first I didn't dream she was. But I did grow suspicious of her after poor Harold was killed. I should have known when Harold made it clear to her that he loved me, she would get revenge. It's a wonder she didn't try to kill me, too."

"She certainly hid her love from most of us," Philip declared. "I thought she had long since got over it and that she was only very sorry for him."

Sir James greeted them excitedly.

"Come in! Come in! I've just learned about Sharon. I've just come from the police station. They had me down there to identify the guns."

"The guns? What guns?" Elaine asked.

"Mine—those two detective special .38's that disappeared. She killed herself with one of them. The ballistics experts are checking to see which one of them—if either—fired the shot that killed Festone. But how in the world did they disappear?"

Good ideas gleaned from recipe contest entries:

Miss Grace Riddle of South Holland, Ill., uses apricot nectar instead of milk as the liquid in a refreshing tapioca pudding. You might try other nectars and juices, too.

Mrs. A. V. Anderson [no address given] suggests an unusual way of serving cooked radishes. She makes a white sauce with browned flour and pours this over boiled radishes.

Mrs. Gus Schalk, 214 Fourth avenue, Peoria, Ill., concocts a flavorful all in one dish of lamb, tomatoes, and green beans. She simmers a half pound of diced, browned lamb in a cup or two of canned tomatoes. When nearly tender, a pound of sliced green beans, one finely chopped onion, and one tablespoon of commercially prepared barbecue sauce are added to this. She seasons to taste with salt and pepper, and simmers all in covered kettle until the beans are tender. This will serve four persons.

The refreshing hot weather recipes now coming in to the contest editors have everybody offering to help taste! A recipe for a cooling thirst quencher wins an honorable mention for Mrs. G. I. Gibson, 5545 Main street, Downers Grove, Ill. Here 'tis:

Mock Claret Punch.
[Serves six or eight.]

- 3 lemons
- 5 oranges
- 1 cup currant juice
- Small stick cinnamon
- 2 cups water
- 1 cup tea infusion
- Sugar or corn sirup
- ¼ cup stemmed fresh currants

Squeeze juice from lemons and oranges and add to currant juice. Chill. Grate rind of one lemon and one orange, and add with cinnamon stick to the water. Boil together for 10 minutes, then strain and cool. Add fruit juices and tea infusion to water, and sweeten to taste with sugar or corn sirup. Garnish with stemmed currants and serve.

Dorothy L. Evans, 1950 W. 63d street, Chicago, has an excellent bean and onion casserole which many a homemaker will welcome for those casseroles come in handy when so many other things demand attention besides dinner.

Bean Casserole Unique.
[Serves four.]

- 2 peeled, large onions
- ½ pound ground rump beef
- ½ cup soft bread crumbs
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon powdered sage
- ¼ cup milk
- 4½ cups canned baked beans
- 2 strips bacon

Cook whole onions in boiling, salted water until just tender, about 25 or 30 minutes. Drain, cool slightly, and cut in halves crosswise. Then slip out inner layers of each half, leaving a shell of two or three layers. Combine next six ingredients and use to fill onion shells, heaping high. Chop inner layers of onions and add to beans. Place beans in a 10 by 6 by 2 inch baking dish. Imbed the stuffed onions in beans, cut bacon strips in half, and top each stuffed onion with a piece. Bake in moderate oven, 325 degrees, for one hour.

Miss Dorothy Messer, 5507 Winthrop avenue, Chicago, sent in this interesting recipe for Chinese steamed fish, and it is worthy of honorable mention.

Chinese Steamed Fish.
[Serves six.]

- 3 to 4 pounds whitefish or red snapper
- Salt
- 3 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1 medium onion, chopped fine
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 teaspoon minced parsley
- 2 cups water
- 1 tablespoon Chinese sauce

Clean fish thoroly and salt both inside and out. Sauté slowly on both sides until brown and crisp, then add the sauce made by mixing the soy sauce, chopped onion, olive oil, parsley, water, and Chinese sauce. Place fish and sauce in hot [400 degree] oven for one hour, basting fish with sauce every few minutes. Be sure to turn the fish sufficiently to cook it from both sides. Serve hot.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., July 24.—When Philip Dorn was introduced to Nurse Kenny of infantile paralysis fame, he bowed with deep reverence and said, "You look so like our Queen Wilhelmina." He was right, too. Nurse Kenny came to call on me the day before she left for Minneapolis. What a remarkable woman! Steady as the rock of Gibraltar, eyes clear and penetrating, unbounded harnessed strength, and a delightful sense of humor. In describing the various cities of her country, she said, "In Adelaide they ask about your religion, Melbourne your ancestry, Sydney about your bank account, Brisbane [where she comes from], 'How about a drink?'" . . . It was Dr. Philip Lewin who wrote in the Illinois Medical Journal: "The United States has given Australia Douglas MacArthur; Australia has given us Elizabeth Kenny." Her reasons for wanting no one except Rosalind Russell to play her life story on the screen are these: She's not only a fine person, but a fine actress, has great vitality, an immense and spontaneous sense of humor, and is a good fighter. When Nurse Kenny left by plane she was wearing white orchids from the same Rosalind Russell.

'Twas Ever Thus.

It's strange, but we always make the best pictures under pressure. I suppose when everything's sailing along smoothly we're too busy taking it easy, lying down on the job, watching the ponies run, or gambling to take seriously the job which pays us our dough. But with a war on, we're turning out some of the best pictures I've seen—"Yankee Doodle Dandy," "Mrs. Miniver," "Pride of the Yankees," "Talk of the Town," "Tales of Manhattan," "Eagle Squadron" [which has already increased air enlistments no end], "Holiday Inn," "Road to Morocco," "The Pied Piper," "This Above All." That's not a bad list—with "My Sister Eileen," "Gentleman Jim," "They Got Me Covered," "Mission to Moscow," "Black Swan," "Wake Island," and "Random Harvest" in the making. Of course, we give the once over lightly [and so did the critics] to those like "I Married an Angel" and "Her Cardboard Lover."

He Had It Coming.

When one of our better writers went interviewing George Sanders, she waited half an hour for him in the studio commissary. He arrived, slumped down in his chair. She said, "Hello." Not even a grunt emanated from him until she gave him a good swift kick in the shins. He let out, "What's that for?" "O, that? Just to let you know I'm here," said she. From then on he was as polite and suave as the late John Drew in a Maugham comedy. . . . Could there be more behind this teaming of Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn than meets the eye? Anyway, Katharine is not the only one in "Keeper of the Flame" who wants a bigger part. So does Pauline Lord—and billing above Richard Whorf. And, by golly, he's given way to her.

This and That.

In the good old days, when Hedy Lamarr was still going with George Montgomery, she gave him a picture in a gorgeous silver frame. When love became a myth, she wanted it back. He gave her the picture—sans frame. . . . Ruth Gordon and Garson Kanin are a steady duet. It's called love. . . . Now that the Hays office has hired De Bra, I wonder whether he's modeling those sweaters that have already been confiscated. . . . That stem winder, Steve Hanagan, may lose his wife, Susy Brewster, to Hollywood. But don't get excited—if he does, it will only be for the picture, "Cover Girl." . . . Jackie Cooper got a letter from Sonja Henie telling him her Long Island beach home is only 100 yards from where the saboteurs landed recently. "It's the safest beach in the world now," she writes. "Soldiers and guns are everywhere."

Come, Come, Girls.

When Paulette Goddard was doing that nasty nice trio with Dorothy Lamour and Veronica Lake she went over to Veronica and lifted that clump of hair, and said, "Tsk, tsk, tsk—Do they do that to you each time, or just for this picture? How quaint!" Veronica said, "Well, I usually wear it like this." Said Paulette, "I must remember to see one of your pictures some time." . . . Just as Robert Herrick gets a good start in pictures, he's called as a witness in a murder case. When the night clerk was shot at the Garden of Allah hotel, Herrick didn't see what happened, but he did hear the shots. After all the goings on there, maybe its name should be changed. Garden of Allah indeed!

It's About Time.

If I know my countrymen, they'll get a kick out of Burnu Acquanetta, the "Venezuelan Volcano," turning out to be a full blooded Arapahoe Indian. We've had plenty of Americans, male and female, who crashed the gates of Hollywood by passing themselves off as foreigners, but this time we've been done in the eye by a gal whose ancestors were Americans when ours were hanging by their tails in the jungle. We're a people who can always enjoy a joke on ourselves, and it's kind of nice to see the Indians getting a little of their own back.

No Wonder They're Confused.

A soldier from Camp Cook writes about his trip to Hollywood. All morning he tried to get a peek inside Columbia studio—no go. In the afternoon he picked up a ride from the USO. His chauffeur was Mrs. Harry Ginsberg. He told her of his plight. She took him to her husband's studio, Paramount, and there he spent the whole evening with Claudette Colbert, Fred MacMurray, and Mitch Laisen on the "No Time for Love" set and said, "I was never treated more royally in my entire life." . . . Maxie Rosenbloom was being shown around an army camp the other day after having done a show there. He asked so many silly questions that the guide finally said, "I'm afraid you're a perfect imbecile, Mr. Rosenbloom." "Is that higher than a second lieutenant?" asked Maxie. . . . No wonder Director Sam Wood won't talk. When he was an actor his name was Shad Applegate. I suppose the Wood came from the apple—or vice versa.

Summer Heat Spurs Pleas of Needy for Ice

No ice today!

These words ring with misfortune for hundreds of the city's impoverished sick. Thruout the tenement districts, there are numerous ulcer cases, diabetics, heart disease sufferers, and the elderly infirm who are weak and in pain daily from the lack of fresh food and nourishment. Ice means the difference between comfortable existence and suffering for them.

For more than three decades THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has endeavored to relieve the summer-stifled sick thru its Ice fund, which is distributed by the United Charities. Generous readers for the past month have been contributing to the 1942 fund but the response needs to be greater. There are too many cases that need a helping hand, according to officials of the United Charities.

On the near west side there is a deserted mother and her 10 year old son, both of whom suffer from heart disease. The attacks are worse in hot weather and during the last hot spell she was unable to work. They live in a one room flat on the third floor because the rent is cheaper than the lower flats. Doctors advise them not to climb the stairs, so in hot weather they remain in their rooms without the comforting solace of cool drinks or fresh food.

On the south side is a man, his wife, and 5 year old child. This little family existed fairly well when the man peddled razor blades and notions at about $2.25 a day profit. Then sickness struck him, stomach ulcers from nervousness and overwork. Recently, he has been so ill that physicians attribute it to the lack of sufficient ice to keep their food fresh. His diet requires bland foods, milk and eggs, that spoil quickly if not kept cold.

One family on the strength of a truck driving job obtained by the father bought a second-hand refrigerator with a three month guarantee. Four months ago the motor burned out. The father developed heart trouble and could not keep at his work during the hot weather. A desperate situation arose. It could be relieved because the family fortunately still has their old ice box. The mother is a tubercular suspect and their four children, ages 9, 7, 5, and 2, are all undernourished and under clinic care.

One dollar would provide ice for any of these families for one week. Contributions will be gratefully acknowledged in these columns. They should be sent to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Tower, Chicago.

$1,407,642 Total Is Announced in USO Fund Campaign

The United Service Organizations' war fund campaign reached a total of $1,407,642, or 80 per cent of its $1,749,432 goal, yesterday, according to an announcement by Holman D. Pettibone, general chairman. The total receipts did not take into consideration the amount being collected by the American Legion this week in its door-to-door campaign for the USO. Announcement of the results of the Legion's campaign will be made next week, Pettibone said.

Outstanding gifts yesterday included $5,000 from the Union Carbide and Carbon corporation; $1,500 from Hales Charitable Fund; $1,200 from the Chicago Jewelers association; $1,000 from Casper's Tin Plate company and employés; $801 from Henry C. Lytton & Sons; $736 from the Signal Corps of the United States army, and $685 from the Construction and General Laborers district council of Chicago.

Collections for the USO drive are being taken up nightly at the Gene Autry Flying A Stampede now showing in Soldiers' field and at the White Sox ball park.

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

Before a defender can intelligently follow the rule to "lead up to weakness" he must have a clear idea of just what constitutes "weakness." Actually, in its bridge sense, the word is not as easy to define as is generally supposed.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 club	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	*3 no tramp	[Final bid]

*A very optimistic raise.

West did not like the idea of opening a club after the suit had been bid on his left and chose, instead, to lead the spade jack. Declarer won in his own hand and led a low heart to dummy's king. East won and returned the three of clubs, thus succeeding in making two errors in one play. First, he should not have led a club at all. With five spades in his hand, one sure heart entry, and a reasonable chance of a diamond entry, East should have concentrated on the suit his partner had providentially opened.

Dummy's club suit, altho headed by only the jack, was not really "weakness," under the circumstances. East himself had only two clubs; what club combination could West have that would make the club lead desirable? Even if he had as good as the A Q x x x, dummy still would have two club stoppers, and surely it was a bit thick to hope for a better club holding in West's hand. Thus, while under certain circumstances dummy's club suit might be considered weakness and strongly invite attack, the fact that East could offer no coöperation in this attack should have deterred him from breaking the suit. But not only did East return the wrong suit, he also confused West fatally by leading the lower card of his doubleton. We shall see what effect this had.

Declarer won the club return with the ace and led a low diamond toward the king. West now had entirely the wrong conception of the hand. It looked to him as tho declarer had several heart tricks and possibly three spade trick [two were in sight]. I am not condoning West's decision to put up the diamond ace and return a low club, but the fact remains that East's line of defense had made matters obscure. After West put up the diamond ace the defenders did not do very well. Declarer won the club return and led a diamond to the king, dropping East's queen. A heart then was led from dummy. East put up the queen and returned a low heart. Declarer, after much thought, finessed against the ten spot and, when his nine held, cashed the jack, discarding a club from dummy. Two spade tricks then put West into a horrible squeeze. He could not keep his guarded diamond nine and also keep the club queen. Whichever suit he chose to discard, declarer had the rest of the tricks.

On the House

Since the old familiar rubber floor runner and mat is definitely out of the picture for the duration, we find an asphalt composition material already is being offered as a substitute. . . . A nonskid surface of corrugations or ribs is provided, and the material is easily handled and flat-lying. . . . It is said it will not hump, and it comes in rolls 36 inches wide and 30 feet long. . . . Corrugated floor mats for small areas also are available and corrugated treads for stairways.

Good Morning!

Without a doubt, the production of "Ten Gentlemen from West Point" was paved with good intentions—the best, in fact. . . . For the American people can't learn too much about the United States army training academy and they are avid for pictures featuring both West Point and Annapolis. . . . Knowing this, Twentieth Century-Fox essayed this film.

Which is, I regret to say, not a particularly creditable—or credible—one for long stretches. . . .

The first part I found highly ridiculous, both as to action and dialog. As the reels unroll, Laird Cregar's magnificent acting and commendable performances by other players throw a protective coloring over the whole, but at no time does direction rise above the mediocre.

Action hinges on the early history of the academy. . . . The "10 gentlemen" are 10 cadets whose determination, courage, and ingenuity are responsible for the survival of the institution, which, at the time of their arrival was about to be scrapped. Or so the story goes. . . .

The 10 cadets—and their instructor in military strategy—succeed in proving to the hard boiled commandant of the academy and his bombardiers, who don't believe that colleges can turn out fighting men, the fallacy of that notion. . . . They grit their teeth and reveal the ability to take everything Maj. Carter chooses to hand out in the way of discipline and gruelling exercise, and, when comes the Indian rebellion, the 10 gentlemen from West Point are gloriously in evidence. They save the life of Maj. Carter. . . . AND present to the world glowing evidence that America needs West Point.

The movie's finale is thrilling—for flashed on the screen are pictures of many of West Point's famous graduates, including that of Gen. Douglas MacArthur! . . . We all loved that!

See you tomorrow.

Father of Six Tells Parents: 'Be Lenient'

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The articles concerning fathers and children, which have appeared recently in this column, have met with an interesting and varied response from men. Some of these review their own childhood relationship with their father; others discuss their present relationship with their children.

Certainly a father who has gotten onto a fine working basis with his children, when those children number six, is worth listening to. Here is a letter from just such a man:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"I read your article in the issue of June 20 on it being unfair to hold children accountable for some accidents. I think it was a wonderful article. I always have felt just that way about children, that we should always consider 'why' the accident before we find too much fault. And that we always should try and look at things, accidents and other things as well, from the child's point of view as well as our own. We grownups would feel it very unjust if we were judged and, perhaps, punished without having a chance to explain. And certainly if children are blamed and scolded, or sometimes even punished for accidents, they are very likely to get that 'so what?' feeling.

"I have six children, the oldest son 20, the youngest a girl seven, and I know something of how they respond to a little understanding and sympathy. Of course, it always should be with a certain firmness which they learn to respect."

It is so very true that children respond to even a little understanding and sympathy. Those attitudes pay high dividends to the parents who hold them. And if they add to such treatment, a generous gesture with praise and a soft-pedaling of blame, they will be delighted with the harmony that results.

But if parents find it hard to remind themselves to be lenient and understanding when their children break or mar things about the house; if they find it difficult to softpedal the blame and utilize every possible occasion to bestow praise, they will be helped, I know, if they can keep this in mind; namely, that childhood is a period of constantly learning something new, and constantly learning what their grownups like and want. Get this conception well set in your mind, and understanding of your child will grow.

Palatine to Dedicate Its Fire Station Tomorrow

The new fire station in Palatine, a period structure simulating a two story Colonial home, will become village property when it is officially dedicated tomorrow afternoon by the Palatine firemen. Capt. John Mersch, president of the Illinois Firemen's association and Evanston's fire prevention chief, will give the principal address, and William Busse, county commissioner, and Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, also will speak. The fire station was built with funds raised by the Palatine firemen at their annual fall festivals.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Harlow of Beverly Hills announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol, to William R. Schmeiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Schmeiser of Aurora. Miss Harlow attended Monticello college and the Vogue School of Dress Design. Her fiancé was graduated from the University of Illinois.

Thru the Looking Glass

That wonderful slogan, "It's smart to be thrifty," might be changed these days to, "It's smart to be downright miserly." Every woman is asked to be a conservation expert and some of them are popping up with remarkable ideas. Here, for example, are a few some clever women worked out, with colorless nail polish as the money and material saver:

Keep your precious bits of metal scratchproof and shiny by painting them over with a coat of the colorless enamel. It will help save your good belt buckles, bag clasps, compacts, buttons, and shiny costume jewelry. All of these things are vanishing, and when the last move off the counters there won't be any more until the war is won. The girls in uniform—and the boys, too—are using transparent nail polish on their buttons to keep them shiny, by the way. It's a long lasting shine.

Shellac the splintery edges on desk and chair legs with colorless nail polish to save your hose. Go over the worn spots well so that the rough edges that have cost you so many stocking runs in the past won't have a chance. These are no times to be nonchalant about a run, even if you're Mrs. Millionbucks.

By all means use nail polish to stop a run if the tragedy occurs. This is now on the official list of advisory do's and don'ts in conserving hose.

Lacquer the labels of your medicine bottles so that in case of spills the ink won't run or blur beyond legibility. There's only one thing to do with an illegibly marked bottle in a medicine cabinet and that's to throw it out as a prevention measure! Nowadays, with some medicines and, in some communities, even doctor's services hard to obtain, that's frightfully wasteful. Keep the labels clean with polish.

All these, and more, are conservation tricks with colorless nail enamel. Who'd have thought that polish would one day be used to defeat priorities?

NAVY AND MARINE SCHOOL ON PIER BIGGEST OF KIND

Sends Skilled Mechanics Into Fighting Forces.

BY WARD WALKER.

Within whooping distance of the loop there's a lethal nest where thousands of sailors and marines live and are trained in skills that make them formidable to the enemy.

This training school, the largest of its type in the world, occupies Navy pier and a continuous stream of metalsmiths, aviation mechanics, and Diesel operators has been pouring from it into the armed forces since last May.

Except for some phases of physical training which are taught on the Oak street beach and in Grant park, a sailor could complete his six months at the school without ever leaving the pier.

Nearly Whole Life on Pier.

He and his thousands of buddies work, sleep, eat, and take a good share of their recreation within the confines of the pier, which until the war started was mainly warehouse and display space.

The amazing metamorphosis of the pier has been accomplished in jig time and is virtually complete.

Recent construction has included a new mess hall on the upper deck and a drillhouse which will be opened this week. But even while the construction work was under way, the training program continued at full speed.

Capt. Edwin A. Wolleson, USN retired, is the commanding officer of the school and Lieut. Comm. C. C. Caveny is the educational officer.

All Chosen for Aptitude.

All of the men received at the school are chosen for their intelligence and mechanical aptitude.

Most of the teachers were furnished by Chicago vocational schools thru the coöperation of the board of education. Many of them have been absorbed by the navy and it is expected that all of them eventually will be enlisted.

The sailor's day starts at 5:30 a. m. and ends shortly after 6 p. m., when he finishes evening chow. Most of the day is spent mastering his trade, but he has at least two hours of physical training during the day.

Under the navy physical fitness program, the sailors are taught that peculiar mixture of ju-jitsu and wrestling that spells trouble in hand to hand combat.

The first aim is to keep the men in tiptop physical condition. No effort is made to turn out sport champions.

Course for Air Machinist's Mate.

The course for an aviation machinist's mate consists of:

Drafting and simple arithmetic, blinker and semaphore signaling, hand tool and bench work, rope and fabric technique, cable splicing, airplane wheels and brakes, propellers, plane structure, airplane electrical equipment and accessories, gunnery [including three hours a week of skeet shooting], and airplane engines.

The metalsmiths also take the drafting, arithmetic, and signaling, and then branch into sheet metal work, welding, and metal refinishing.

When the men have completed their courses, they have a comprehensive knowledge of their trades and are qualified to practice them in civilian life as well as in the navy.

BRIDE'S POISON DEATH IN FLAT OF SUITOR IS PROBED

Sheffield avenue police yesterday were investigating the apparent suicide of Mrs. Anna Jasas, 31 years old, whose body was found in the apartment of a former suitor, Oscar Strom, 48 years old, at 728 Briar place, 10 days after she had remarried her former husband, Frank Jasas, of 915 West 32d street. An autopsy revealed that the woman had swallowed a quantity of poison. Strom told Acting Captain John O'Malley of the Sheffield avenue station that Mrs. Jasas had swallowed the poison after a drinking party, and that he and his brother, Paul, of Stephenson, Mich., who was in the apartment with them, had given her an antidote and put her in bed. Strom is being held for an inquest this morning.

Twelve others, also colored, were discharged. Raymond Taylor, 45 years old, who was arrested while accepting bets in front of 223 North Clark street, also was fined $5. Seven others, arrested in bookie raids, were dismissed.

Auto Owners Are Warned to Buy $5 Federal Tags

A warning that all car owners obtain their $5 automobile use tags before Aug. 1 was issued yesterday by Carter H. Harrison, United States collector of internal revenue. Harrison said that prior to Aug. 1 the tags can be purchased in all postoffice stations and substations. Car owners who do not have them after the deadline will be arrested, he said, and subject to $25 fine or 30 days in jail or both.

SENATORS RAP PAY ROLL LEVY AS DOUBLE TAX

Taft and Clark Differ with Treasury.

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—A house approved proposal to deduct advance payments on income taxes from the 1943 pay checks of wage earners drew vigorous criticism before the senate finance committee today but was stoutly defended by the treasury experts.

Senators Robert A. Taft [R., O.] and Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] contended the wage deduction provision, made a part of the $6,271,000,000 revenue bill by the house at the treasury's suggestion, constituted a "double tax" on the ordinary citizen.

As approved by the house, the deduction would be 5 per cent of all salary on wages above certain basic exemptions.

Adds Up to 24 Per Cent.

Taft said the deduction, combined with the 19 per cent normal and surtax rates which the new bill would impose on the individual, would boost tax payments to a rate of 24 per cent in 1943.

Conceding that this was a severe jolt for the person who had been paying much lower rates under the present law, Randolph Paul, assistant treasury secretary, said the treasury regarded the collection levy as "definitely important" in its battle against inflation.

The employers would pay the money over to the treasury each quarter, thus speeding the government's receipt of funds due it on individual income taxes. The amount thus deducted from an individual's salary during the year would be credited as already paid to the treasury and subtracted from the amount due in 1944 on his regular income tax.

Affects $11 Weekly Salaries.

A table of exemptions would make this collection levy apply on all single persons receiving $11 a week or more and all married persons, without children, paid $26 weekly or more. In the case of married persons, an additional $8.50 of salary would be free from the tax for each dependent.

Starting at 5 per cent on Jan. 1, 1943, the levy — which would apply also to dividends and interest—would bring to the treasury $1,250,000,000 in advance payments the first year, Paul estimated. The collection levy would become 10 per cent on Jan. 1, 1944, with a yield estimated at $2,500,000,000.

Although Paul pointed out that this was not an additional tax but merely advance collection on incomes, Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] said the net effect was to boost the treasury's immediate income by $2,500,000,000 until such time as the regular income tax payments were all brought within the advance payment schedule.

BRITISH INCOME TAXES LEVIED ON 10,500,000 PERSONS

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, July 24.—Ten and a half million Britons are paying income taxes. The number not paying a tax—mainly in the $500 to $1,000 income class—is 4,500,000, compared with 6,000,000 in 1939.

There still are as many millionaires, treasury returns showing that 100 persons still earn more than $400,000 yearly, but, whereas in 1939 they paid $50,000,000 in taxes, now they pay $70,000,000 yearly. Three hundred persons earn between $200,000 and $400,000; 1,000 between $100,000 and $200,000, and 103,600 between $8,000 and $100,000. These classes pay one billion 230 million dollars in taxes, compared with $750,000,000 in 1939.

The total income now assessed for tax in all classes is 17 billion dollars and the tax paid is $334,000,000, compared with one billion 200 million dollars and $40,000,000 respectively in 1939.

Army Ships Thousands of Cots to Stevens Hotel

Army cots — thousands of them — began to pour into the Stevens hotel yesterday in anticipation of the day when khaki will be the dominant color in the huge hostelry's well-dressed guest roster. The cots, which will replace all double beds, are being stored in the hotel's exhibition hall together with bedding, mattresses, and pillows accompanying them. Army officers at the Stevens said that the shipment of cots will continue to arrive at the hotel for several days.

GIB SELLERS' 137 LEADS IN TAM O' SHANTER OPEN

BYRON NELSON HOLDS SECOND PLACE WITH 138

Heafner and Metz Shoot 139.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Gilbert Sellers, a chunky, casual party known as Gib to the home folks in Arkansas, yesterday introduced himself to Chicagoans by taking the 36 hole lead in the $15,000 Tam o' Shanter Open Golf tournament. Sellers, a 33 year old professional now stationed at Walled Lake, Mich., had sent his card in Thursday with a first round of 68 that left him one stroke out of the lead. In mid-afternoon yesterday, Mr. Sellers lounged home with a 69 for the 137 that identified him formally, and gave him a one stroke advantage over the field of 85 low scorers who enter today's third round. Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., winner of the championship last year, is in second place with 138 after a 71 yesterday.

Mr. Sellers made himself at home and adjourned to the cool of the clubhouse, there to await the advent of such artists as Nelson, Ben Hogan, and Dick Metz. He was secure in the knowledge that Lawson Little, co-holder of the first round lead with Nelson off a 67, had gone for a 73, no thanks to a six on the par four 18th, Lawson's first bogey in 36 holes. Gib's 137 moved him up ahead of Clayton Heafner, the large one time candy-maker from Linville, N. C., who whipped up a 69 to take the early lead with 139.

Scharlau Matches Little.

Little's 140 was presently matched by young Herman Scharlau, Sandy Armour's assistant in Bloomington, Ill., who bounced in with a 69. Metz, who won the third Chicago Open at Tam o' Shanter two years ago, couldn't find any such elegant 31 as that last nine of Thursday, but did submit a neat 70 to tie Heafner for third place at 139.

It was up to Hogan and Nelson to disturb Sellers, and the crowd that rotated between the two old Texas pals finally chose Hogan, off the 32, four under par, with which he went out. Hogan, who was four shots away from Nelson and Little after the first round, picked up three shots with an eagle at the 485 yard second, where Nelson presently came down with a six after a visit to the water.

Nelson Comes Back on Ninth.

A birdie at the 10th left Hogan five under par, and the crowd began to wonder if perchance there might be the makings of another Hale America 62. There wasn't. Ben finished with a 37 for a 69 and a 140 tie with Little and Scharlau, due chiefly to a terrible drive off the 375 yard 17th tee. It barely escaped the branches of a tree on the right and wound up on the lip of the bunker back of the 16th green. His recovery didn't travel more than 50 yards, and after reaching the back edge of the green he took three from there for an ugly six.

That left Nelson, and Byron couldn't come back from that watery six on the second until the ninth, where he sent a wedge chip to within a yard for a birdie and an outgoing nine of 36. He got back to work on the next two holes, reaching the 475 yard 10th with a drive and a No. 6 iron for a birdie and running in a 20 foot putt for a deuce at No. 11. Two fine shots to the 435 yard 13th availed him nothing more than a bogey, the ball going over the green. He chipped to four feet for a redeeming birdie at the 500 yard 15th, but hooked his drive into the forestry

ALL-STAR VOTING ENDS TOMORROW; GREEN MOVES UP

Iowa Full Back Passes Big Nine Rivals.

Australia Votes

TWENTY-EIGHT votes for All-Star players were received yesterday from United States soldiers in Australia. They were cast for Marquette university candidates.

BY ARCH WARD.

The rush of ballots as the All-Star football poll nears the deadline has brought important changes in the potential personnel of the team that will face the Chicago Bears at Soldiers' field Aug. 28 in Chicago's ninth annual charity game.

Bill Green of Iowa has moved into first place at full back, where he leads four of his former Big Nine conference rivals—Jack Graf of Ohio State, Bob Westfall of Michigan, Bob Sweiger of Minnesota, and Don Clawson of Northwestern. The only other candidate with a chance to displace a Western conference player at that position is Pete Layden of Texas.

Bill Dudley of Virginia is the man the other half backs have to beat for the No. 1 ranking at that position. The Richmond, Va., News yesterday turned in 12,342 votes for Dudley. He is running particularly strong in returns from Alabama and Louisiana, a result, no doubt, of his brilliant work in the East-West game in New Orleans last New Year's day. Frank Murray, Dudley's coach, who is vacationing in Milwaukee, predicts that Dudley will live up to the fans' condence in him, if he is chosen for the starting lineup.

Frankowski Moves Up.

Ray Frankowski of the University of Washington has taken the lead at guard for the first time. The former Hammond, Ind., athlete, who is studying at Navy pier to become an aviation machinist's mate, received 25,727 votes in the Gary, Ind., Post-Tribune poll yesterday. Pete Mandich, Tulane center, and Eddie Herbert, Indiana half back, also scored heavily in the Gary returns.

The poll will close at midnight tomorrow. No votes brought to THE TRIBUNE after that hour will be counted. Votes sent thru the mail must bear a postmark prior to midnight Sunday.

While fans thruout the nation are making final efforts to elect their favorites to the All-Stars' starting lineup, ticket customers are keeping pace. All $4.40 and $3.30 seats have been sold. Fewer than 3,000 remain at $2.20.

The special campaign for $100,000 for army emergency reilef is nearing its goal.

Governors Aid Campaign.

There will be at least two governors sitting in the west stand in the 50 yard line section reserved for those who have donated $100 or more to army emergency relief. Gov. Dwight Green was one of the first Illinois fans to send $200 for the fund. Gov. Julius P. Heil of Wisconsin yesterday contributed $500.

Al Blozis of Georgetown continues to lead all eastern players in the poll. He has been in the No. 1 spot at tackle almost from the opening day. Blozis, who is 6 feet 7½ inches tall and weighs 225 pounds, was rejected by the army because of his height.

Notre Dame this morning is the only university with two representatives among the top eleven. Bernie Crimmins is in second place at guard and John Kovatch leads the field at end. Mal Kutner of Texas would be the other starting end, if today's standings held up thru the final avalanche of votes.

Vince Banonis of the University of Detroit has regained first place among the centers. There are five others, however, who have an excellent chance of displacing him. They are Darold Jenkins of Missouri, Vic Lindskog of Stanford, Bill Diehl of Iowa, Bob Ingalls of Michigan, and Al Demao of Duquesne.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Jake Wade, the southpaw who whistles whether at work or play, used the Comiskey park lights last night as guidance to a defeat of the Athletics as well as a triumph for the White Sox and a recently dead arm. The Carolina string bean, given employment at his own solicitation by James Dykes six weeks ago, turned out a 2 to 1 success and made it all the more intriguing for 7,492 spectators by refusing to be nosed out, despite two innings in which six hits were distributed equally by the enemy.

The Sox, altho they scored their third verdict in their last four efforts, weren't especially violent against the pitching of Dick Fowler, but the latter was betrayed by his mates. Fowler yielded only seven hits, the same as did Wade, and on his own performance should have gone on indefinitely as a shutout worker. But, after five runless innings, the Mackmen became entangled in bad fielding plays and the Sox eked out enough runs to offset a lone tally scored against Wade in the ninth.

Jake Has Four Hitless Innings.

Wade southpawed so efficiently that he was not reached for a hit until Pete Suder led off with a single at the opening of the fifth. The next safety didn't show until Dick Siebert opened the seventh with a single. He died at third thru taking chances on Wally Moses' throw on a single by Bill Knickerbocker. That made the second out.

Bob Swift also singled but the incident closed happily on Dario Lodigiani's scoop of Fowler's grounder. Then, in the ninth, Siebert and Suder singled with none out, the former taking third and scoring later on Swift's fly which recorded the second out. Pinch Batter Crash Davis also singled for the third hit of the inning, but Mike Kreevich fouled to Taft Wright and the lights were turned off.

Both Runs Are Gifts.

Kuhel bunted a ball past Fowler to start the sixth and beating it for a hit was simple. Appling forced Kuhel, but made up for the lapse by stealing second. Appling's bargain method of travel continued as he went to third on Moses' infield out and he went on from there in the same cut rate style. Knickerbocker fumbled Wright's grounder, so Luke scored.

With one out in the Chicago seventh Kolloway sent his tall fly to right, but just as Elmer Valo reached up to make the catch, he stumbled over a four leaf clover or something. Eventually he located the ball close to the brick wall and in the meantime Kolloway had progressed as far as third. Hoag hoisted a fly about 30 feet back of third and McNair made the catch. Kolloway tore for home instantly and he should have been out, but Bob Swift obligingly dropped the throw so the run counted.

Cooper's Infected Molar Pulled to Aid Ailing Arm

Boston, Mass., July 24 (AP).—Morton Cooper, star right hander of the St. Louis Cardinals, had an abscessed molar removed today in the hope, he said, the infected tooth was responsible for his current sore arm. Cooper, who has 12 victories and four defeats, has suffered with acute arm trouble during his major league career. Recurrence of the elbow trouble, which necessitated a midseason operation last year, caused his removal in the eighth inning of a game last Sunday against Brooklyn.

Classic Favorite and a Long Shot

Shut Out (left), with his jockey, Eddie Arcaro, is the 8 to 5 favorite in the $89,750 Classic stakes at Arlington Park today and Bolus (right), a late entry, is the longest shot in the field at 75 to 1. Both Arcaro and Lloyd Robbins, Bolus' trainer, seem to be trying unsuccessfully to elicit some advance information on the race.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

THE Chicago Cardinals will play two Sunday night games in Comiskey park this season, the first on Sept. 20 against the Detroit Lions and the second on Oct. 4 against the Green Bay Packers. . . . Owner Charles Bidwill got the idea from the fine Sunday turnouts at the Blackhawks' hockey games. . . . Leo Durocher denies he has barred all newspaper men from the Dodger bathhouses. . . . Just one in Chicago and one in New York, he says. . . .

Fritz Crisler.

Charles Bidwill.

Michigan's football record under Fritz Crisler is 25 victories, five defeats, and two ties. . . . One more winning race and Greg Rice will have equaled, numerically at least, the feat of Joe DiMaggio, who hit safely in 56 consecutive games, and that of Ben Hogan, who finished in the money in 56 straight golf tournaments. . . . California's boxing commission waived a rule the other night to permit Jack Butler to fight twice on the same card in San Francisco, a necessary evil, they say, attributable to the scarcity of preliminary boxers, who can earn more money in the shipyards. . . . Butler, a Los Angeles boy, lost his first bout, but came back after the main event to win his second. . . . Even mild mannered Johnny Corriden is catching the rowdy spirit of the Brooklyn Dodgers. . . . For the first time in his career he was chased from the premises the other day by Umpire George Barr. . . . Lee Artoe, the Bears' big tackle, who sold all his fishing equipment for 30 cents at Delafield, Wis., last summer after a couple of fruitless expeditions, is making a comeback this year with an entirely new outfit and a different approach toward the sport. . . .

President J. J. Lyons of the borough of the Bronx says there is no such thing as the Bronx cheer. . . . He says it is a vulgar noise imported by folks from outside the Bronx. . . . Stanford and the University of San Francisco have coöperated in their efforts to elect certain players to the Chicago All-Star football squad. . . . George Godfrey, Negro contender for the heavyweight championship in the '20s, has opened a shoe shine stand in Los Angeles. . . . Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom is branching out with a new night spot in San Francisco. . . . C. Aubrey Smith, Hollywood character actor, led the first English cricket team that invaded South Africa 55 years ago. . . . The presence of Stanford and Michigan on Notre Dame's home football schedule in addition to the Iowa Seahawks, Georgia Tech, and Northwestern has resulted in the heaviest early season sale of tickets in Notre Dame history. . . . Only four Northwestern players who started the final game of the 1941 football season will return this fall. . . . They are Otto Graham, half back; Nick Burke, guard, and Bob Motl and Bud Hasse, ends.

†Valdina Farm entry.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Eleven horses are booked to go today in the Classic stakes at Arlington Park, a race which will be worth $89,750 if all start. Before a crowd of 45,000, a band of record breaking thorobreds and a crew of exceptionally clever riders will engage in a struggle that should be in keeping with the distinguished traditions of this event.

With Shut Out, Valdina Orphan, Rounders, and With Regards running at one another, the race will call for a magnificent judgment of pace on the part of jockeys. And the boys have it. Eddie Arcaro will be aboard Shut Out, watching every move Carroll Bierman makes with Valdina Orphan—and both will be eyeing Johnny Longden on With Regards. Meanwhile Jack Westrope will be ready to go with Rounders if his stablemate falters under the pace. And George Woolf will be swinging along on Louis B. Mayer's dark horse, King's Abbey.

The race will go on without Alsab, as had been expected. His owner, Al Sabath of Chicago, decided not to file an overnight entry because the colt has not returned fully to competitive form after recovering from a splint.

A Riding Duel in Prospect.

Before the run of a mile and a quarter is ended the crowd may see some of the most splendid riding generalship ever displayed at Arlington. The horses already have proved they have the speed to smash records which have stood for many years. And there's no question that the riders know what to do with these horses to loose that speed at the right moment.

In winning the Dwyer stakes at Aqueduct, Valdina Orphan went the mile and a quarter in 2:01 2-5—which ranks among the half dozen fastest times for that distance in all the history of racing. A couple of weeks later, Shut Out and Valdina Orphan engaged in a neck and neck duel in the Yankee handicap at Suffolk Downs, the former winning in track record time—1:55 2-5 for the mile and three-sixteenths.

The last doubts that Valdina Orphan could carry his speed over the mile and a quarter were dispelled in those races. That question now is being asked about With Regards. He ran the fastest mile of the Arlington meeting—1:35 3-5—in beating Valdina Orphan by a nose in the Classic trial.

A Test for Johnny Longden.

There's no doubt that With Regards will be out there running for the first mile today—and it will be in the last quarter that the big question will be put to him: Can he stay or can't he? He'll have an eight pound advantage over Shut Out and Valdina Orphan and that will mean a lot near the finish.

In this connection With Regards' rider, Johnny Longden, will have to use a nicety of judgment. If he can steal a lead suddenly without too much effort—such as by a break of luck on the clubhouse turn—he'll be

WARD, WEHRLE GAIN FINAL OF AMATEUR GOLF

Corporal Triumphs Over Stolarik, 6 and 5.

Corp. Marvin [Bud] Ward of Spokane, Wash., and Wilford Wehrle of Racine, Wis., two of amateur golf's most determined and aggressive young men, will clash in the 36 hole final of the All-American Amateur golf tournament at Tam o' Shanter today in what may well be the last national gathering of the simon pures for the duration.

Judged by the conclusiveness of their victories in yesterday's semi-final matches, the Ward-Wehrle match today takes on all the appearance of a battle to the finish. Corp. Ward, who doesn't seem to warm up to his work until the post-luncheon round, came with a rush to turn aside Mike Stolarik, Great Lakes storekeeper, 6 and 5, while Wehrle was taking the measure of Johnny Holmstrom, the ex-Illini from Rockford, 5 and 4.

Each Has Impressive Record.

In spite of their frequent appearances in the same tournaments today's finalists never have come out fighting on the same tee. Both boast impressive records. The west coast infantryman is a two time winner of the National Amateur and twice winner of the Western Amateur. Wehrle won the Western Amateur in 1937, was a quarter-finalist in the British Amateur the same year, and won the Chicago district title during his brief sojourn as a resident of these parts.

The fact that at long last these two tournament wise young men will finally come face to face is in itself a gallery pleaser. That the meeting finds both playing at the top of their game only serves to add zest to the affair.

Records are Impressive.

Take the case of Ward for example. In his third round victory over Earl Stewart of Dallas, Tex., former intercollegiate champion, he was even par for the 23 hole distance. In conquering Johnny Lehman of Chicago in the quarter-finals he was five under perfect figures and in yesterday's triumph over Stolarik he was one under par for the 31 holes which the match went.

Wehrle's performance is no less impressive. In beating Alex Welsh of Rockford, 3 and 2, in the third round, he was even par. He went four under against Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., in the quarter-finals and yesterday he was even par for 32 holes against Holmstrom.

The 36 hole medal scores of Ward and Wehrle were good enough to qualify them for the Open field the rest of the way, but Ward said last night he had withdrawn from Open competition.

Today's 36 hole final will get under way at 9:30 a. m.

off the 16th green and wound up with a 71 that gave him second place at 138.

Heading all the amateurs was bemuscled Frank Stranahan, the Toledo youth who hails from Nelson's home club of Inverness. Stranahan, ousted in the quarter-finals of the All-American Amateur Thursday afternoon, added a 69 to his 72 of Thursday morning. He occupies the 141 bracket with Chick Harbert of Battle Creek, Mich., and Les Kennedy of Cambridge, Mass. Other leading amateurs include Pvt. Pat Abbott of Lowry field, Colorado, Western Amateur champion, with 143, and John Lehman of Olympia Fields, co-medalist, and Art Doering of Medinah, each with par 144.

Three Tied at 142.

Tied at 142 are Jim Milward, Madison, Wis., pro; Emil Mashie, Onwentsia greenskeeper, and Gene Sarazen of Brookfield Center, Conn. The 144 bloc includes George M. Three of the seven Negro professionals who qualified for the Open proper made the grade for the final 36 holes. They are Calvin Searles of Chicago, with 72—74—146; Howard Wheeler of Los Angeles, the tall gent with the cross-handed grip, who had a 72—75—147, and Zeke Hartsfield of Atlanta, Ga., who put together a 73 and a 76 for his 149.

The qualifying limit for the stretch run of 36 holes, 18 today and 18 tomorrow, proved to be 150. Seventy-six professionals and eleven amateurs equaled or bettered that figure. Ed Oliver, Jimmy Thomson, Denny Shute, Johnny Goodman, Chick Evans, Gus Moreland, and Robert [Pat] Ball, National Negro Open title holder.

On Thursday, he entered his name for the $100 prize to be awarded for the most spectacular shot of the tourney by holing a full niblick shot for an eagle two at the 375 yard seventeenth.

Zale, Abrams May Meet in Chicago Bout

Tony Zale, middleweight champion of the world, is expected to defend his title in Chicago early in September in a rematch with Georgie Abrams, whom he defeated for the championship eight months ago. The proceeds of the title fight, if the plan holds up, will be given to the USO, Sheldon Clark, chairman of the Illinois Athletic commission, said yesterday.

Commander Gene Tunney is behind the move to give Chicago a title fight, Clark said. While no official proposition has been placed before the commission, the members of the Illinois board are hopeful that the bout can be arranged.

Both Are Sailors.

Zale and Abrams are in the navy. Zale now is stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Training station. Both men are enlisted as specialists, first class, in the group of physical training men headed by Commander Tunney.

Under present regulations, it is said, there should be no difficulty permitting the men to fight in Chicago. Mike Jacobs, New York fight promoter, who has held a promotional contract on Zale's services since the former Golden Gloves boxer won the middleweight title, is expected to agree.

Wrigley Field Available.

"I understand that Jacobs does not wish to make any money on such a fight if the profits are given to army or navy relief, or to the USO," Chairman Clark said yesterday. "It is likely the fight will be held early in September in a Chicago baseball park."

After Labor day Wrigley field will be vacant while the Cubs are on their eastern trip.

ST. PAUL DEALS GREAT LAKES NINE 9TH DEFEAT, 5-0

St. Paul, Minn., July 24 [Special].—The St. Paul Saints, eighth place team in the American association, blanked the Great Lakes Naval Training station nine, 5 to 0, tonight behind the five hit pitching of Clay Smith. Smith, one time Detroit Tigers' hurler, kept the Sailors well in check thruout, while the Saints, scoring a run in each of five innings, rapped Johnny Rigney, Fred Shaffer, and Russ Meers. The defeat was the Sailors' ninth in 55 games. Score:

Great Lakes	000	000	000—0
St. Paul	011	100	11*—5

Dodgers Drop Rowdy Play; Beat Pirates

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 24.—The Dodgers had little trouble beating the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6 to 4, in the twilight here tonight. It was so easy, in fact, that the Dodgers remained gentlemanly thruout.

To one who saw the bean ball spectacle between the Dodgers and the Cubs on July 15, the reserved behavior of the champs scarcely was believable. There may have been a reason for this, not apparent to the 10,232 who watched tonight's engagement.

When the Dodgers returned from the west the other day, they were called before a secret hearing conducted by Ford Frick, president of the National league, to give testimony about the hoodlum aspects of the Chicago game.

The Dodgers are said to have given themselves a clean slate in the entire affair. It was even reported the Dodgers had requested the hearing to tell what sinful boys the Cubs were. It became known today that Frick will haul in the Cubs when they arrive here Monday for their series with the Giants.

It is said the Cubs are prepared to show the Dodgers as something less than the innocents they profess to be. A picture printed in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE on July 16, showing Mickey Owen kicking high in the air in an obvious effort to spike Hi Bithorn will be presented in evidence, it is said.

The hearing is expected to do much toward increasing the safety of the four game series between the Dodgers and the Cubs which will open Thursday evening.

Lee to Make First Start of '42 Today

Thornton Lee, the White Sox lefty who won 22 games last season will make his 1942 starting debut at 2 o'clock this afternoon in Comiskey park. Lee picked up an arm ailment in training camp and since then has confined his activities to various cures and a couple of relief rôles. Connie Mack will start Phil Marchildon in the second of the series.

Manager Jim Dykes says that when the first of September arrives to relieve the 25 player restriction he will get busy showing off some of the boys now out on lease to the minors. His especial concern is outfielders.

DO YOU WANT TO BUY REAL ESTATE?

If you are looking for values in property, you will be far more likely to find them in the real estate columns of the Tribune want ad section. Because property owners and real estate men get better results, they place more real estate want advertising in the Tribune than they place in all other Chicago newspapers combined. See the real estate column in today's Tribune for offerings of apartment buildings, stores, farms, and factories.

mighty glad to take it. But if he has to get it at the expense of a long hard duel with Valdina Orphan he may be content to bide his time and not try to run away in the first mile.

Shut Out Likes a Route.

There never has been any question of Shut Out's route running ability. He was right in his element winning the Belmont stakes at a mile and a half. Previously he had won the Kentucky Derby and the Blue Grass stakes and subsequently he scored in the Yankee handicap to take the lead in the struggle for the 3 year old championship.

Unlike many route runners he's able to stay fairly close to a fast early pace. Eddie Arcaro will have to keep him right up there today because he won't have quitting horses in front of him if With Regards and Valdina Orphan are out there on top. If Shut Out gets too far back he may never catch those others.

ARMY APPROVES FOOTBALL GAMES ON WEST COAST

Los Angeles, Cal., July 24 [Special].—The fate of college football this fall was answered in satisfactory fashion today by Gov. Culbert L. Olson when he announced that Lieut. Gen. John L. DeWitt, chief of the western defense command, had granted permission for the playing of scheduled games. The governor said Gen. DeWitt made no mention of limiting crowds.

His announcement concerned only nine colleges and universities in California that had presented comprehensive reports to the army thru a committee of Pacific coast conference representatives, but the governor was quick to say that approval undoubtedly would be forthcoming for the other schools as soon as they had filed similar reports with Gen. DeWitt.

The nine schools listed in Gov. Olson's announcement today were Southern California, the University of California at Los Angeles, Stanford, California, Pomona, San Jose State, Occidental, Whittier and San Francisco State.

ANTI-GAMBLING DRIVE REVIVED BY JUROR'S ACTIVITY

New Witnesses Are Called Before Grand Jury.

The forthright anti-crime campaign of Adolph S. Helquist, a member of the grand jury who single handedly caused the seizure of slot machines in three suburban taverns Monday night, brought official action yesterday. State's Attorney Courtney and his first assistant, Wilbert F. Crowley, appeared before the grand jury to commend Helquist and to outline further steps to be undertaken against syndicate gambling. Later Crowley announced that several witnesses expected to shed light on the industry had been summoned before the grand jury.

Adolph S. Helquist.

Witness Ordered to Return.

The first of these witnesses, Rocco De Grazio of Melrose Park, was taken before the jury in the afternoon, questioned for half an hour, and ordered to return next Wednesday. Others summoned to appear next week are Charles Kirgis and James Emory of Chicago Heights, Joseph Korngold, operator of the El Patio club of Cicero, and John Perry of Calumet City.

The grand jury also sent an invitation to Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien to appear before it at 10 a. m. Monday. No official explanation for the invitation was given, but it was presumed that the jurors wished to ask the sheriff why a grand juror could find slot machines so easily. James Fleming, chief of the county highway police, also was summoned for Monday.

Grand Juror Helquist, a loop insurance broker who lives at 12717 Elm street, Blue Island, would not discuss his crime crusade yesterday, but his efforts won praise from Prosecutor Crowley.

Informs Sheriff O'Brien.

"The discovery of slot machines operating again outside the city limits was no surprise to the state's attorney's office," said Crowley. "On July 10 we sent a letter to Sheriff O'Brien informing him that the machines were back, and yesterday we notified him again. The syndicate appears to have placed a few machines in various parts of the county, and is waiting to see how much police activity is generated."

Crowley said State's Attorney Courtney would permit no resumption of gambling, and that prosecution would not be permitted to rest with the sheriff and his force. It was learned that Courtney's men have been active in the southern part of Cook county since Juror Helquist's foray on Monday, and since then no slot machines have been operating. A similar survey on the west side showed no gambling places open there.

Oust Members, Mayor Urged.

On another gambling front, the bookmaking industry, the Chicago Crime commission took action yesterday. Bertram J. Cahn, president of the commission, sent a letter to Mayor Kelly pressing again for removal of the members of the city civil service commission who recently reinstated four policemen of the gambling detail accused of inefficiency, neglect of duty and making false reports.

Cahn's letter directed the mayor's attention to the Illinois law relating to the civil service commission, which provides that one civil service commissioner shall be appointed "in every year" by the mayor for a term of three years.

The term of Joseph P. Geary, chairman of the commission, expired June 30, 1940, and the term of Wendell Green, another commissioner, expired June 30, 1941, said the letter to the mayor. Cahn also cited the law's provision that not more than two members of the commission shall be members of the same political party, and pointed out that Green, who was appointed as a Republican, has severed his relationship with that party.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—STAG LINE TAKES A SHINE

WILL IN RHYME LEAVES $10,000 ESTATE TO NIECE

Unpoetic Codicil Cuts Off Mate.

In a poetic will and a pointed but unpoetic codicil, Mrs. Cecile M. Barnes, 1100 North La Salle street, who died June 18 at the age of 52 years, left her estate, amounting to $10,000, to her niece, Judy E. Courtney of Miami, Fla., and cut off her husband, William F. Barnes Jr., without a penny.

The will and codicil were filed for probate yesterday by Attorney John E. Harrington, who said the documents were the only ones Mrs. Barnes left disposing of her belongings. She died in St. Luke's hospital after an operation. The last known address of the husband from whom she was separated, Harrington said, was 5107 Kenmore avenue.

"She'll Do What Is Best."

The poetic will read:

I'm not getting old—at least so I'm told——
But I have thot oft' and do still,
That while in my prime I should take the time
To form and make out my last will.
So, therefore, here goes, for nobody knows
Just how or when one may go
From life's brilliant light to death's somber night,
I want to be ready, and so
Let this make it clear that Judy E. Courtney,
My niece, shall come by all things
That I may possess, be it more, be it less,
When life's time for me folds its wings.
Sole executrix she, without bond, without fee,
I wish to make that very clear.
She'll do what is best; then my soul shall rest
In peace.

The will was dated March 12, 1942, but the pointed codicil, dated June 10, only eight days before her death, read:

"William F. Barnes Jr., is to have nothing belonging to me, not a penny nor token, having done nothing for me in all the years of our marriage —and less since!"

Judge Sees Ironic Twist.

But there is an ironic twist, Probate Judge John F. O'Connell said. Under the law, Barnes may renounce the will and as husband, obtain his dower rights—consisting of all the personal property, including cash, and one-third of the real estate.

Attorney Harrington said the Barneses were married about 14 years ago and separated shortly thereafter.

Springfield, Ill., July 24 (AP).—Seven men indicted on charges of conspiring to defraud the war department by collusive bidding on ordnance plant supplies pleaded innocent today when arraigned before Federal Judge Charles G. Curry, Robert Simmons, and Frank Simmons, officials of the Simmons company, and R. Scott Roland, John C. Gentry, and J. D. Hennessey, sales representatives of the Standard Printing company. SEES GIRL, GOES AWOL; JAILED ON WEDDING EVE

Today was to have been the day that Pvt. Stanley J. Zdeb, 22 years old, 1121 Willard court, married Genevieve Sierdzki, 16, of 935 Noble street.

But instead of a wedding, Zdeb was in a military guardhouse cell and his tearful bride-to-be put away the trousseau she had purchased for the marriage in Holy Trinity church, Milwaukee avenue and Noble street.

The soldier was arrested in the church Thursday night on a charge of desertion while rehearsing for the wedding. Detective William Devenny and Frank Hanley of the Racine avenue station said that Zdeb, a member of the 8th quartermaster corps, Camp Lee, Va., received an eight day furlough April 28 but never returned.

"When I looked into Genevieve's eyes I couldn't go back," Zdeb told the policemen. "So I told her I was assigned to an officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan. It was love in the springtime."

Genevieve, who pleaded in vain with the officers to permit her to marry Zdeb before he was turned over to the military authorities, said she'd wait for him.

U. OF C. DONATES STRUCTURE FOR USO CLUBHOUSE

A three story building at 975 East 60th street was donated by the University of Chicago last night for use as a branch USO clubhouse.

In the new center sailors attending the naval radio and signal course on the campus, coast guardsmen from the Jackson park station and soldiers stationed at the 124th Armory in Jackson park may play ping-pong, write letters, lounge in a library, prepare snacks in the kitchenette and press their clothes in the pressing room.

The building was turned over to the USO by Emery T. Filbey, university vice president, in ceremonies witnessed by 50 service officials and community leaders.

FREED ON CHARGE OF PRESCRIBING 'INDIAN REMEDY'

Acting Judge Russell W. Keeney in County court yesterday dismissed charges of practicing medicine without a license against William H. Wood, 1754 West 54th place. Miss Lorraine Johnson, investigator for the state department of registration and education, told the court that Wood informed her she had liver and gall bladder trouble and sold her two bottles of a "Mexican Indian remedy" for $6. When Wood denied making a diagnosis the judge suggested lie detector tests, but the court was informed that the state's attorney's office was opposed to such tests for witnesses before a ruling was made.

Expect a Light Vote in Primary Today.

3 EX-GOVERNORS RUNNING FOR U. S. SENATE IN TEXAS

Austin, Tex., July 24 [Special].—Three former Texas governors are battling for the Democratic nomination for United States senator in tomorrow's primary election. Unless one of them obtains a majority of all votes cast, a run-off primary between the two high men will be held a month from now.

The contestants are colorful W. Lee [Pass the Biscuits, Pappy] O'Daniel, now finishing out the unexpired term of the late Sen. Morris Sheppard; James V. Allred, who resigned a lifetime job as a federal judge to make the race, and Dan Moody, whose four year administration of the governor's office a few years back is recalled as an era of sound government.

Party candidates for governor and other state offices also will be chosen.

Stevenson Seeks Renomination.

Coke Stevenson, who stepped into the governor's chair from the lieutenant governorship when O'Daniel went to the senate, is opposed for the gubernatorial nomination by Hal Collins, hotel owner and dispenser of mineral water crystals, who has been conducting a joint campaign with O'Daniel.

Political observers believe that not more than 825,000 of the state's 1,303,000 qualified voters will go to the polls, and it is admitted the total may be much below this figure.

O'Daniel has carried on his campaign in his usual spectacular manner, accompanied by a hill billy band.

O'Daniel has been telling his audiences that in livening up his rallies he is following the same idea of creating good cheer which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt advanced when she wanted to employ a dancer in the national soldier entertainment program.

Foes Charge a Job Deal.

Allred is regarded generally as President Roosevelt's choice, altho there is no outward evidence that he or the administration have brought any pressure to bear in favor of his candidacy. In recent platform appearances, Allred has shown and read to his audiences a letter from the President accepting his resignation in which he is saluted as "My Dear Jimmy."

Charges have been made by Allred's opponents that his resignation from the bench was in accordance with an understanding that he will be reappointed if unsuccessful in the campaign. Allred has made much in recent speeches of President Roosevelt's recent nomination of Allan Hannay of Houston for the judicial vacancy.

Most of the labor vote is expected to go to Allred, but nevertheless scattered polls have indicated that Moody is a slightly stronger candidate.

INQUIRY BY FBI ORDERED IN TEXAS NEGRO LYNCHING

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—Attorney General Francis Biddle today ordered the federal bureau of investigation to investigate the death Monday of William Vinson, a Negro, in Texarkana, Tex., to determine whether it was a lynching in which mob members can be identified and prosecuted.

The justice department said Vinson was wounded while being captured as a suspect in the attempted rape of a white woman. He was taken to the Texarkana hospital and left without a guard, the department said.

A mob then took him from his bed, dragged him thru the streets behind an automobile, and hanged him, the statement said.

COURTNEY TALKS HOODLUM PURGE WITH PAINTERS

State's Attorney Courtney conferred yesterday with several officials of the Painters' District council on a program to eliminate hoodlums from locals of the organization. The fatal shooting last week of Arthur W. Wallace, secretary of the council, and Mrs. Loretta Youngblood, wife of a business agent, caused the prosecutor to call the conference.

Because L. P. Lindelof, international president of the union, was unable to attend because of illness, the conference lasted only a short time and the conferees will meet later. Courtney indicated he was pleased with the attitude of the union officers.

Wallace's widow, Edna, obtained letters of administration in Probate court empowering her to handle the estate of the slain unionist. A tentative value of $36,000 was placed on the estate, $20,000 of it in real estate. Mrs. Wallace, who lives at 1101 North Menard avenue, and a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Green, are the heirs.

BOOKIE RAIDERS HIT RESTAURANT IN LOOP AGAIN

A restaurant at 161 North Wabash avenue that had been closed for allegedly operating a handbook was raided again by police yesterday when Capt. Thomas J. Duffy said he saw bets being taken. Harry Gordon, 33 years old, 1509 South Drake avenue, was arrested, but every one else was told to leave. In a raid on a cigar store at 223 North Clark street, Edward Harris, 49, of 217 North Clark street, was arrested by Detectives Edward J. Kirby and Guy Willoughby, and a quantity of racing sheets were confiscated.

M. L. ANNENBERG WILLS PUBLISHING FIRMS TO FAMILY

Philadelphia, Pa., July 24 (AP).—M. L. Annenberg, publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer, bequeathed all his publishing properties to his widow, son, and seven daughters, it was disclosed today when his will was filed for probate.

The will disposes of property valued for probate at $100,000 and upwards. It directs that all stock of Triangle Publications, Inc., the chief Annenberg holding company, be retained as part of the estate.

Annenberg, who died Monday in Rochester, Minn., created two trusts, the principal composed of the stock of Triangle Publications, Inc., which controls the Inquirer and the numerous Annenberg magazines and racing publications.

COWBOY AUTRY GIVES THE SPUR TO BOND SALES

Gene Autry, the singing cowboy, unlimbered both his tonsils and his autographing arm yesterday to drum up sales of war bonds and stamps at Treasury corner, State and Van Buren streets.

Autry's rendition of "Jingle, Jangle, Jingle" and autographing of war stamp boutonnieres climaxed the loop parade sponsored by the treasury department. Also appearing with Autry were Municipal Judge Matthew D. Hartigan and John Gallagher, deputy administrator of the Illinois war savings staff.

Treasury officials said no estimate of bonds and stamps sold during the demonstration was made but said that every $1 boutonniere available at the corner—including several requisitioned from the lapels of treasury department officials—had been sold.

ILLINOIS IS SAFE FROM OUTBREAK OF CHILD BRIDES

War, with its upsurge in marriages, has brought to light many misconceptions concerning the marital laws, County Clerk Michael J. Flynn said yesterday. But one thing is certain, he added with a smile, there can be no child brides—nor bridegrooms—in Illinois under the law.

In Illinois, Flynn said, no girl may be married if she's under 16, either with or without her parents' consent; and no boy under 18 may marry, either with or without parents' consent.

Men over 21 and women over 18 may apply for marriage licenses, he said, without parents' consent, and may marry. A girl between 16 and 18 may marry but she must have her parents' consent; and a boy between 18 and 21 may get married but he must have his parents' consent.

"It is surprising how little people know about the marriage laws," Flynn said. "In almost every case where a girl is over 18 and under 21 the parents come in with the couple to get the license because they're under the impression she must have their consent. Often they come in with the boy, even when he's over 21, to be sure he gets it."

MEAT SHORTAGE MAY CONTINUE UNTIL OCTOBER

Hog-to-Pork Time Lag Cited.

Meat marketing authorities yesterday reported little likelihood of much easing of the current nation-wide meat shortage until late September or early October. Marketing of the largest stocks of hogs ever raised on United States farms will start early in the fall, but authorities explained that time is required to move the new meat into retail channels.

The three point program announced by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard—a reduction of lend-lease prices and purchases [largely pork products], subsidation of small packers, and establishment of price differentials favoring eastern markets—was expected by packers to ease their predicament.

If lend-lease purchases are slashed sharply, spokesmen for the meat industry said, it would be natural that larger supplies be available to consumers. Market observers disclosed, however, that most of the packers aldeary hold such large government contracts that filling them will require the major part of their output until the fall hog and cattle runs start.

Ceiling Variances Criticized.

Men in close touch with the meat situation maintain that no real relief for the meat shortage is in sight as long as there are inequalities in the federal price ceilings whereby some stores and some cities have lower ceilings than their neighbors.

Meanwhile, some members of the meat industry were predicting that the shortage of beef might be prolonged by the effects of the federal price ceilings at their outset. Many of the feeder cattle that normally would be marketed this fall were dumped on the markets at the time the price ceilings were put over the markets, it was explained.

Cattle feeders in the midwest normally come to the big central markets in September and October for beef calves which they take back to their feed lots to fatten. Usually they keep them on a scientific feeding schedule for six months to a year.

Besides causing the dumping of choice beef steers on the market before they were finished this year, marketing authorities asserted, the federal price ceilings will reduce the fattening operations considerably. As a result, less live stock by weight will be marketed and the quality will be inferior, when compared with normal.

Regional Meetings Called.

Meetings of meat packers in every section of the country are being arranged by the American Meat institute to discuss the problems caused by the federal price ceilings and the meat shortage, it announced yesterday.

The meetings are being called at the suggestion of the institute's Committee on Regional Packer Problems which met here. The institute said several proposals were discussed at the meeting at its general offices "which, in the opinion of the members of the committee, should be given careful consideration by the packers."

John C. Weigel, regional OPA administrator, said his office is keeping in close touch with the situation in Chicago. He had nothing to add to the statement made Thursday by Price Administrator Leon Henderson, who warned consumers that they probably will face a meat shortage for another month or six weeks.

HOGS SLUMP SHARPLY

Hogs sold off 10 to 40 cents per hundred pounds yesterday in the sharpest setback in weeks.

Buyers appeared doubtful as to effects of the plan to subsidize the small packers may have on the market, but were certain that the reduction of lend-lease prices for pork would push prices down from the 22 year highs set earlier this week.

Buyers made a "bear raid" on all lard type hogs, which comprised a larger share of the receipts. These finished 35 to 40 cents lower, and further under top new crop stock than any time of the year.

In contrast with conditions in the hog market, demand for steers and yearlings was brisk and buyers paid slightly higher prices. The best available sold at $15.

Lamb prices were cut about 50 cents for the most part in one of the slowest markets of the year. Best grades in loads went at $14, the lowest price for this class since April.

EFFECTS OF CUT IN TRUCK MILES TO VARY WIDELY

The Office of Defense Transportation order requiring a 25 per cent reduction in long distance truck mileage will have little effect upon many Chicago area operators, an official of the Illinois Motor Truck Operators association said yesterday. Others, whose business has improved over last year or held about steady, face a serious problem, he said.

The reduction, ordered Thursday, is effective Aug. 1. It applies to the total mileage of long distance contract and private carriers and the cut is to be made on the basis of mileage in the corresponding 1941 month.

Walter E. McCarron, general manager of the operators association, said that the business of many Chicago area companies has declined so from year ago levels that a 25 per cent cut in mileage would not restrict current operations. Those transporting war materials will definitely feel the pinch of the ODT order because their trucks are in constant use, he said.

Steel Employment and Pay Rolls

$537,724 Paid Eugene Grace by Bethlehem

Philadelphia, Pa., July 24 (AP).—Eugene Grace received $537,724 as president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation in 1941, a boost of $59,580 over his 1940 income, to maintain his position as the second highest paid executive in the nation. The payment to Grace included $357,724 as bonus or share in profits, an Associated Press survey of steel companies' annual reports filed with the Securities and Exchange commission disclosed today. Grace's 1940 pay included $298,144 as bonus or profit share.

The top paid executive was Louis Mayer, production head for Loew's Inc., who got $704,000 in 1941.

Trailing Grace was Tom M. Girdler, chairman of the Republic Steel corporation, who got $275,000, an increase of $99,000 over his 1940 income. This increase was the largest shown in the annual reports.

Fairless Is Paid $156,010.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of United States Steel corporation, received $156,010, an increase of $16,400 over 1940, and H. E. Lewis, chairman and president of the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation, was paid $135,000, the same as in 1940.

Bethlehem also paid Paul Mackall and Quincy Bent, directors, $197,317 each, increases of $17,874 each over 1940. These payments included $107,317 as bonus or profit share, compared with $89,443.

Robert E. McMath, director, vice president and secretary of Bethlehem and Frederick A. Schick, director and controler, got $155,393 each, including $95,393 as profit share or bonus, against $139,506 which included $79,506 profit share or bonus in 1940.

Republic Steel Pay Rises.

R. J. Wysor, president of Republic Steel, was paid $146,000 last year compared with $100,000 in 1940. N. J. Clarke, vice president, received $86,000 against $75,000 the preceding year.

United States Steel also paid $107,410 to Enders M. Voorhees, as a director and chairman of the finance committee, an increase of $690. Irvin S. Olds, chairman and director, was paid $107,320, a boost of $26,076.

Jones and Laughlin paid L. N. Parsons, vice president, $110,375, a jump of $19,990 over 1940. The 1941 payment included bonus or profit share of $60,375, part of which had accrued from 1940.

3 INLAND STEEL WORKMEN SET OUTPUT MARK

The Inland Steel company announced yesterday that three employés at its Indiana Harbor 24 inch structural bar and universal plate mill combined to set new war production records during the 24 hour working shift which ended at 8 a. m. Wednesday. One record was rolling 1,423 tons of angle shapes and plates. In setting this record the trio broke another mark, exceeding the former hourly record for shapes by 5 tons.

The angles were for maritime commission ships and the plates for ships and army truck parts. The products were turned out in Inland's oldest mill, built in 1901.

Joe Carner, who began working for Inland in 1910, is the oldest of the trio of rollers. The others are Dan Fabian and Elmer Pearson, and all live in East Chicago, Ind.

Hosiery Industry Decides to Ignore Leg Painting 'Fad'

New York, July 24 (AP).—If the women want to paint their legs instead of wear hose, it's all right with the National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers, which has concluded, after due consideration, that the practice is a fad and soon will die out.

Weirton Hikes Pay

Weirton, W. Va., July 24 (AP).—The Weirton Steel company, subsidiary of the National Steel corporation, and the Weirton independent union today signed a contract providing a 44 cents per day increase for wage workers and a 5 per cent boost for salaried employés.

Larry S. Lafferty, president of the union, said the increases were retroactive to Jan. 1, and, with the resulting adjustment in vacation pay, would increase the company's pay roll by $1,250,000 this year.

The 44 cents increase is the same as was awarded by the War Labor board to employés of the four "little steel" companies—Bethlehem, Inland, Republic, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube.

Lafferty said the contract guarantees a minimum daily wage of $6.24 to all hourly, tonnage, and piece workers, male and female.

"This is the only mill in America having such a contract clause," he said. "We have no apprentice pay here."

The company has 10,000 hourly workers and 1,100 salaried employés. Each will receive back pay of about $80. The union originally sought an increase of $1.25 a day.

Steel Output Threatened by Vote to Strike

Birmingham, Ala., July 24 (AP).—A strike vote by AFL electricians threatened today to halt production in the south's largest steel mills. The International Brotherhood of Electrical workers voted to walk out Tuesday from the three Tennessee Coal, Iron, and Railroad company manufacturing plants here in support of demands for a new contract with the United States Steel subsidiary.

L. E. Brown, executive committeeman for the union, said his group had more than 500 members among the 700 electricians employed, and that a strike would close the plants.

Brown said the company had refused to renew its existing contract, which expires July 31, on the grounds that the AFL union had not been certified for collective bargaining by the National Labor Relations board.

The issue was brought to a climax by the recent petition of the CIO United Steelworkers of America for an election in Tennessee company plants. Brown asserted CIO handbills circulated in the industrial areas said that the CIO union would be the only one listed on the ballot when the election is called.

Urge U. S. to Seize Plant.

Alton, Ill., July 24 (AP).—The AFL Chemical Workers' union tonight urged the government to take over operation of the Western Cartridge company's plant here immediately to prevent a work stoppage on major war contracts.

Telegrams charging the company is "agitating to gain a public reaction against the union" were sent to President Roosevelt and Chairman Donald Nelson of the War Production board by Fred Olds, AFL organizer, in the name of the local's executive committee.

Strike at Plane Plant.

Paterson, N. J., July 24 (AP).—Three hundred employés of the Wright Aeronautical corporation ceased work in a wage dispute today, and the head of an independent union warned of "a complete shutdown" if the company's present policy persists.

Charging that the company was effecting wage cuts in "roundabout fashion," Cyril Savage, president of the Wright Aeronautical Employés' association, said that unauthorized walkouts of men in the five Wright airplane engine plants in the Paterson area "continue despite all the union efforts to keep them on the job."

REA's Use of Copper Curbed

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—The War Production board has approved new curbs on the use of copper which will curtail operations of the Rural Electrification administration, it was learned today.

WPB officials would not reveal the exact nature of the pending order, but confirmed that it would remove from REA most of the agency's already curtailed supplies of copper and devote them to military use. This probably would prevent completion of some, if not all, of the REA projects now under way, it was said.

Metal Handed Over.

In St. Louis, REA Administrator Harry Slattery said tonight that "considerable copper" has been turned over to military authorities by the REA since July 20, when all its coöperatives were notified to stay construction on any work involving use of copper.

The copper handed over was taken off 34 construction projects approved by the WPB March 30, Slattery said there was an adequate supply of copper for maintenance purposes.

The order also will apply to private utilities, WPB sources said, forbidding them to use copper in "electrical improvements any less urgent" than those of the farmers which would have been served by REA.

REA and the private utilities are to have copper enough left for maintenance purposes. REA was reported to have about 500 tons of the metal on hand from stocks which it was authorized in March to use.

The WPB was said to have approved the new restrictions last Tuesday in an action instigated by the army.

Zinc Use Is Restricted.

The WPB also prohibited the use of zinc after Sept. 1 for manufacture of metal "coins" used in many states to collect sales taxes and street car tokens.

The slugs and tokens were among more than a hundred articles in which the use of zinc was prohibited, including die castings, such as andirons, book ends, costume jewelry, household and kitchen appliances, office supplies, toys and smokers' supplies.

Not more than 50 per cent of the average monthly weight of zinc used in 1941 in production of any article on the prohibited list may be consumed by manufacturers until the Sept. 1 cut-off date, when all processing must be completed.

Asks Revision to Ease Tax on Pension Funds

Senate revision of the revenue bill passed recently by the house of representatives was advocated by the Illinois Manufacturers' association yesterday to minimize the bill's effect on industrial retirement, pension, and profit sharing plans.

As the measure stands, it would affect the plans which many Chicago and Illinois corporations have set up for their employés, and necessitate revision of some, Arthur Stedry Hansen, consulting actuary, said in an analysis prepared for the association.

Some Are Ambiguous.

Altho some provisions in the tax bill were created to offer an incentive for the establishment of private employé benefit plans, some sections are ambiguous and others require specific interpretation by the commissioner of internal revenue rather than being incorporated in the law, according to the analysis.

Hansen said the house failed to give adequate consideration to the employé mutual benefit form of organization maintained by some companies and said double taxation is likely in some instances unless the bill is modified.

Bars Tax Deductions.

The requirement that no plan shall discriminate in favor of officers, shareholders, or highly paid employés would prevent most incentive plans for key personnel from qualifying for tax deductions, he said.

"Language of the bill is ambiguous with respect to nonqualifying trusts and forfeitable benefits," Hansen said. "It appears that double taxation is provided in such cases, once by taxing the employer when contributions are made and again by taxing the employer when benefits become payable."

CLUB ORGANIZED TO AID MEN OF 50 OR OVER GET JOBS

What can men, 50 years old or more, unemployed because of wartime disruption, do to aid in the war effort? Finding an answer to that question, important to an estimated 15,000 men in Chicago, is the purpose of the "Men of Ability Over 50" club, organized yesterday by William Bachrach, Association of Commerce vice president in charge of education.

William Bachrach.

The club, restricted to 50 members, will act as a clearing house for jobs. When a member obtains one he becomes an "alumnus" pledged to help those still unemployed and is automatically dropped from club membership. Each must furnish proof of physical fitness and be willing, if required, to spend eight hours a day acquiring special training in industrial courses given at six colleges in the Chicago area.

OFFER NEW PLAN OF REORGANIZING RIO GRANDE ROAD

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—A new plan of reorganization for the Denver & Rio Grande Western railroad, intended to meet objections to prior reorganization plans, was issued today by the Interstate Commerce commission.

Under the new plan the Denver & Salt Lake Western railroad would be consolidated with the Denver & Rio Grande Western only in the event the holders of at least 90 per cent of the Denver & Salt Lake income bonds voluntarily accept an extension of the maturity date of the bonds, and a modification of interest on the bond to provide for 3 per cent fixed interest and 1 per cent prior contingent interest.

The commission's original plan, and a supplemental report to it, provided for the consolidation without any interest reduction on the Denver & Salt Lake bonds.

MILITARY POLICE TO BE AIDED BY CIVILIAN GUARDS

To help safeguard plants against sabotage, a civilian auxiliary to the military police is being formed of plant guards in all Chicago area factories engaged in war production, Maj. Gen. George Grunert, commanding the 6th service command, announced yesterday.

The auxiliary will be organized, drilled, and instructed as military units subject to articles of war. Organization will be extended to plants having important government contracts as rapidly as possible, Gen. Grunert said. Units will be in command of a regular army officer.

The New York Central railroad yesterday reported that June net income after fixed charges totaled $5,265,782, compared with $2,871,385 in the corresponding 1941 month. Net income was $16,616,907 for the first six months, against $11,858,506 during the corresponding 1941 period.

CHICAGO FIRMS' PROFITS CUT BY TAX INCREASES

Brunswick, Dixie Report Drops.

Restrictive orders by government agencies and increased taxes reduced the profits of Brunswick-Balke-Collender and Dixie-Vortex company of Chicago and curtailed the earnings of a third Chicago firm, the Illinois Zinc company, their reports showed yesterday.

Brunswick-Balke-Collender, manufacturer of billiard and pool tables and bowling alleys, announced its profit was $476,592, or 92 cents a share, for the six months ended June 30, compared with $490,682, or 95 cents a share, in the first half of the preceding year.

R. F. Bensinger, president, said net sales for the first half of the year totaled $8,188,396, against $6,707,961 in the corresponding period of last year. The company reserved $512,000 for current and proposed taxes, compared with $160,000 a year ago.

Production Is Cut.

"Production in the company's regular lines shows a material decrease due to restrictive orders and this condition will prevail until we are able to secure necessary materials to operate normally," Bensinger said. "Hence it is anticipated that net earnings for the third quarter and for the current year will be adversely affected."

In addition, first half earnings may be trimmed at the end of the calendar year if it becomes necessary to make some additional provision in respect to inventories, the sale or use of which has been restricted, he added.

After computing income and excess profits taxes at 45 and 87½ per cent respectively, Dixie-Vortex, paper container manufacturer, reported a reduction of profits from $888,188 for the year ended June 30, 1941, to $828,902 this year. Earnings per share dropped from $2.18 to $1.89.

Net Income Higher.

Illinois Zinc company, after allowing $220,000 for taxes and contingencies, announced its net income for nine months ended June 30 was $336,854, or $3.54 a common share, compared to $308,723, or $3.24 a common share in the same period of 1941. In 1941 the company reserved $87,000 for taxes.

The Dow Chemical company, Midland, Mich., in the fiscal year ended May 31, reserved $10,079,126 for present and retroactive taxes. It realized a net income of $9,221,486, equal to $7.14 a common share in the fiscal year compared to $7,770,547, or $6.58 a share for the preceding year.

OPA Sending Deputy Here to Settle Rent List Wrangle

Paul A. Porter, deputy OPA administrator in charge of rent control, will come here Tuesday to settle the controversy over whether the Chicago defense rental area should conduct a registration of its 1½ million dwelling units as required by the federal rent control regulation, real estate men said yesterday.

Paul A. Porter.

Porter probably will instruct Earl Dean Howard, area rent director, to start the inventory immediately to meet the Aug. 15 deadline set by the regulation, real estate men said.

The regulation requires each landlord to file a signed statement for each apartment, room, house, or other dwelling unit, declaring the rent charged on March 1 and the nature and degree of services furnished each tenant on that date.

Condemned as Wasteful.

The Chicago Real Estate board has condemned the program as a waste of money and unnecessary to rent control. Howard has postponed the wholesale registration on the ground that it would be a costly, Herculean job in the Chicago area, with a population of 4½ million.

Ronald J. Chinnock, president of the Chicago Real Estate board, said that the board has urged the OPA to amend its regulation to waive the registration requirement for the Chicago area. Howard also was reported to have requested OPA officials for such an amendment.

"I am not opposed to registration," Howard explained, "but I am not in favor of immediate blanket registration. I want to feel my way. If we can get satisfactory compliance with rent control without general registration, so much the better.

High Cost Estimated.

In a letter this week to Price Administrator Leon Henderson, Morgan L. Fitch, chairman of the realty board's rent control committee, denied the need for the detailed inventry. He asserted it would cost the OPA $250,000 and the landlords $1,500,000.

Chinnock disclosed that Tighe Woods, secretary of the realty board's renting and management division for two years, has joined the Chicago rent administration staff. Chinnock said Woods has been assigned to handle landlord complaints, and probably would conduct the registration if it is ordered by Porter.

Chinnock said he would confer with Porter next week on the realty board's request that Chicago rent ceilings, now frozen at March 1 levels, be raised 4½ per cent.

Five More U. S. Bureaus Move Men to Chicago

BY AL CHASE.

Decentralization of government bureaus now in Washington, D. C., will bring five groups of approximately 1,800 federal employés to Chicago during the next 30 days, Lowell Baker, Chicago director of the Office of Decentralization Service announced yesterday.

The first contingent, 375 employés of the old age and survivors insurance bureau of the Social Security board, will arrive next Monday. They will be housed in the 188 West Randolph building, formerly the Steuben building.

Go to Merchandise Mart.

The other four groups are moving into the Merchandise Mart. Approximately 200 workers in the bureau of the public debt, treasury department [which includes office of register, with 60 employés], will arrive in Chicago next Tuesday. Several hundred in the treasury department already have reached Chicago. A total of 4,000 workers in this department is scheduled for removal here.

Four hundred more workers in the office of Indian affairs [21 already are here] will arrive in Chicago on Aug. 11. Five days later 325 employés in the fish and wild life service will come here, and 250 of the national park service personnel are expected on Aug. 28.

Move to Another Hotel.

Owing to the taking over of the Stevens and Congress hotels by the government, Baker said, the ODS has transferred its temporary room quarters for employés coming here from Washington to the Knickerbocker hotel. He asked that Chicagoans list with the Chicago Real Estate board their available living space for government workers.

DOROSHAW SETS NEW DEADLINE IN STOCK SALE PLAN

J. M. Doroshaw, 120 South La Salle street, yesterday again extended the deadline for stockholders of the Air-Way Electrical Appliance corporation, Toledo, O., vacuum cleaner manufacturer, to accept his plan for selling stock control of Air-Way to a "large industrial company."

Doroshaw previously had fixed yesterday as the deadline for offers from stockholders to dispose of their holdings at $1.75 a share. He set the new deadline at a date 15 days beyond payment of an expected dividend in excess of 25 cents a share which directors said would be declared at their August meeting.

In a letter refuting management claims that he had made "false statements" and "half-truths" in presenting the plan to stockholders, Doroshaw said the offer of a dividend is "conclusive evidence of its [the management] lack of good business judgment."

U. S. INCOME TAX A RECORD, BUT CANADA TOPS IT

Rates Rise Faster, Figures Show.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

Americans who are struggling with the problem of paying the highest federal taxes in history on their 1942 incomes may find some consolation in the fact the Canadian tax collector will take a still larger portion of incomes in the dominion, except for a few of the lowest income brackets.

A comparison of the Canadian tax schedule with the United States revenue bill, as passed by the house of representatives and sent to the senate on July 19, showed yesterday that the proportion of Canadian taxes will be higher than in this country, even considering, in most instances, the postwar credits to be granted in the dominion.

Total of 23 Billions.

The total to be raised in the United States—an unprecedented sum in excess of 23 billion dollars—is of course larger than the Canadian tax bill, but the proportion of the tax to individual incomes is larger in the dominion.

After the war, Canada plans to return to individual taxpayers sums ranging from $16 to a maximum of $1,200, the amounts depending upon income and marital status. The payments, collected with the regular tax, are to be refunded with the intention of bolstering purchasing power against a possible postwar economic slump. Similar proposals were turned down in this country, altho England has such a postwar credit plan in effect.

Unmarried Americans are to pay $15 on 1942 incomes of $600. Altho single Canadians will not pay until their incomes reach $700, the amount is higher than in the United States—$40 against $33—but $20 is credited as a refund after the war. The progressive increase in taxes on single Canadians begins at the $1,000 income level, where the tax is $172, with a $80 postwar credit, against Americans' $89.

Couples' Taxes Compared.

Married Canadians with no dependents begin paying at the $1,250 income level. The tax is $50 with a $25 postwar credit. Americans in this marital status start paying when their incomes exceed $1,200. At the $1,300 level the tax is $13, against Canadians' $100, including a $50 postwar refund.

Married persons with two dependents in this country will pay the tax collector when their incomes top $2,000, and on $2,100 their bill is $13. Canadians in this marital status begin payments at the $1,250 income level, paying $32, of which half is credited for refund after the war.

The American tax bill raises the normal rates on individual incomes from 4 to 6 per cent, and imposes a stiff new schedule of surtaxes, starting at 13 per cent on the first $2,000 of surtax net income, instead of a starting rate of 6 per cent at present. Exemptions are reduced, excepting members of the armed forces, from $750 to $500 for single persons, and from $1,500 to $1,200 for married people.

BUYING OF RAILS SLOWS DECLINE IN STOCK PRICES

Assortment of Industrial Issues Also Gains.

New York, July 24 (AP).—Buying of rails and assorted industrials partially stemmed the current decline in today's stock market.

Further falling tendencies ruled at the start but offerings were so light that some timid bidding began to appear after midday on the belief Wednesday's tumble, sharpest in more than a month, again had put the list in a technically oversold condition.

Recoveries were mostly in minor fractions altho Santa Fe managed to emerge with a net advance of 1¼ at 41¼, just a shade under its highest mark since 1938.

Losses Outnumber Gains.

A number of so-called blue chips were off 1 to 2 points and small losses outnumbered gains at the close by 254 to 187.

Brokers suggested that, despite depressing Russian war news, further apprehension over mounting taxes, falling earnings, and dividends, and the tapering off of "inflationary thinking," the market acted well.

Carriers still had the benefit of climbing traffic, revenues, and the belief the transportation group would be less vulnerable to excess profits imposed than other industries.

CHICAGO LIST WEAK.

Prices continued downward on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday with 39 issues closing lower compared with advances by 11. Seventeen other issues were unchanged as volume fell to 11,000 shares from 15,000 Thursday. Chicago corporation again was the volume leader and again closed unchanged. Commonwealth Edison gained ⅛, while Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company lost ⅝.

RAILROAD FINDS A BIDDER ON 43D ATTEMPT TO SELL

Termination of Longest Receivership Nears.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 24 (AP).—Termination of the longest receivership in American railroad annals neared realization today as a bidder—the first in 19 years—made an offer for the rejuvenated Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad.

Bidding the minimum price of $2,010,000 fixed by federal court for property and assets of the road was Walter W. Colpitts of Coverdale and Colpitts, New York engineering firm. Colpitts is chairman of the road's reorganization committee.

Minority May Object.

After formal entry of the bid, the sale and reorganization program of the purchase must be approved by federal court, with a final hearing scheduled for Aug. 21, the required 28 days after bid entry, when possible objections from minority bond holders will be heard.

The reorganization plan already has been approved by the Interstate Commerce commission, the Reconstruction Finance corporation and a majority of stockholders and preferred creditors.

Today's auction was the 43d attempt to sell the road, which since 1935 has undergone a program of renovation under the guidance of Lucian C. Sprague, appointed that year by federal court as receiver.

Tries 42 Times; Misses Sale.

Ironic twist in today's sale was the absence, because of illness, of Howard S. Abbott, special master in chancery, who 42 times previously stood, in compliance with the law, at the Minneapolis and St. Louis shops on the outskirts of Minneapolis and for two hours or more read terms of the sale to the four winds, only to postpone the procedure because of no takers.

When the reorganization chapter in the history of the M. and St. L., founded in 1870, was begun in January, 1935, Receiver Sprague, who also is president of the road, began a program of rehabilitation that resulted in a steady increase in traffic, gross revenus, and profits.

The reorganization plan provides for creation of two new corporations, between which properties of the present 1,500 mile system will be divided.

ASKS HARD COAL OUTPUT RISE TO OFFSET OIL LACK

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson, WPB chairman, asked hard coal miners today to step up their output as a substitute for oil tanker losses.

Nelson invited labor and management of 300 mines in eastern Pennsylvania to form labor-management committees to help speed production.

He said hard coal was urgently needed for nearly all army cantonments and to keep eastern factories warm this winter.

"Insofar as the anthracite industry is now mechanized it would take time to train new workers, and new workers are not available," Nelson said. "Hence the quickest answer to America's shortage of fuel is an increased production by the men already on the job."

LOAN COMPANIES FINED ON URSURY, FRAUD CHARGES

Wilmington, Del., July 24 (AP).—Three loan corporations were fined a total of $50,000 today after pleading no defense to charges of requiring excessive and usurious interest rates and use of the mails to defraud.

The defendants were the General Finance Company of Philadelphia, a Delaware corporation, the General Finance Company of Philadelphia, Inc., a Pennsylvania corporation, and the National Acceptance corporation, also a Delaware corporation, all headed by Cyrus S. Corson of Philadelphia.

The government said the corporations told prospective patrons that loans would be insured, but in some cases, insurance was not acquired altho insurance fees were levied.

Press for Action on Plan for Federal Wool Buying

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—The senate special wool committee pressed today for action by the WPB and department of agriculture on a proposal that the latter purchase all domestic wool for the duration of the war. Views of both agencies—the department favoring the purchase and WPB undecided—were aired at a closed session of the committee. Chairman H. H. Schwartz [D., Wyo.] said later that the department and WPB promised to inform the committee by next Tuesday whether an agreement could be reached.

U. S. WAR PRODUCTION INCREASES 4 TIMES OVER '41, SAYS REPORT

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—The joint war production committee of the United States and Canada, in its first report, announced today that this country's annual rate of munitions output had increased nearly four times over 1941, Canadian production was up nearly three times, and both anticipated "still sharper increases."

The figures were for the second quarter of 1942, the committee said, and the increase in future schedules will be particularly marked in the United States where all-out production began later than in the dominion.

A summary of progress revealed increasing standardization of weapons between the two countries, faster exchange of supplies to avert production delays, elimination of tariff barriers, and increase in the exchange of production information.
